Students Work in '86 to MAKE IT COUNT

A sleepy little river town made its mark in 1787 and a tradition of excellence was born. Williamstown — the home of the Yellowjackets — was founded as the colonists moved westward to forge the United States.

Williamstown has always been a small school with a big name in West Virginia. Students work to make each day consistently better and each event a success. From the first football game to the last day of school, classmen buzz from one activity to another as the season changes.

Consistency — the name of the game at WHS — classifies the Williamstown Band. Even though smaller than former years, the Pride has a knock-out show that is certain to win awards.

Striving toward a winning season, Jacket gridders work hard to reach their peak. Jr. High and varsity players strive to reach a common goal — a Jacket victory. The year will be spectacular, because Jackets know how to "Make It Count!"

Lost in thought. John Fincham, junior, pauses to think about the day that has ended and the game to come.

Adding In Some FUN!

STUDENT LIFE

The 3:10 bell rings and students pour from the building, streaming into the parking lot to leave WHS. After school, students use different ideas to relax — but all are for one common idea — FUN!

Student's activities range from soap opera watching to working at McDonald's, but whatever the case, students work to make it enjoyable. Some classmen head to after-school practices for sports or band, but most head homeward for an evening of homework and the Cosby Show.

No time is wasted during weekend activities, whether students attend a football game or go see a movie, they "make it count."

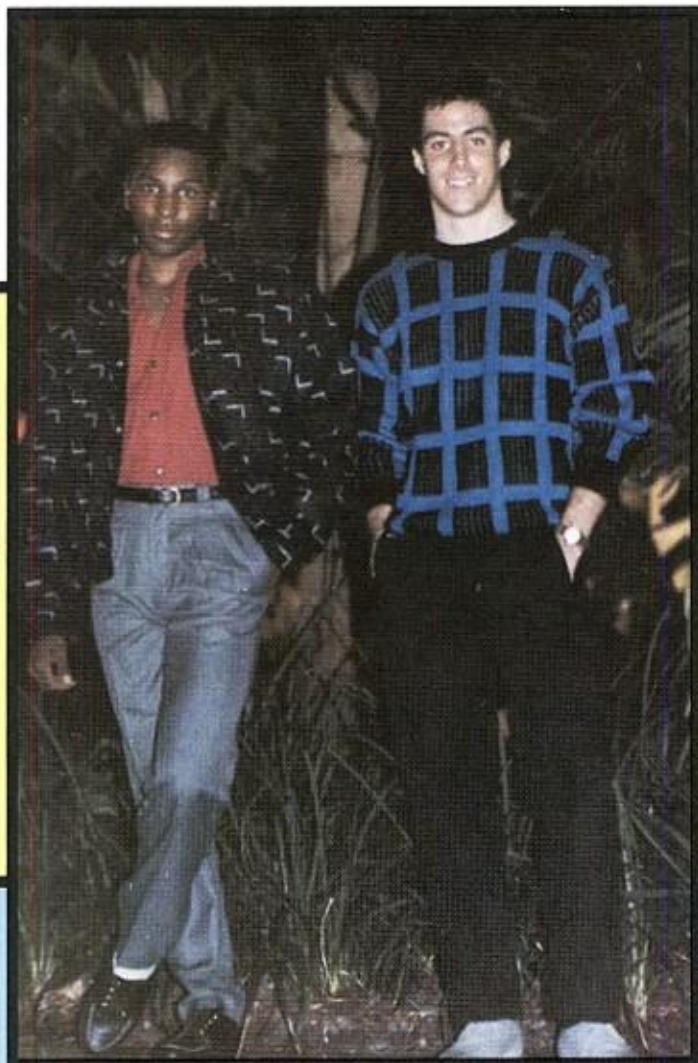

Crowded! Students show how they earned the title "the wild and the young" during the Halloween assembly.

Senior Style. Tracy Baker and Mona Davidson show their style in outfits from Stone & Thomas. They display the popular colors — turquoise and black.

Struttin'. Displaying their taste, Derik Simon and Jay Offenberger dress in Fine's clothes.

Sitting Pretty. Senior Connie Uhl models an outfit from Lang's in the Grand Central Mall.

Jacket Style

The latest fashions have hit the stores, and WHS students are in the forefront. The idea of bright colors that can be easily mixed and matched seems to be the trend.

But you don't feel comfortable in bright colors? Don't worry! You're not alone. Many students feel that the true definition of fashion is to dress the way they live and to wear colors which compliment their personality. Brian Baumgard stated, "Fashion is wearing what one likes and what one thinks he looks good in." The majority of students spends between $45-100 for an outfit and as much as $30 on accessories. However, fashion doesn't always mean expensive clothing, it just means dressing to fit one's personality.

Outstanding Outfits. Seniors Karen Poling and Tracy Baker model clothes from Casual Corner.

Jackets are the wild and the young in '86.

HOMECOMING '86

Homecoming is made of fun and excitement. Students look forward to this time of year with great anticipation. This year was no exception!

The festivities began Monday, October 20, with the start of float construction. Float building — including stuffing — was to be completed Thursday by 9 p.m. At that time, the float committee took over the responsibility for the constructed float.

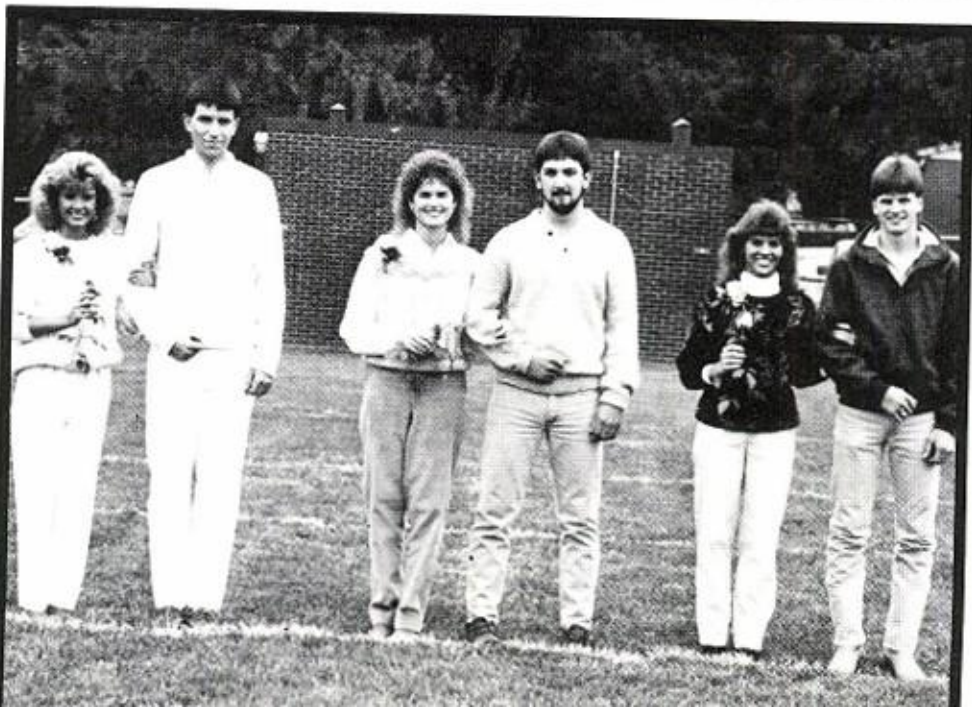

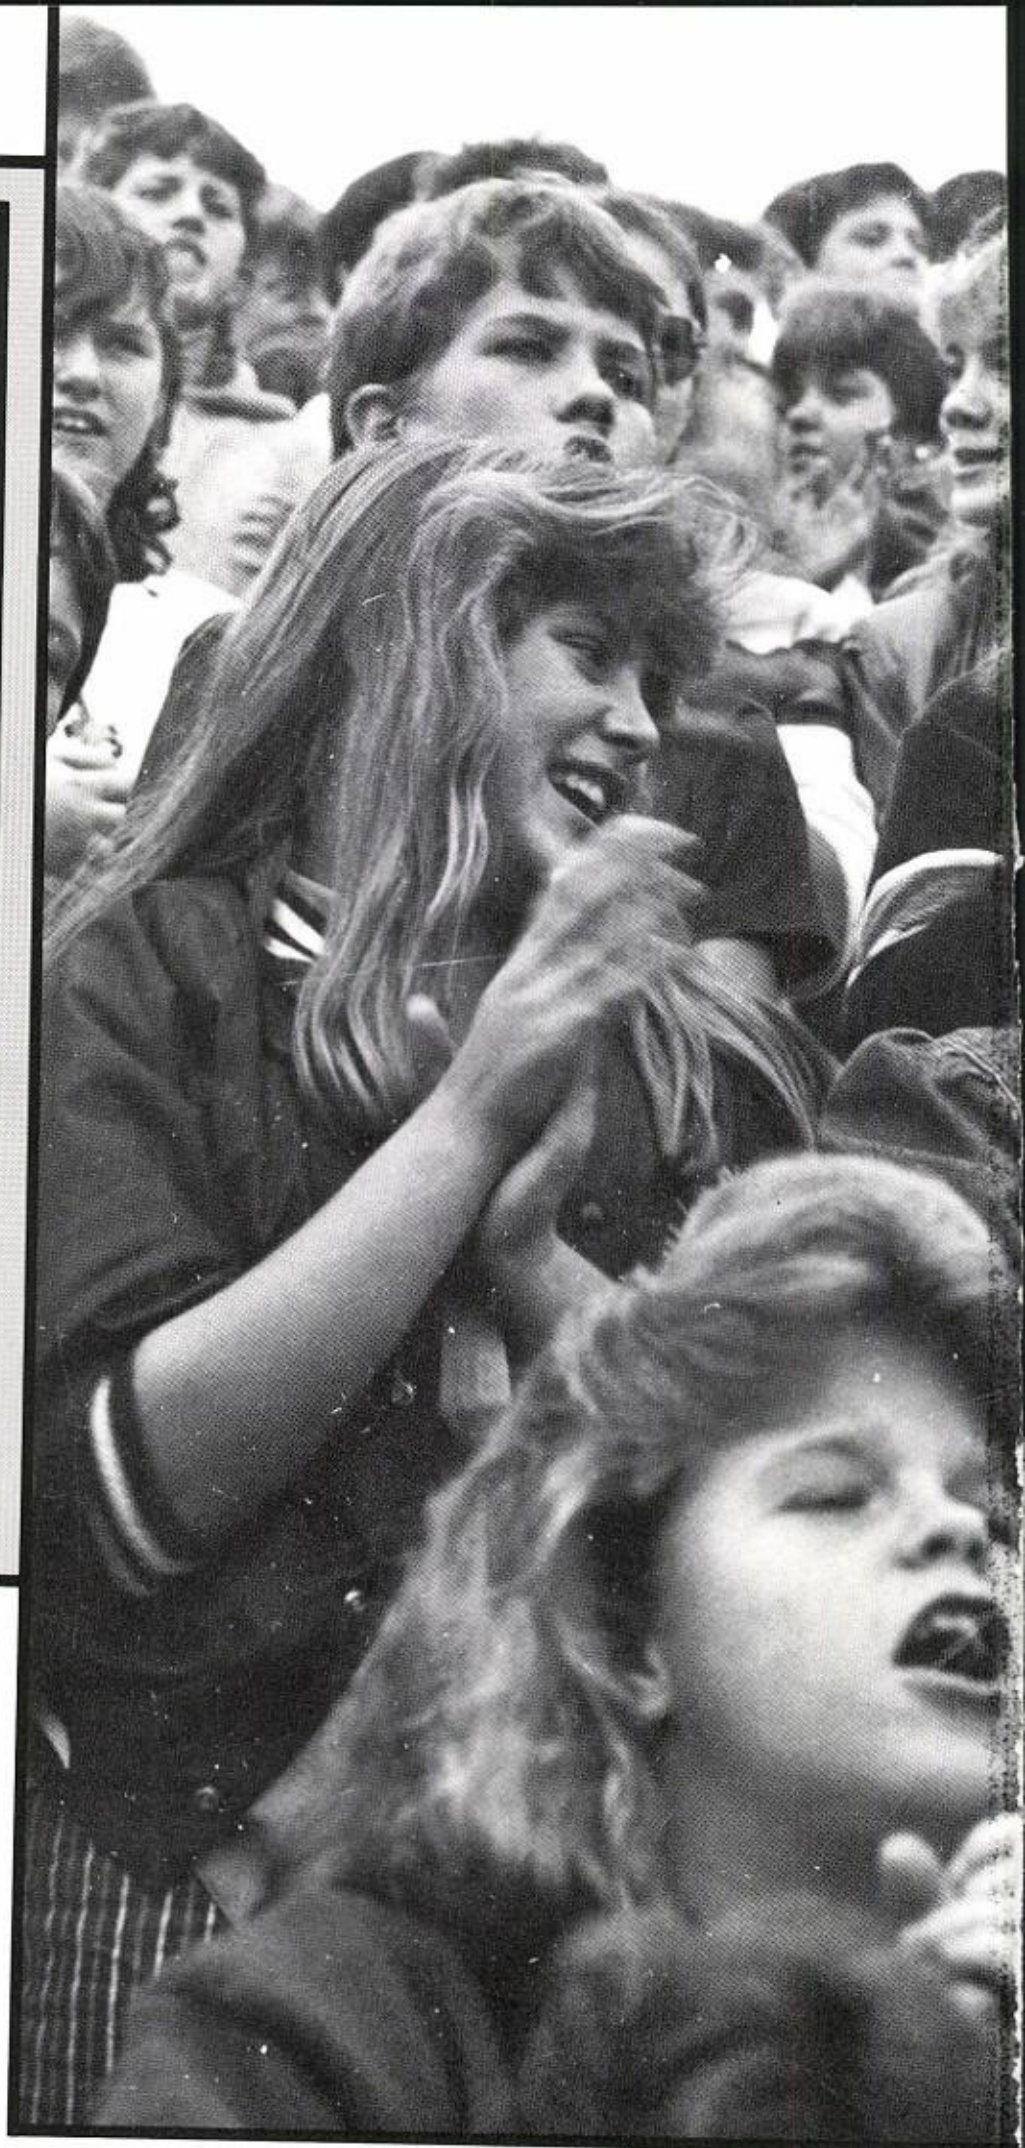

By 1:00 p.m. Friday, the floats were lined up and ready to go. The parade, beginning at 1:30 p.m., contained many participants. Among them was the Wirt County Band. The Williamstown police, fire department, and ambulance service also participated. Many other school organizations were involved, including: the cross country and football teams, band, and cheerleaders.

Corvettes for the princesses, student body president, and 1985 Homecoming Queen were provided (cont'd. p. 13)

"The dance was my favorite part of Homecoming. The decorations were fabulous — it's the best dance we've had."

Senior Spirit. The senior class shows its spirit with its float "Jackets are out of sight!"

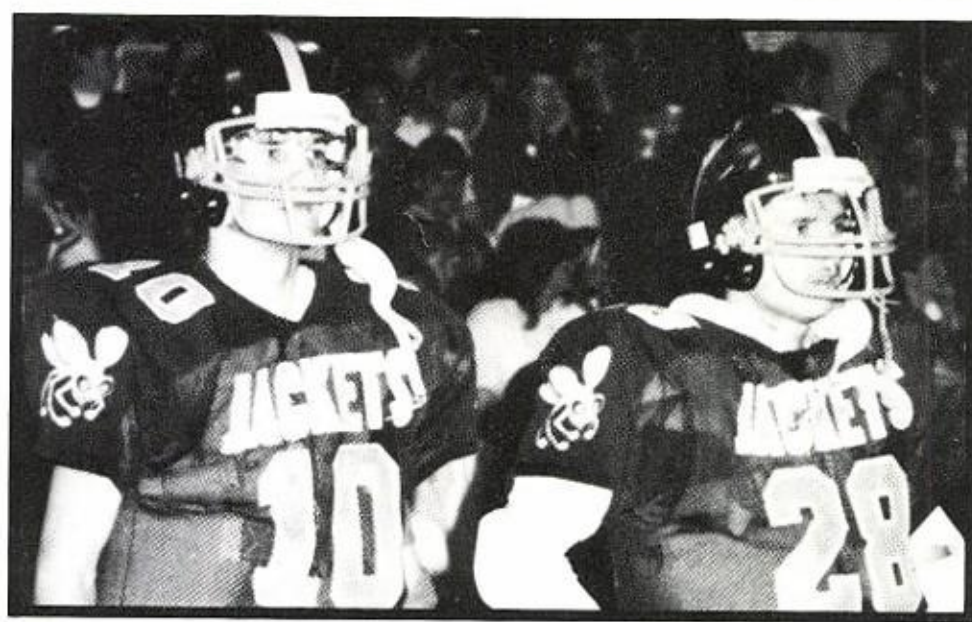

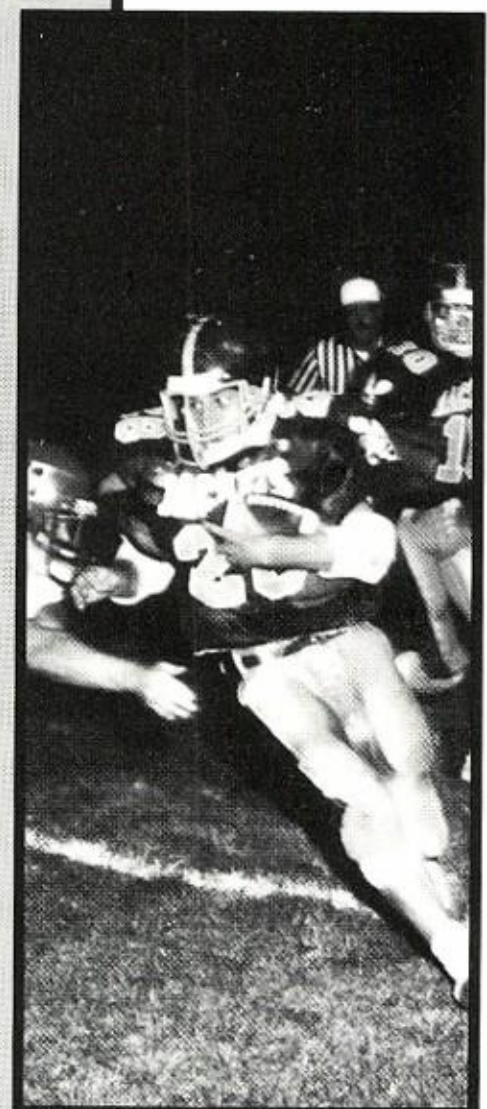

S-P-I-R-I-T! Fans cheer at the Homecoming pep assembly on October 24th.

Crown Bearers. Nathen Joy and Jessica Woollard prepare to play their part in Homecoming ceremonies.

Running wild. Senior Gary Anderson runs for a gain of yardage in the Homecoming game.

Tasteful! After tasting his first bite of a caramel onion, Coach Rick Coffman asks sophomore Amy Armstrong for a drink of water.

'86 Homecoming Princess Ramona Davidson.

Candied WHAT? Coach Markley bites into a delicious candied onion at the Homecoming assembly.

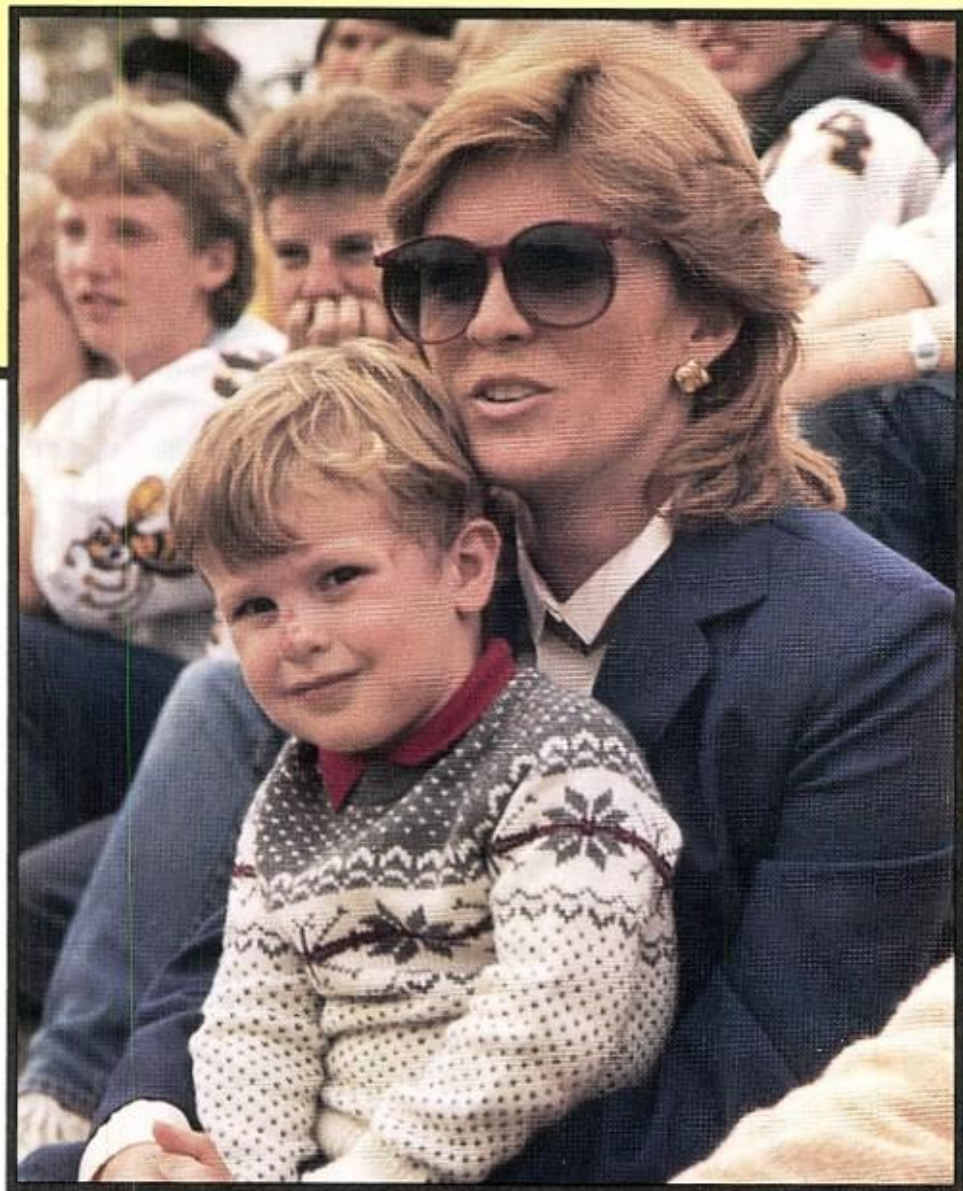

'86 Homecoming Princess Angela Watt.

We . . . Want . . . A . . . Victory! Vice-Principal Ray Davidson encourages students to cheer in the Homecoming Assembly.

The Wild and the Young! The Senior class shows that Jacket fans have spirit during the Homecoming Assembly.

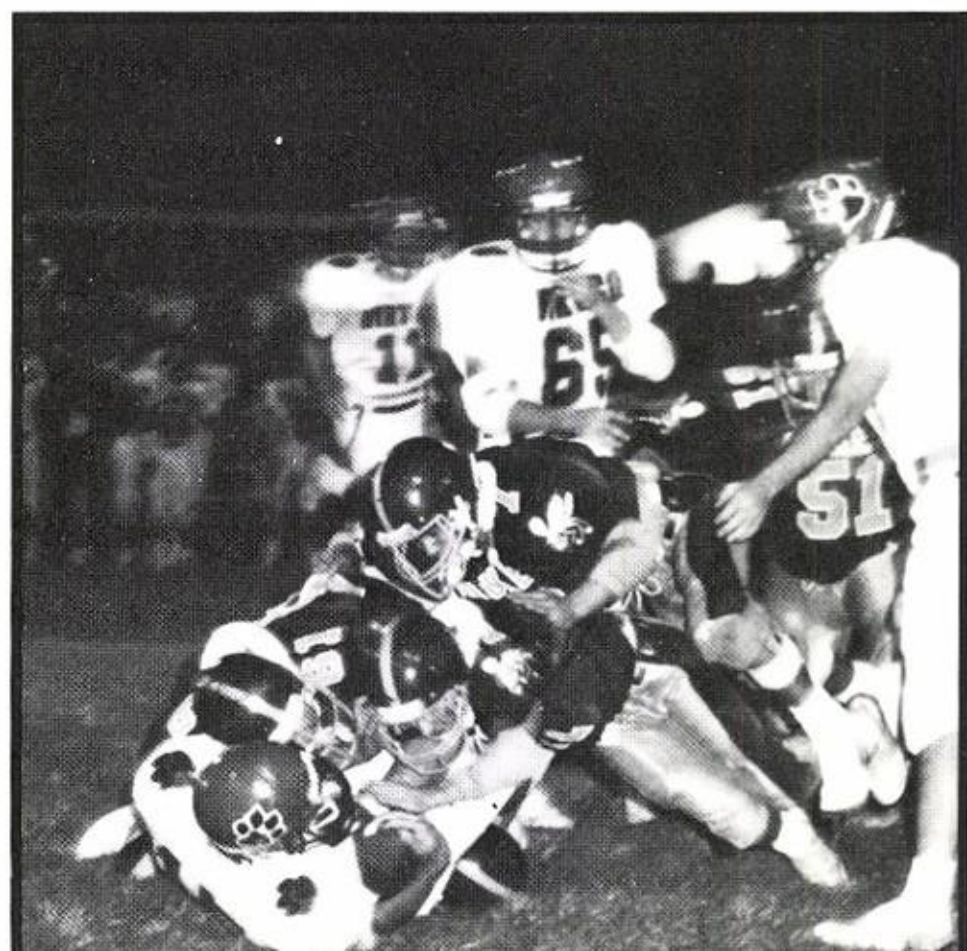

AWWWWW!!! Senior English teacher Randy Garrett and her son Matthew enjoy the assembly.

Anticipation. Princess Angie Wheeler smiles before the halftime ceremonies in which she was crowned Queen.

Crushing blow. The Jacket defense swarms onto a Wirt County player, but the attack did not help the defeated Jackets.

Trashed. The Sophomore float "Trash the Tigers" displayed Michelle Hickman's stuffed tiger in a trashed state.

HOMECOMING '86

by the Blennerhassett Corvette Club.

After the parade, the floats were left on the basketball courts and the princesses and their escorts proceeded to the football field. The student body poured into the stadium, noisily filling the seats for the Homecoming thuse. It began with the introduction of the queen candidates, including: Ramona Davidson escorted by Andres Venuesa, Angela Watt escorted by Charles Hill, and Angie Wheeler escorted by David Adams. The pep assembly continued as the crowd, lead by all four cheerleading squads, yelled to support the team.

At 7:30 p.m., the floats were paraded around the football field before the announcement of the winning entries. Winning the junior high division was the freshman float entry, "Roast'Em Jackets." In the senior high and organization divisions, the juniors and band took top honors with "Squirt Wirt" and "Sailing to a Victory," respectively. The best banner award was given to the seventh graders while the freshmen won the float's overall award.

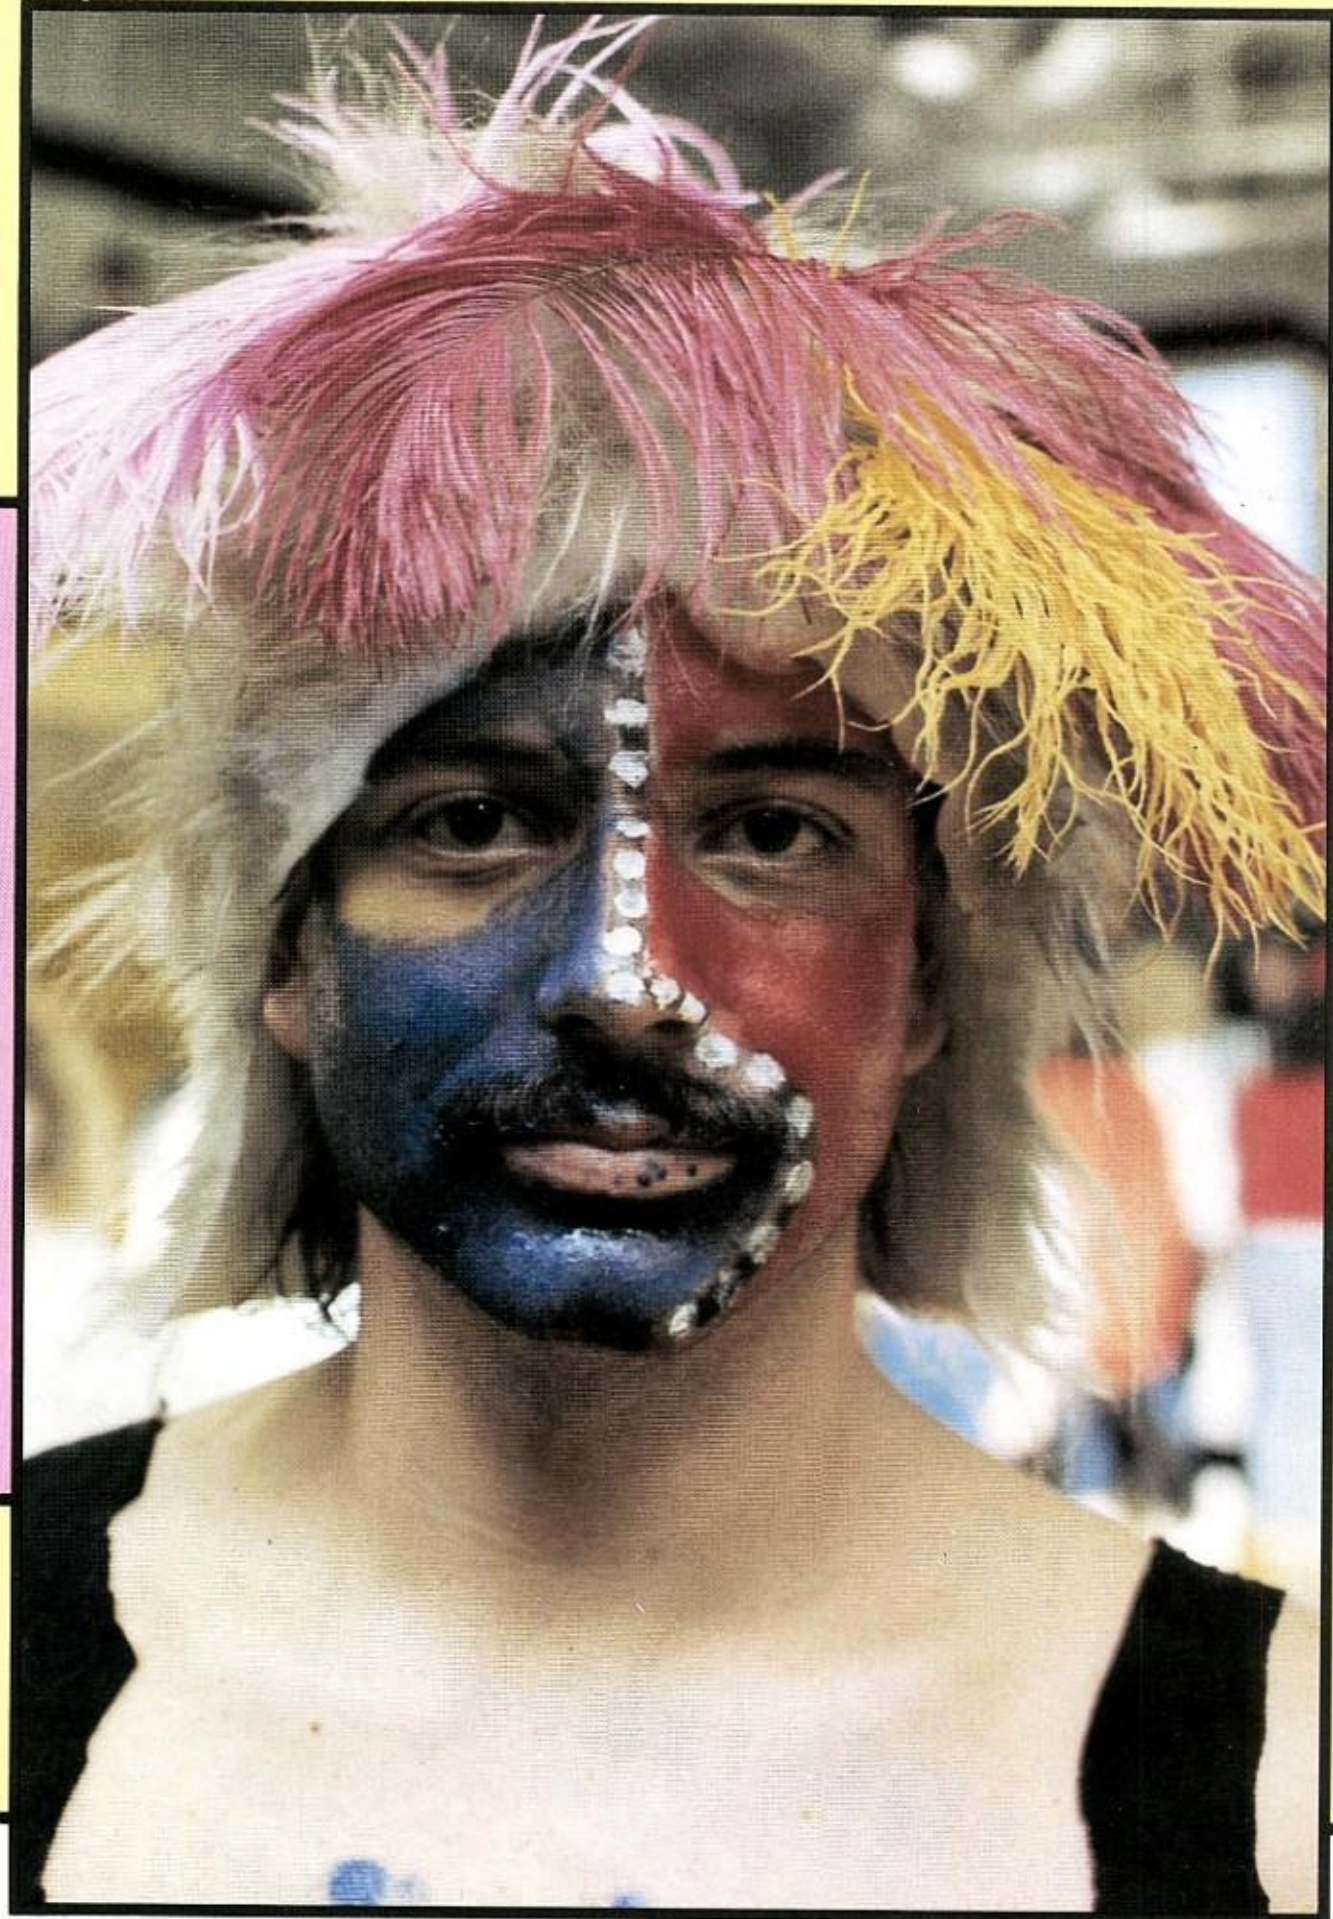

As halftime neared, the anticipation mounted as the queen's coronation time neared. The crowd cheered as Angie Wheeler was crowned 1986 Homecoming queen.

Unfortunately, the Jackets lost the football game, but the outstanding dance, decorated by the student council, made the evening worthwhile!

First Attempt. The seventh grade float "The Sweetness of Victory" showed the spirit of Jackets making it count.

David Lee Bobbitt! Senior Dean Bobbitt looks like an album cover.

Cheerful! Jacket fans display their enthusiasm during the Halloween pep assembly.

Frankie lives! Student Body Pres. Jay Offenberger introduces the participants of the assembly.

Halloween — BOO!

Halloween is the time of year when the season is changing — blood-red, yellow, and rust-colored leaves are falling, and people are settling down to face a cold, long winter. But, for WHS students, it's a time of tricks, treats and ghosts and goblins.

This year Halloween took on a new dimension of spirit and fun. One factor that led to a successful holiday was the fact that Halloween fell on Friday.

A combination Halloween/pep assembly was scheduled for the afternoon. A sunflower, shiek, shark and even the grim reaper filled the gymnasium. Among the noisy crowd was assistant principal Ray Davidson who was dressed as a monster.

This year's Halloween spirit showed in the number of dressed-up students. A record number of students and teachers participated, trying to make this year count!

The grim reaper! Senior Keith Boston shows that his time has come to win in the costume contest.

Lookalikes! Brian Vaughan and Michelle Wiggans have been dating for quite a while. This Halloween they even dressed in matching outfits.

Perfect Pair. Beth Stanley, senior, dates a Williamstown graduate. Like many WHS students she dates someone from outside the school.

Mall crew. Students frequently go to the Mall to meet others from other schools.

Just friends. Many students, such as Angela Watt and Blair Newton, seniors, enjoy going out with friends.

THE DATING GAME

It's a proven fact: teens love to date. Over half of the students surveyed say they go out every weekend. Where is the most popular place to go? According to the majority, it's a trip to the movies. Next on the list is dinner and third is the Mall.

Of those students that go out every weekend, close to 90 percent have a steady boyfriend or girlfriend. Only 10 percent date different people.

Most of the students find their dates elsewhere. The majority go to Marietta or Parkersburg High School.

Does chivalry still exist in today's modern world? At WHS it does. Out of those surveyed, most say the guy drives and picks up the check.

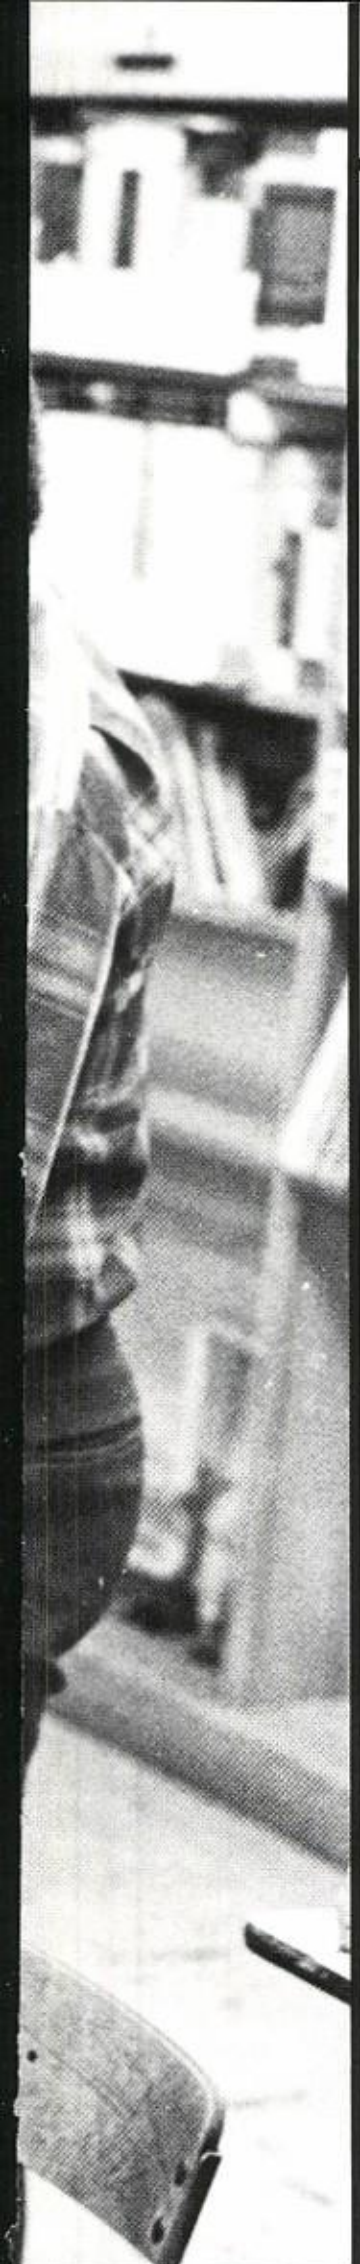

Everyone seems to have some fantasy about the perfect date — one where everything is beautiful and somewhat of a fairy tale. Christy Altmann, sophomore, doesn't ask for much. Her idea of a perfect date is one where she doesn't have to take her little brother Ricky along!

Growing. Popcorn plants were grown by several in a class at WHS.

A helping hand. Mr. Terry Smith, Special Education instructor, helps Willy Blackwell with an assignment.

MAKING THE GRADE

ACADEMICS

"Test — we have a test today?" The anxiety of schooling, a problem that every student faces at one time or another at WHS. Tests, notes, and discussion become a normal part of students' lives during the school year.

New classes and teachers enter the scene, adding a new outlook to the set curriculum. With the expertise of experience combined with the fresh outlook of the students, new ideas stir the world of academia.

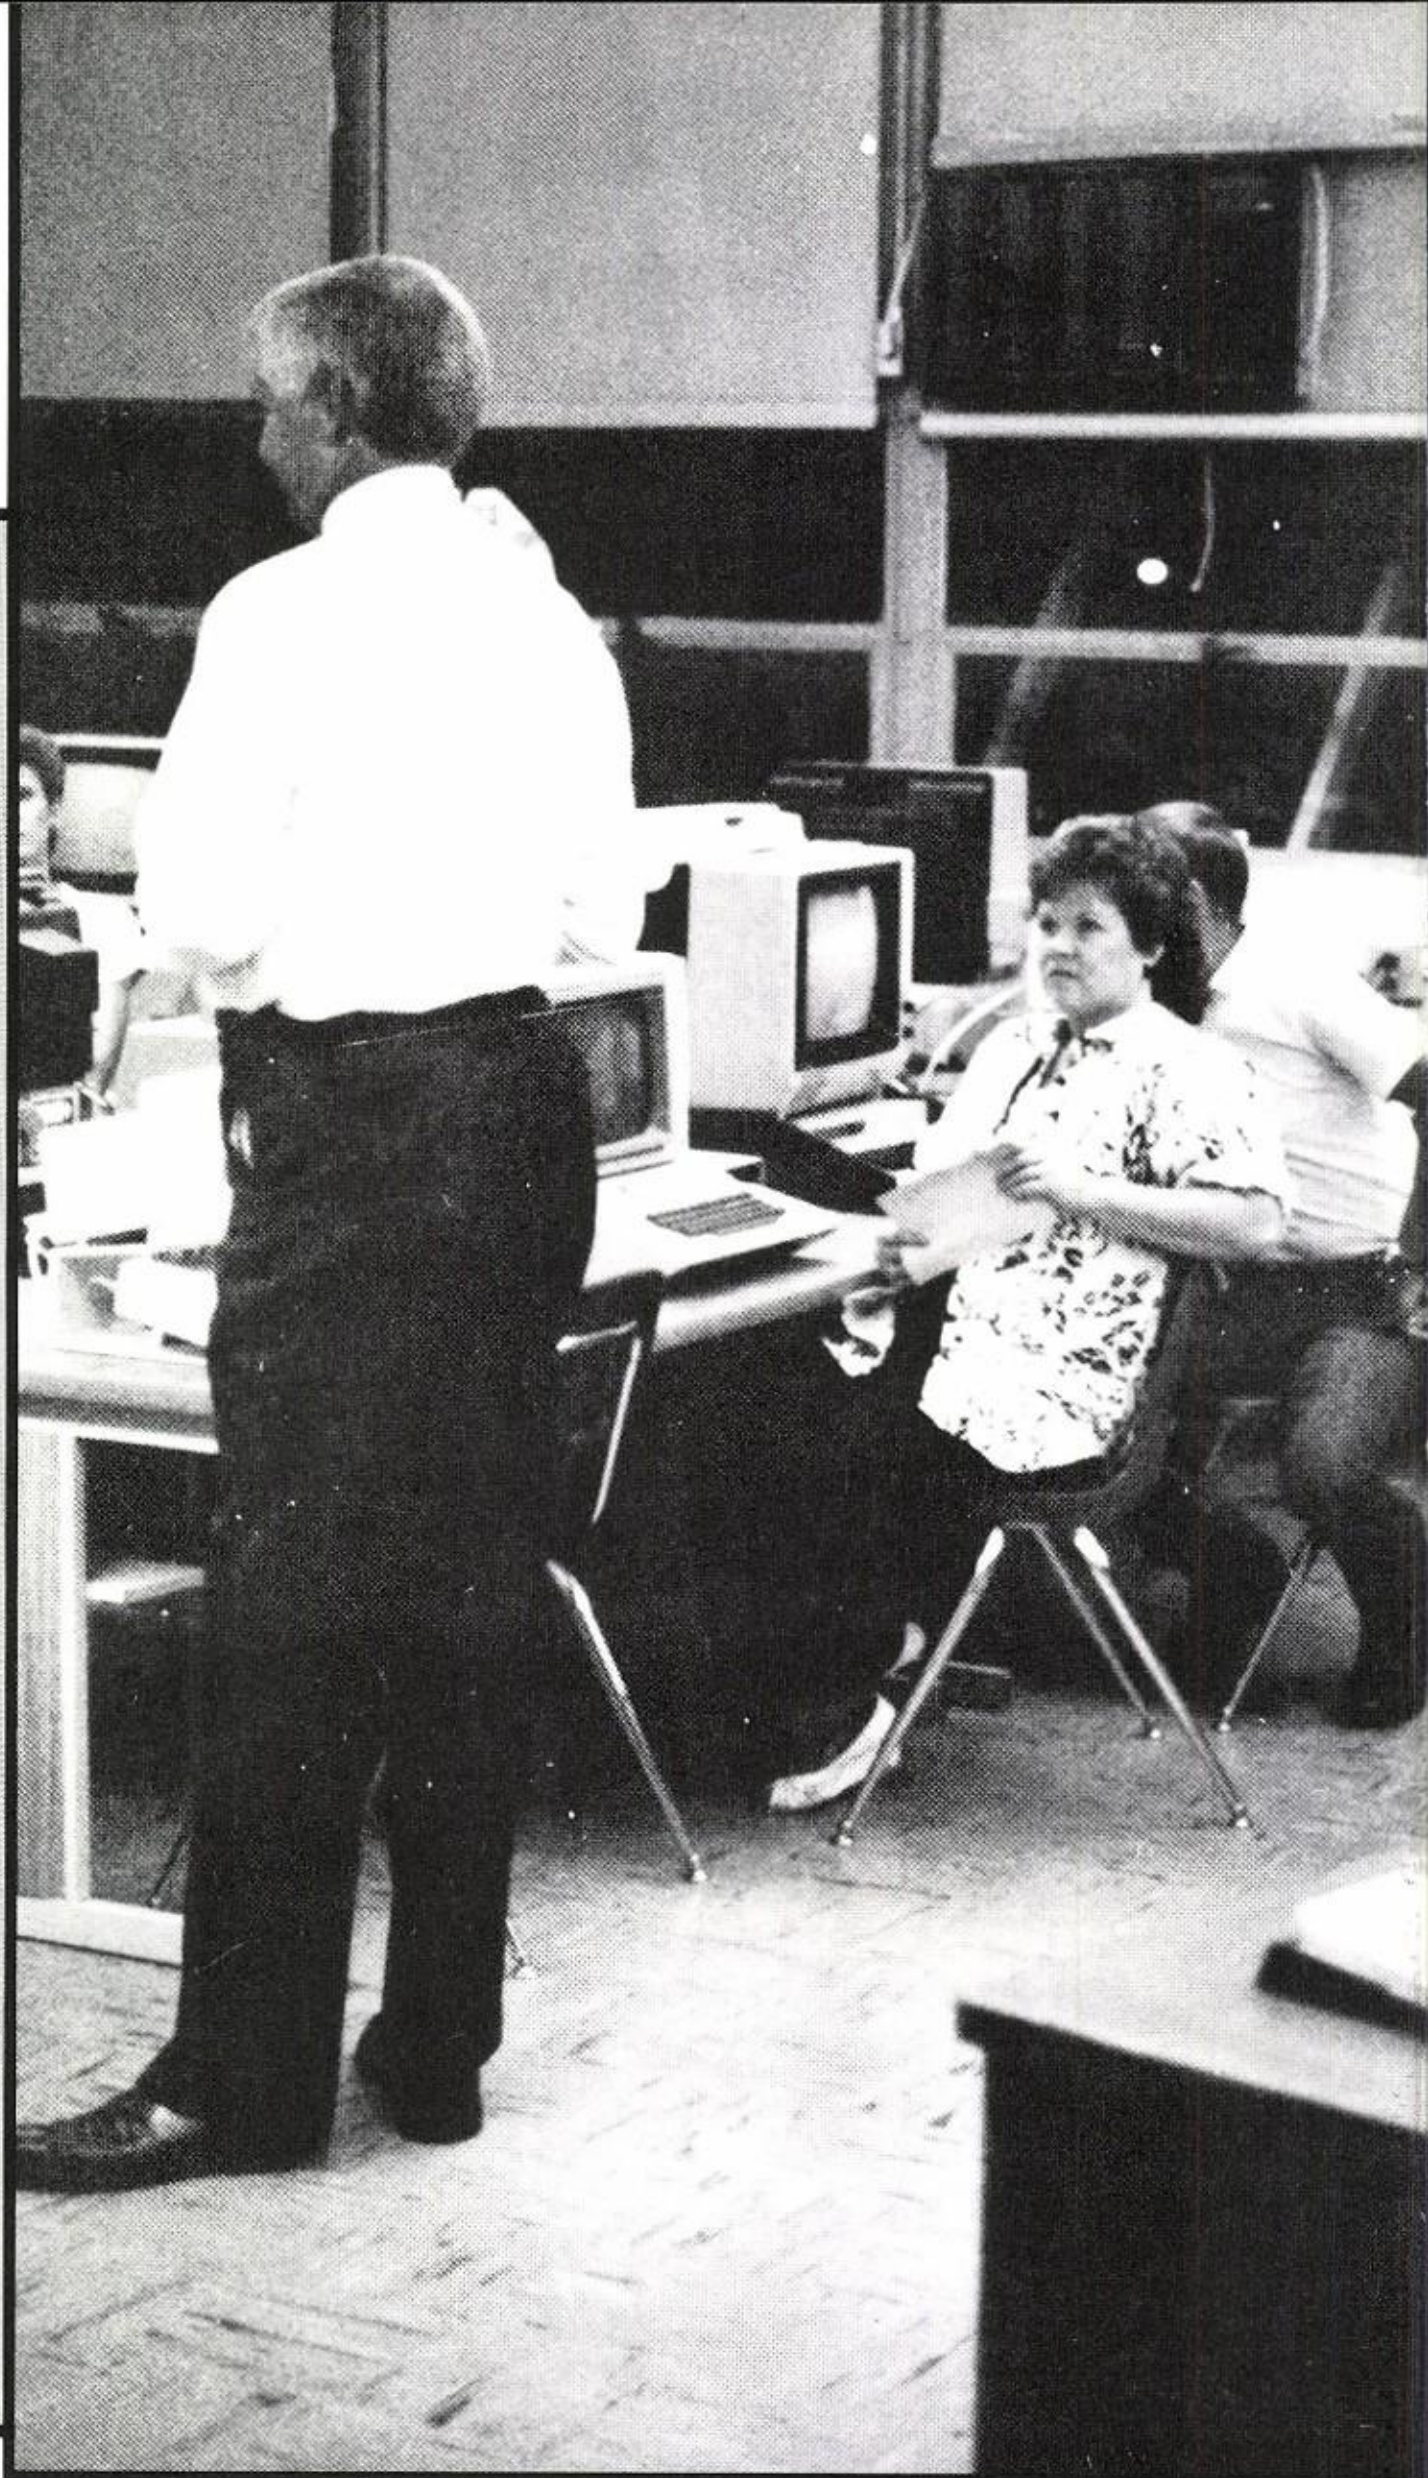

Report cards are a terrifying experience for some, but students work hard to make them come up to par. At WHS, students know it takes work to "make it count!"

Brass with CLASS! The Pride of Williamstown demonstrates why it earned its title at the Black Walnut Festival where it was named grand champion.

Instruction. Mr. Al Gardner helps WHS parents understand the computer during Open House.

Plotting. Wendy Jeffries, senior plots points to make a graphic design.

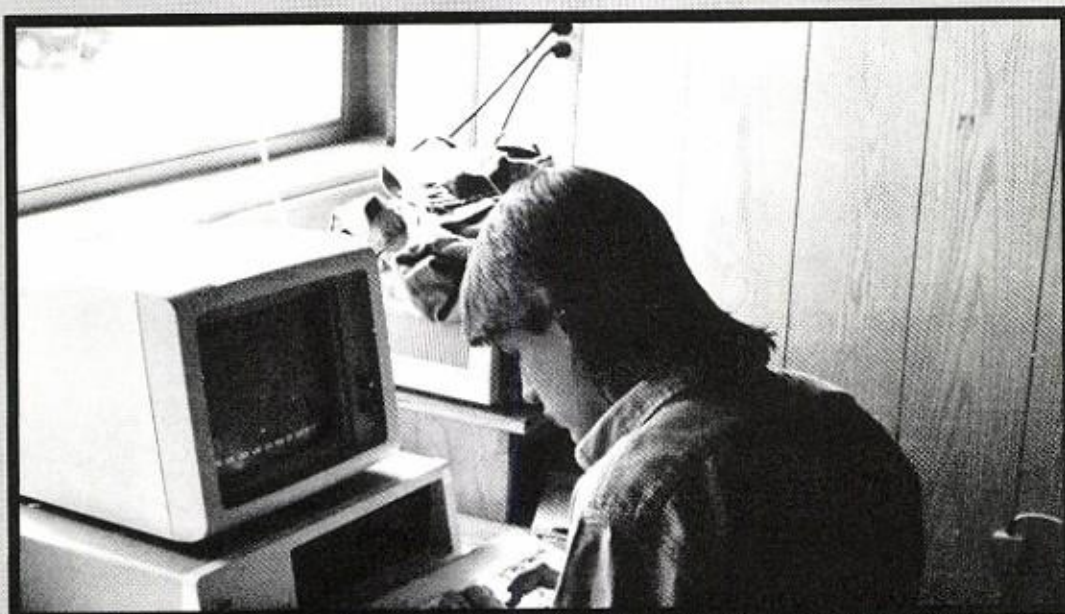

COMPUTER BLUES

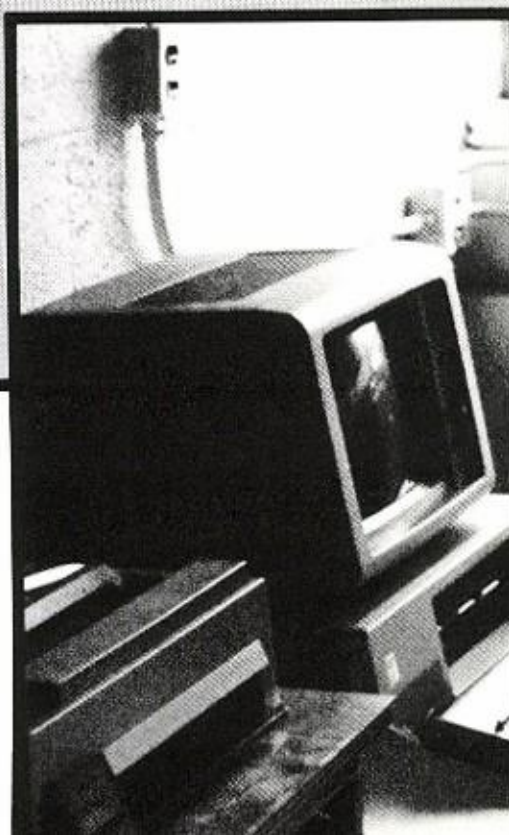

Computers — what once was fairly rare is now so common you can buy one at K-Mart. They come in a variety of sizes and colors, with various storage capabilities.

25 percent of those people surveyed owned a home computer — the most common being the Commodore 64. Students cite the organization and word processing skills of the computer as the main reasons for owning and using a computer for homework help.

Over 90 percent of those asked reported using the computer at least once in the past five years. As computers become more common, computer skills will become more important to most people. Students who were surveyed recommended that if one hadn't taken a computer class, then he should hurry — the class becomes more in demand each year!

Type t'ing. Senior Keith Boston labors on his latest computer project.

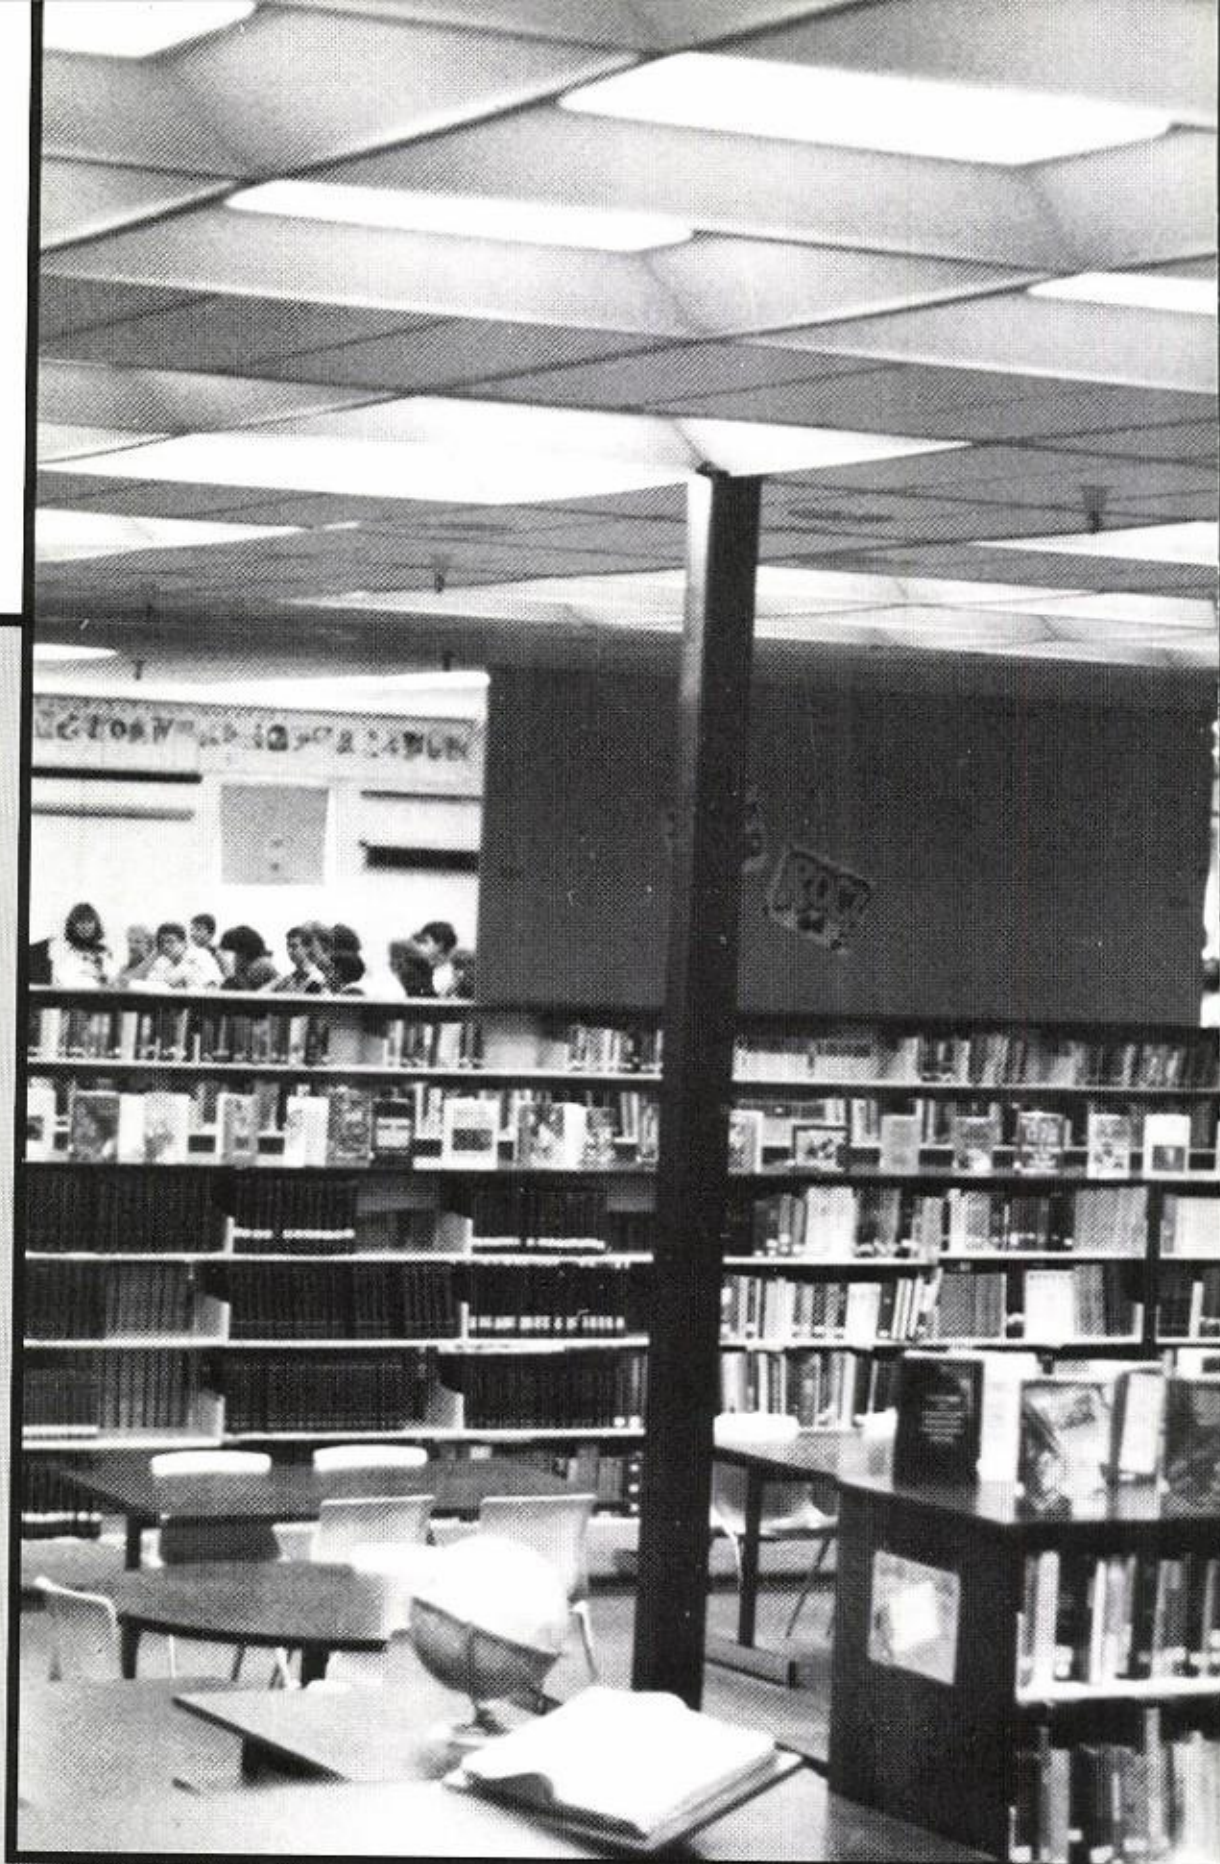

New wave. The computer, the mode of future communication.

LEARNING WITH CLASS

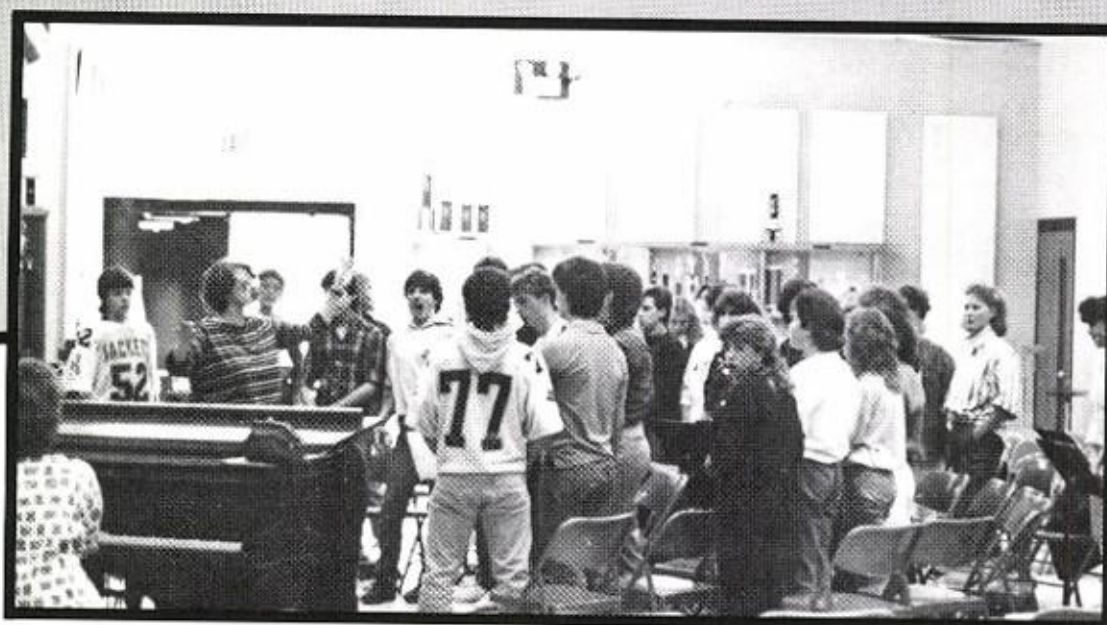

Classes — the basic framework of the educational system at WHS — are the most prominent daytime activities. And well they should be, considering the idea behind school is to learn.

At times, it seems that academics is put on the back burner when put up against extracurricular activities. However, that trend appears to be shifting with awards being given for the outstanding math students and the Honor Roll bulletin boards.

Teachers and students spend a considerable amount of time preparing for classes. The grades are important, and students want to make them count.

Overtime. Mrs. Randy Garrett works on lesson plans during her planning period.

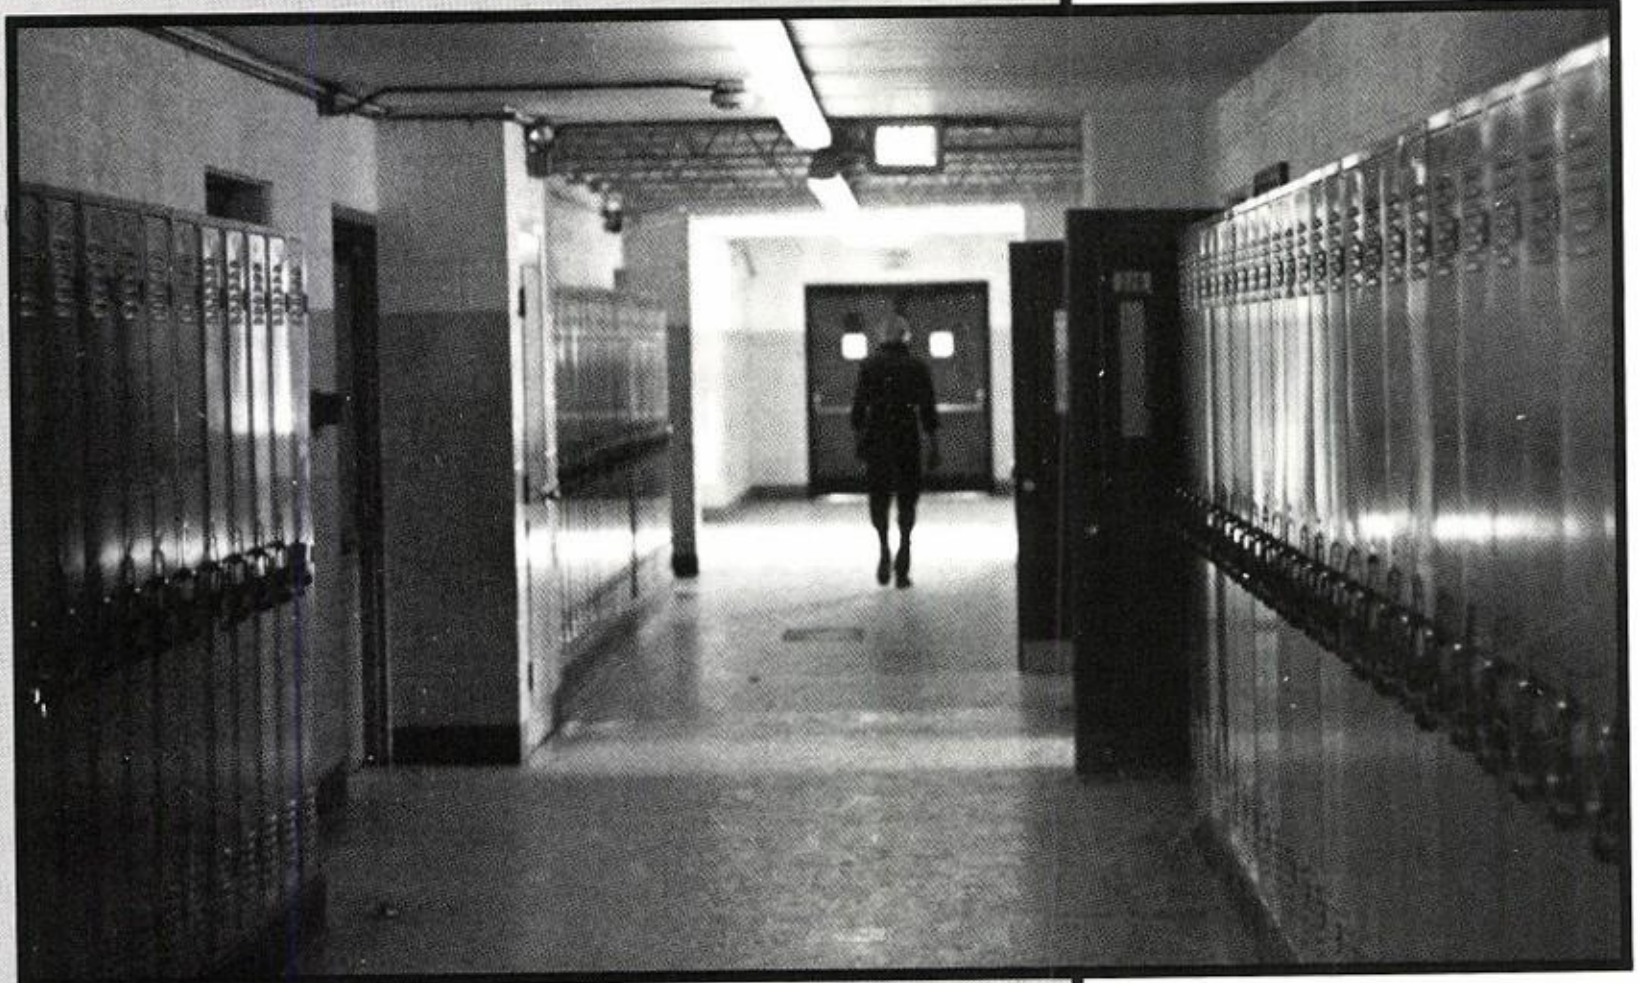

Tunes. Senior high choir practices during their class period.

Sectioned. The new section and library are a definite part of WHS class time.

Study time. Students in Mrs. Jackson's class spend time reviewing their material.

Lonely hallway. An unnamed student strolls the hallways of WHS during class time.

Discussion. Mr. Bill Anderson leads a discussion in a senior social studies class.

REDRUM! The percussion section gives its all during practice. Bass drummers Chuck Watt, Chris Toney, and Fred Stanley are shown.

SOLO. Senior Marlana Hefner solos during "Here's That Rainy Day."

Top Dog. Playing their closer "Tonight," the Pride shows why they were named Grand Champions at the Ripley Band Festival for the second year straight.

Determination. Field commander Giesala Collins directs the band from atop her podium during a performance.

BAND WINS "BIG TIME"

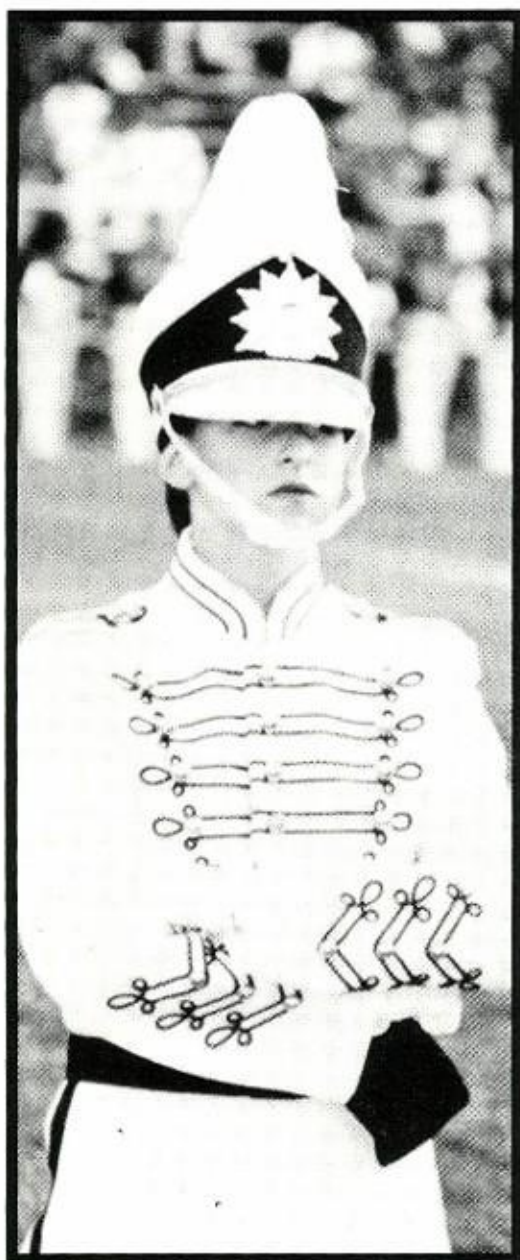

The Pride had quite a year, the best in its history. At the start, it looked to be a rough year as absences clouded the practice scene. Members survived the agony that is band camp only to return to practice in Williamstown with only half of its members. Absences were due to vacations, seminars, etc. and daily tallies ran as high as 30 missing from practice.

Traveling to Sistersville for the Oil and Gas Festival, the first competition, many were worried about performance results. However, worries were dissolved as the awards were announced — the Pride was named Grand Champion band, defeating longtime rival Paden City. Other awards won at Sistersville include: Best overall Field Commander, Giesala Collins, Best overall Percussion, Third place flag corps, best overall parade band, and best musical band. Yet this was only the beginning.

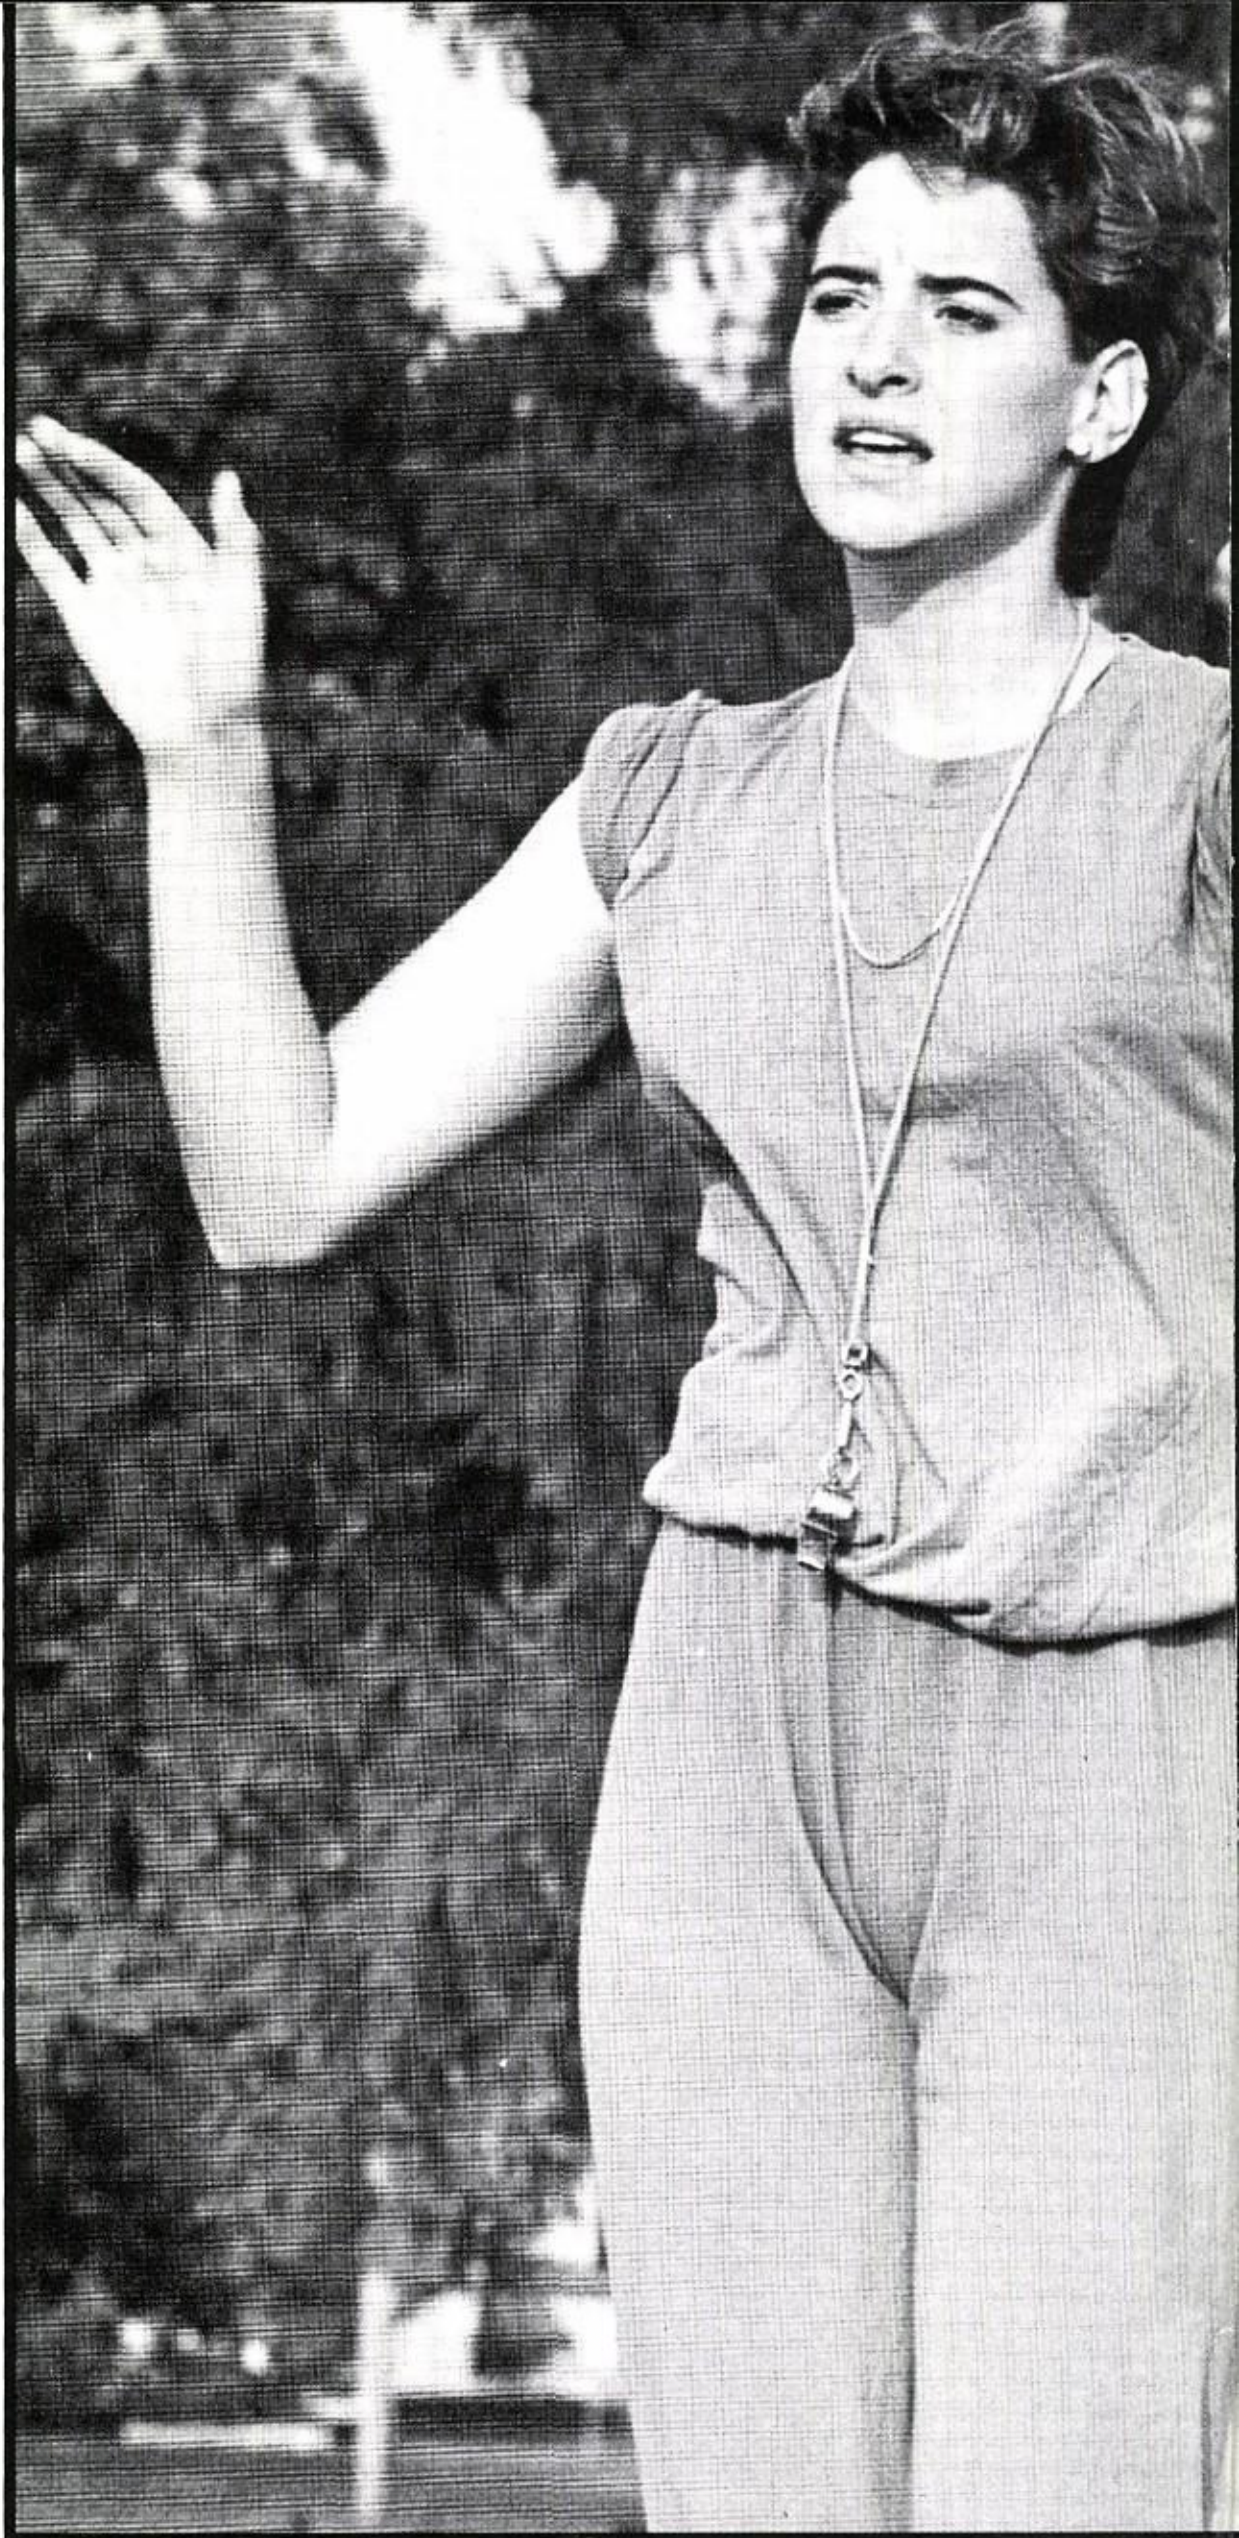

In the Beginning. Band members begin their performance with Fanfare and Allegro.

Rich Armstrong? Displaying her best Garfield pose, Giesala Collins awaits awards at Black Walnut.

"Band is a big part of my life — I spend so much time at practice or competitions! We're all so close, we're just like a family!"
— Christy Hardin

Downbeat. Field commander Giesala Collins proves that perfect practice makes perfect. She scored a 100% at Black Walnut.

Streetwise and Sleek! The Pride marches in the Black Walnut Festival parade in Spencer, WV. They won Grand Champ honors yet another year.

Set Up. Assistant director Mike Winland sets up percussion equipment before a show.

Viewing. Student teacher Laura Foster and Assistant Director Mike Winland check out the band during a parade competition.

BAND WINS "BIG TIME"

After its success at Sistersville, the band moved on to a double competition weekend. The first of the day was the Belpre Invitational Band Competition in Belpre, Ohio. This was the first time the Pride had competed there, and the band did very well!

The band won several awards at Belpre including: best overall field commander, best overall percussion, first place class AA flags, best musical band, and best class AA band in the entire competition.

After competing at Belpre, members then moved on to the Ripley Band Festival in Ripley,

WV. After winning Grand Champion honors in 1985, members were hoping to repeat their winning performance. With it being the second competition of the day, most members were exhausted. However, they were able to summon the energy to give a winning performance! Winning grand champion honors for the second year in a row, the members were elated by the victory.

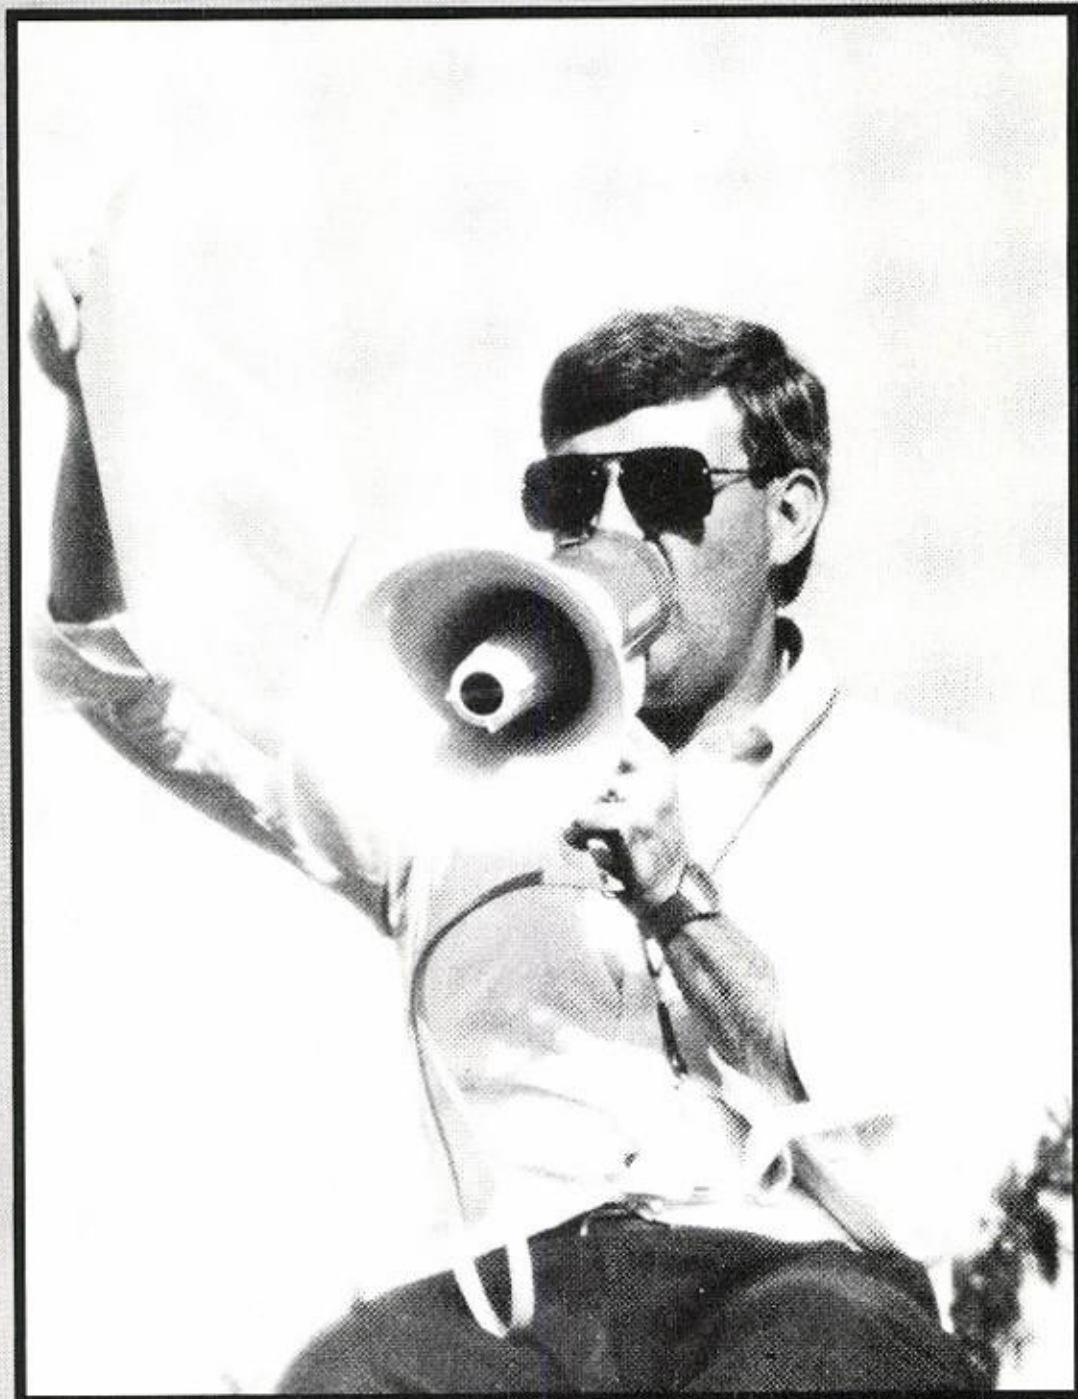

The Black Walnut Festival ended a wonderful marching season as the Pride won grand champ honors for the fifth time in six years. Until next year...

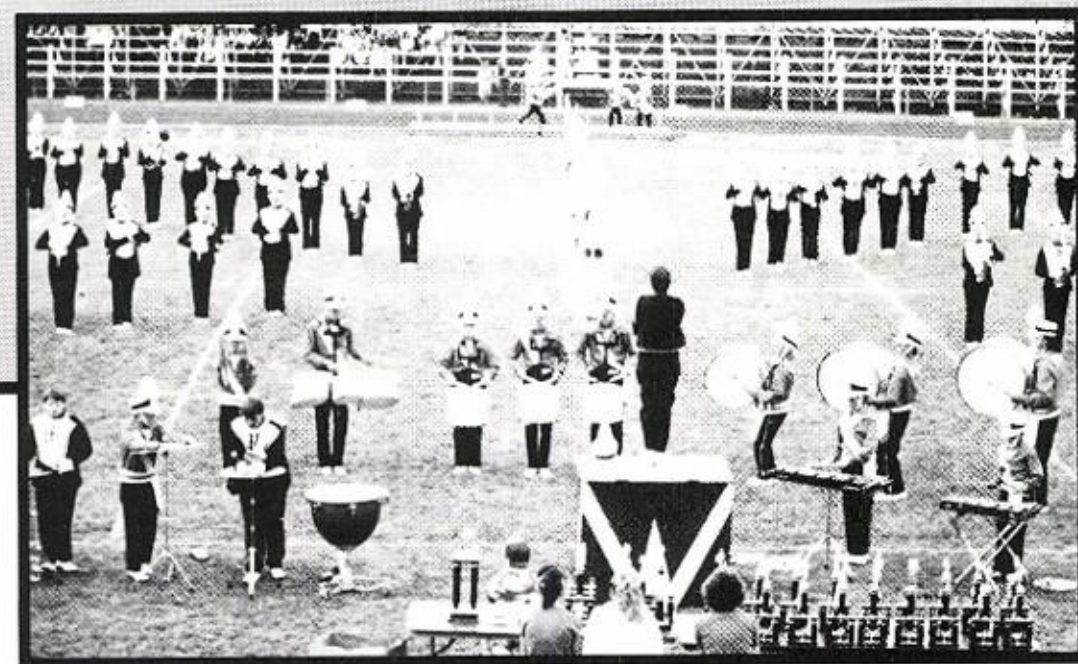

Marching sound. The brass section "busts gut" as it pumps sound during "Tonight."

Mega-phone. Band director David Burton gives instructions to the band during an afternoon practice.

Floating win. The winning organization float, "Sailing to a Victory" was built by the band.

Wynton II. Marlana Hefner, senior, plays the solo in "Here's That Rainy Day." on the flugel horn.

Percussion. The WHS drumline performs its solo, "REDRUM" which was written by Adam Mason.

Lead. Field commander Giesala Collins leads the band at the Belpre Invitational Competition.

SPECIAL STUDENTS

This is a story of some very special students. They are members of the special education class taught by Miss Mary Ann Stepek and Mr. Terry Smith. The students are not of the typical stock — they're a group that tries a lot harder than the average student.

This group of "kids," as Miss Stepek calls them, is special. They need a little extra attention in completing their work, but the work gets completed — which puts them above the average student in the completion area of studies.

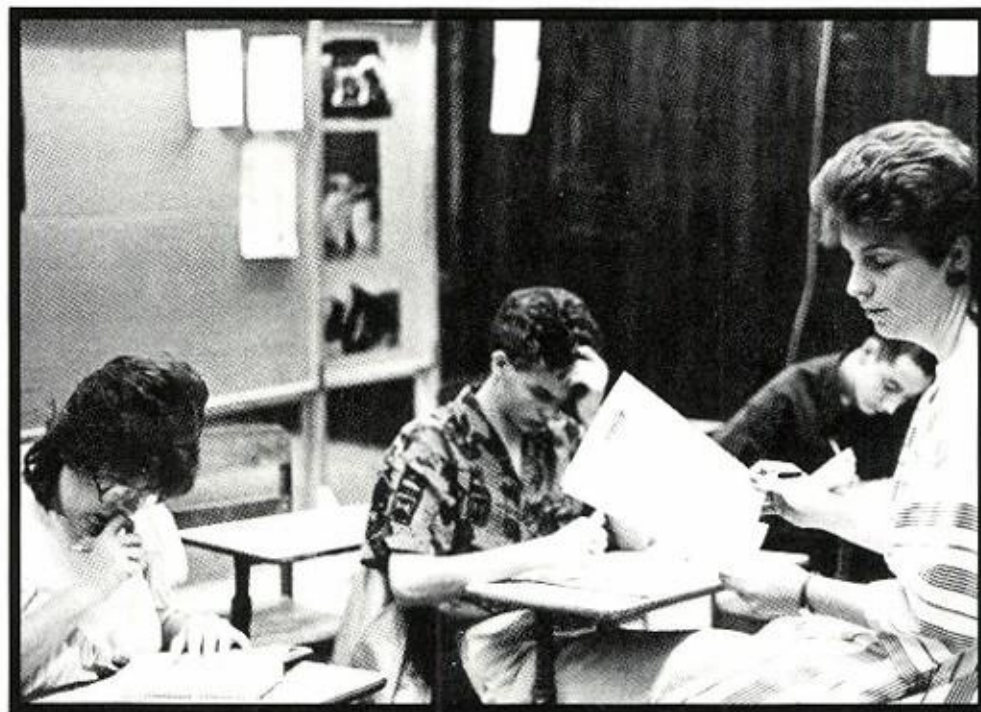

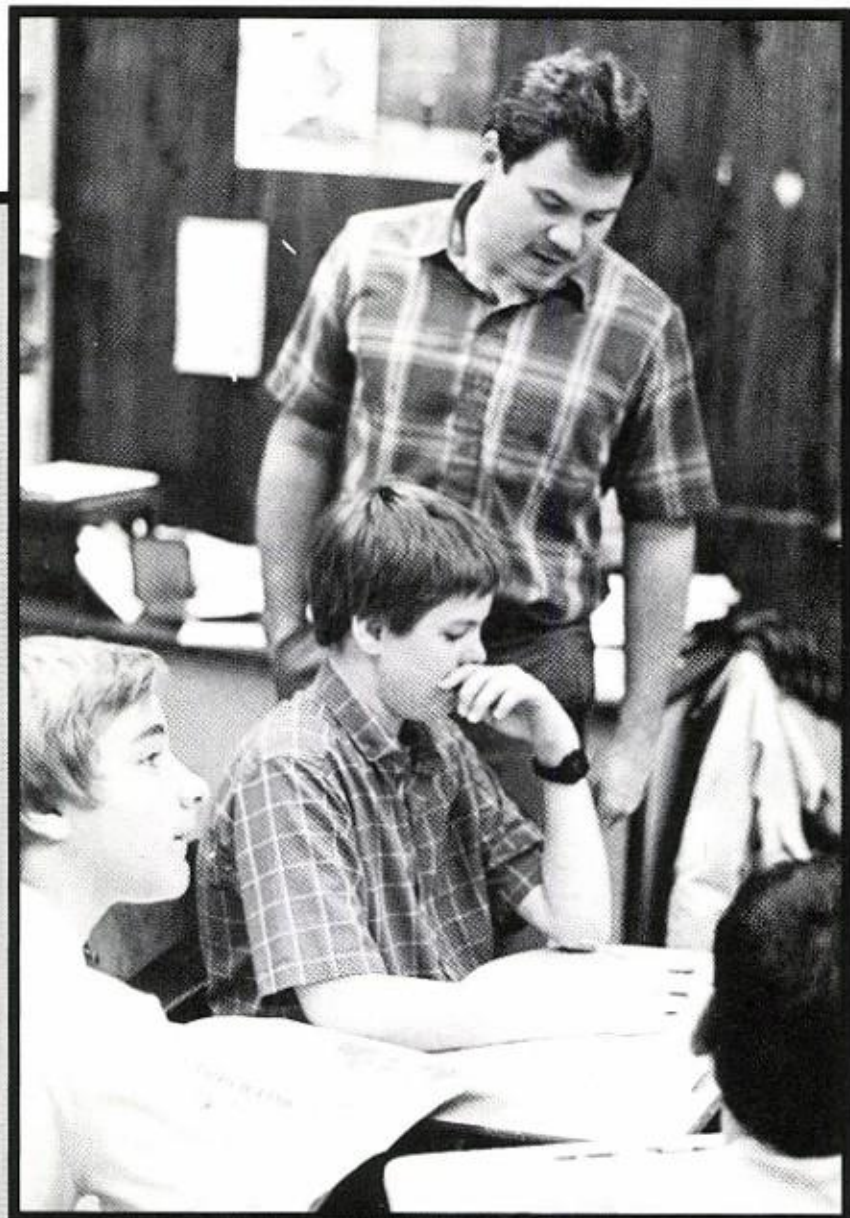

These classmen have a lot of heart, and they try a lot harder than most — they deserve a break because they try. They're just trying to make themselves count.

Instruction. Coach Smith helps out his students as they work to complete an assignment.

A helping hand. Miss Stepek helps Howard Case clear up a problem with his assignment.

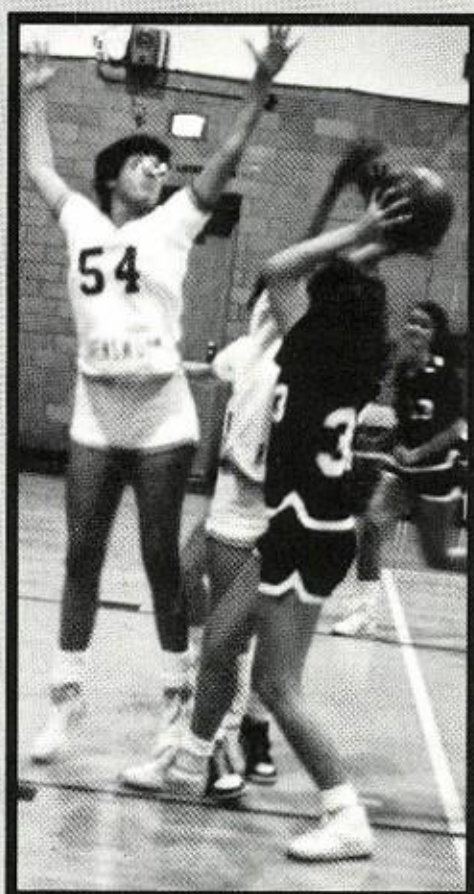

Solutions. Mr. Smith helps his students discover the answers to their questions.

Major math. Miss Stepek gives a math quiz to "her kids."

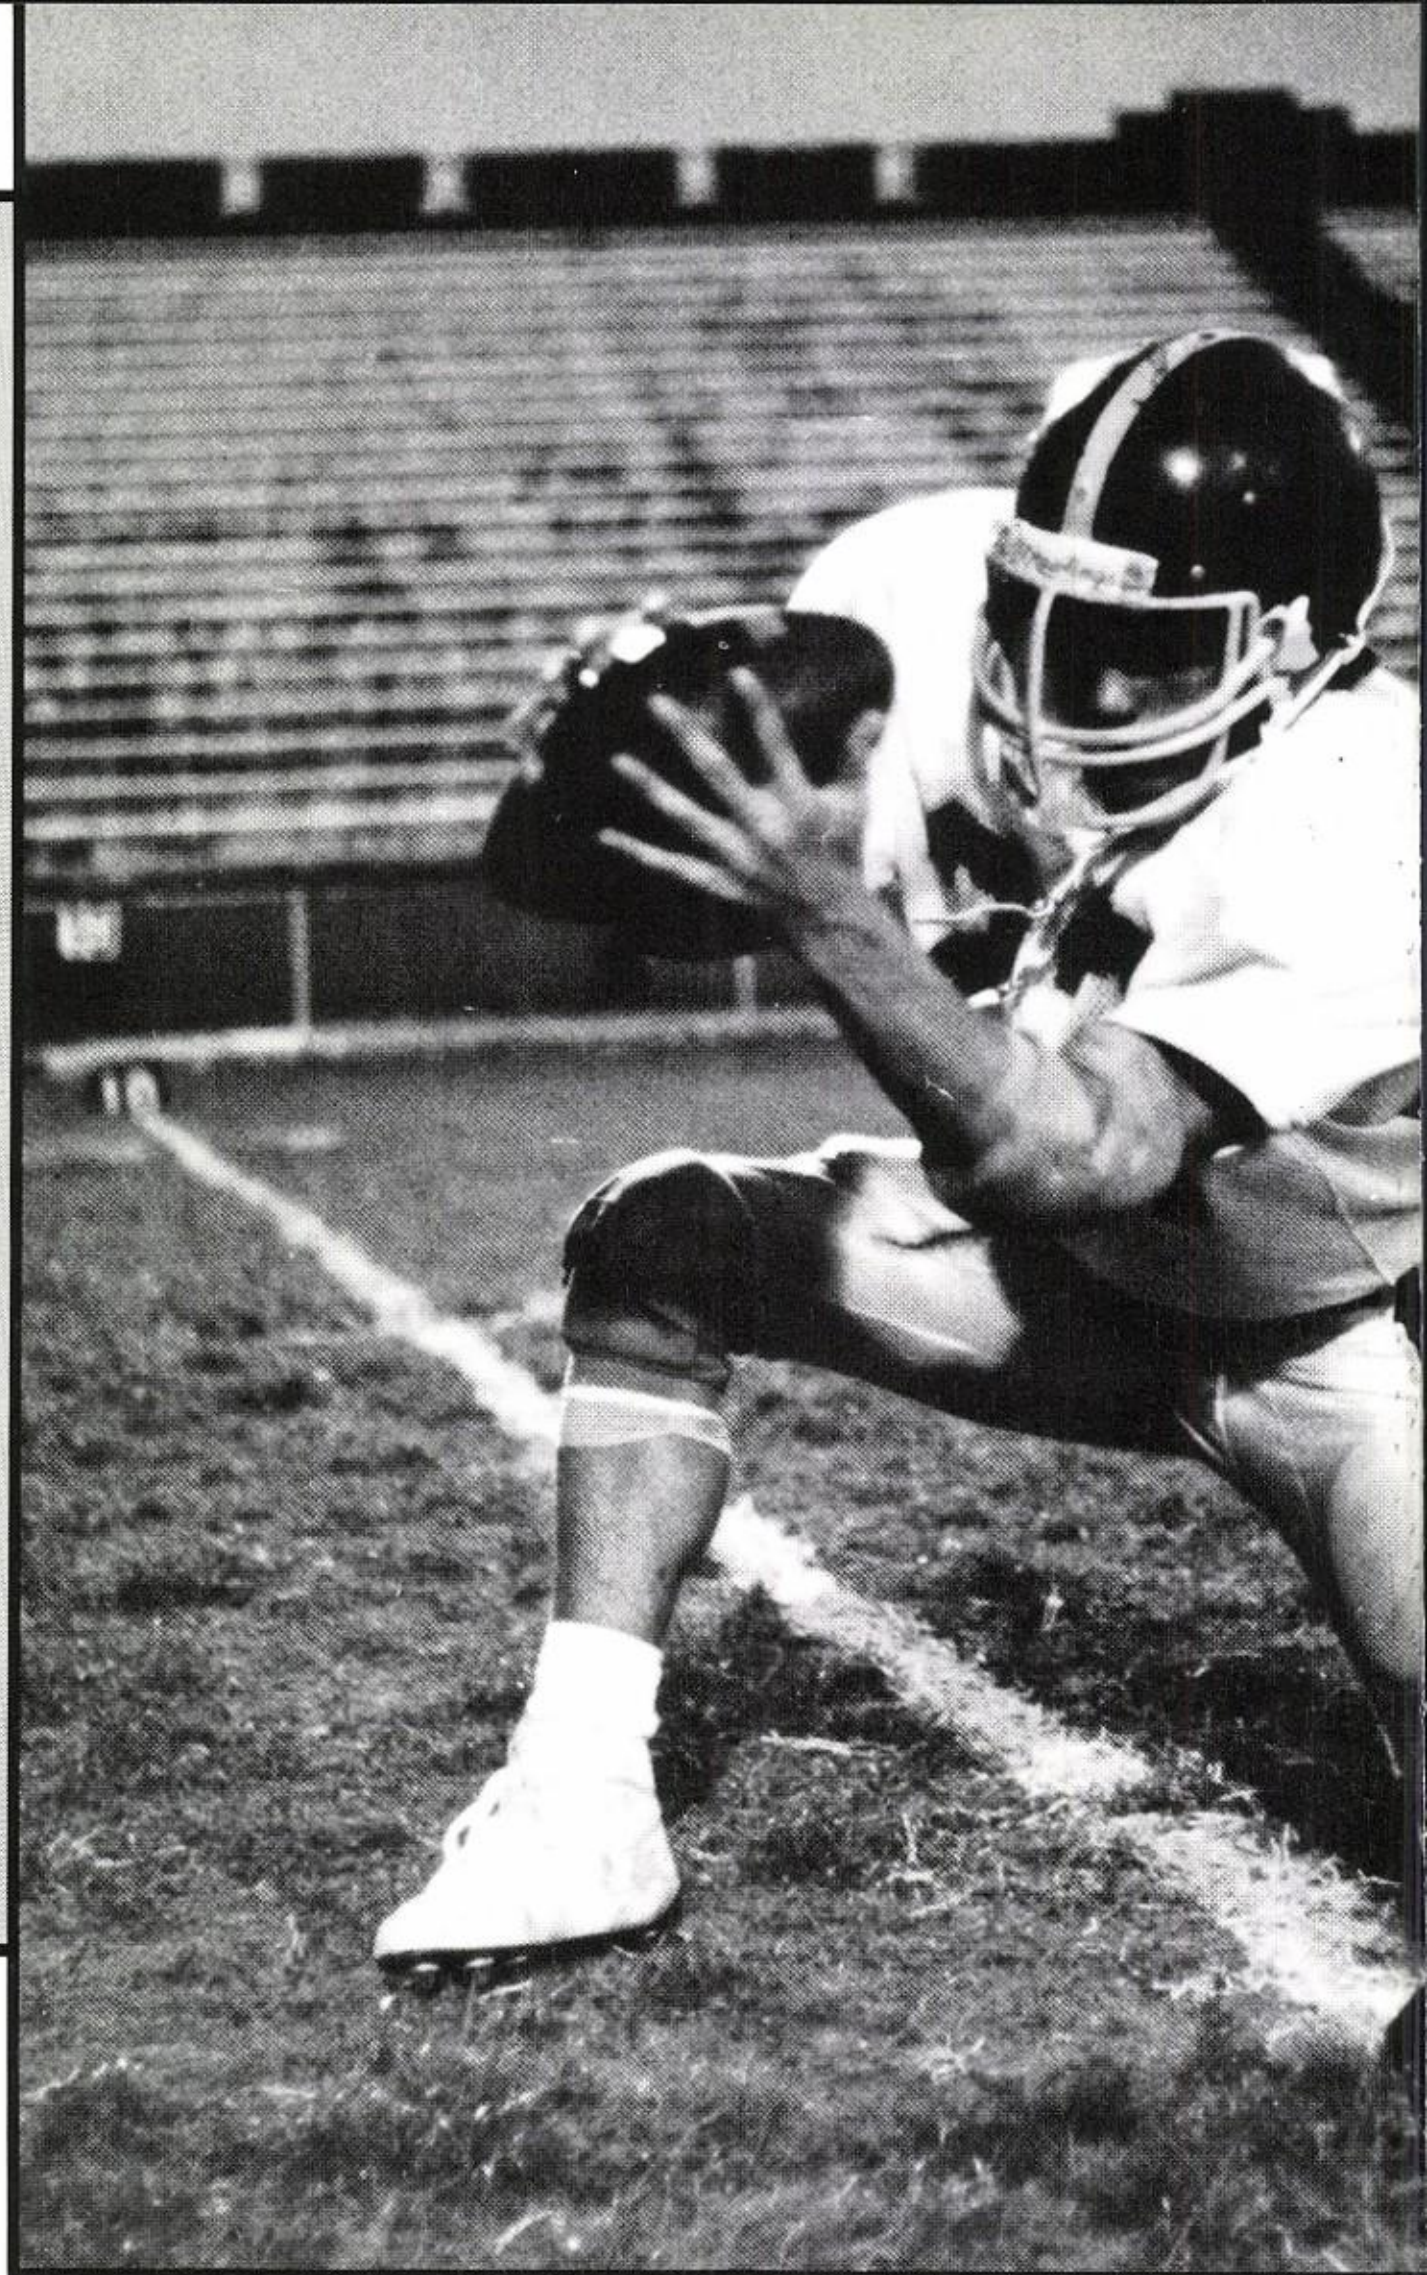

Answers. Students learn to find their own answers with a little help from Miss Stepek.

Shoot for two. Wendy Jeffries goes for two points during a girls basketball game.

Forward motion. Players work on their carrying ability and pass reception before the Catholic game.

ADDING THE SCORE IN SPORTS

A cheering crowd, an ecstatic team returning to the locker room after a big win, and a proud coach answering questions for the next day's headlines — these images are conjured by the word 'sports.' Students experienced the thrill of watching the varsity boys basketball team defeat St. Marys, Ravenswood, and Parkersburg Catholic. The varsity wrestling squad came up with a few new additions to augment the budding talent of a young team.

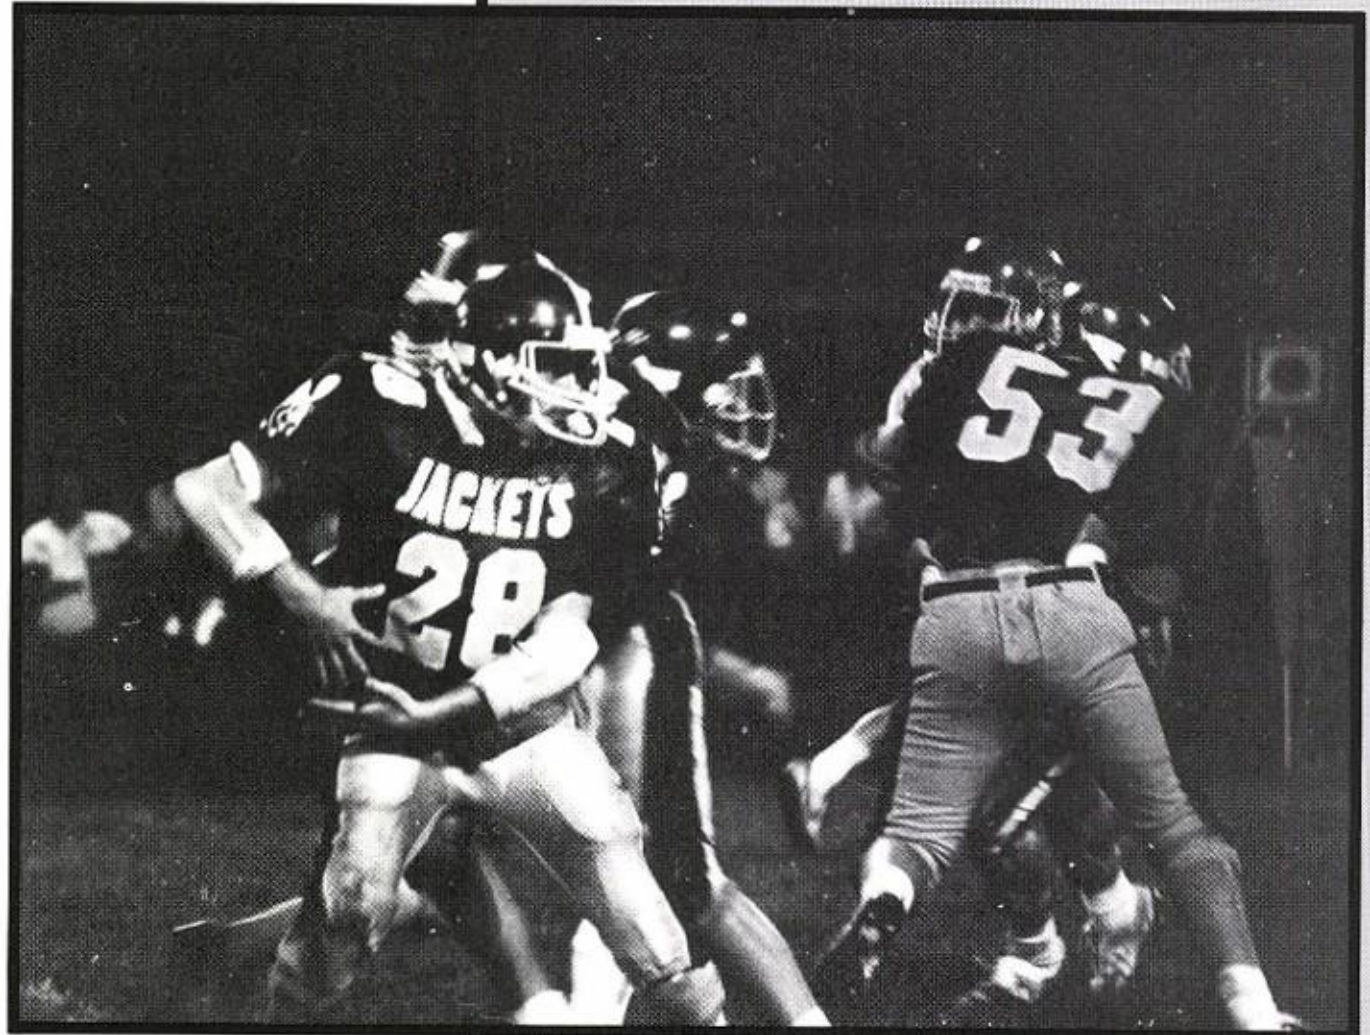

Wins were unfortunately inconsistent, and different squads proved this throughout the year. In the midst of disappointment, the varsity football team finished its season scoring only once in the last four games. The junior high tennis squad barely had enough team members to compete in an unfortunate 'off year.' The varsity and junior varsity girls basketball teams continued to rebuild, but finished the season with frustrating losing records.

In the battle toward victory, teams attempted to become the best in the Little Kanawha Conference or the entire state. Performance became a prerequisite as members learned an important lesson — one has to make it count!

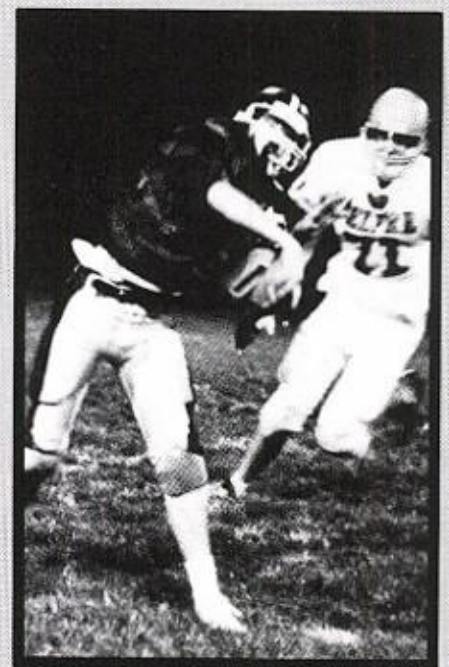

Controlled Concentration. — During the home game against Ravenswood, Assistant Coach Fred Sauro, Coach Ron Lathey, and players watch intently as the team attempts to win.

Gimme a Break! — Preparing to receive the ball on a draw play, Senior fullback Gary Anderson scans the line for an opening.

Going, Going, Gone. — Scrambling to get a pass in the air before being hit, Senior quarterback Chi Gerhold works for a first down against a crushing Belpre defensive line.

A YEAR OF FRUSTRATION AND DISBELIEF

The 1986 Yellowjackets began practicing on August 1 with high expectations and hopes of a winning season. However, come September 5 and the first game, Williamstown was defeated by an overrated Spencer team, 14-6. This game set the tone for the entire season as the team proceeded to lose games in which they should have been victorious. Never-the-less, the Jackets' remained confident after defeating Paden City 28-20 in the third game of the season.

Williamstown then traveled to Ritchie County only to lose 13-7 in the last seconds of the game. The following week, Calhoun fell to the Jackets 12-0 with the help of brilliant defensive play.

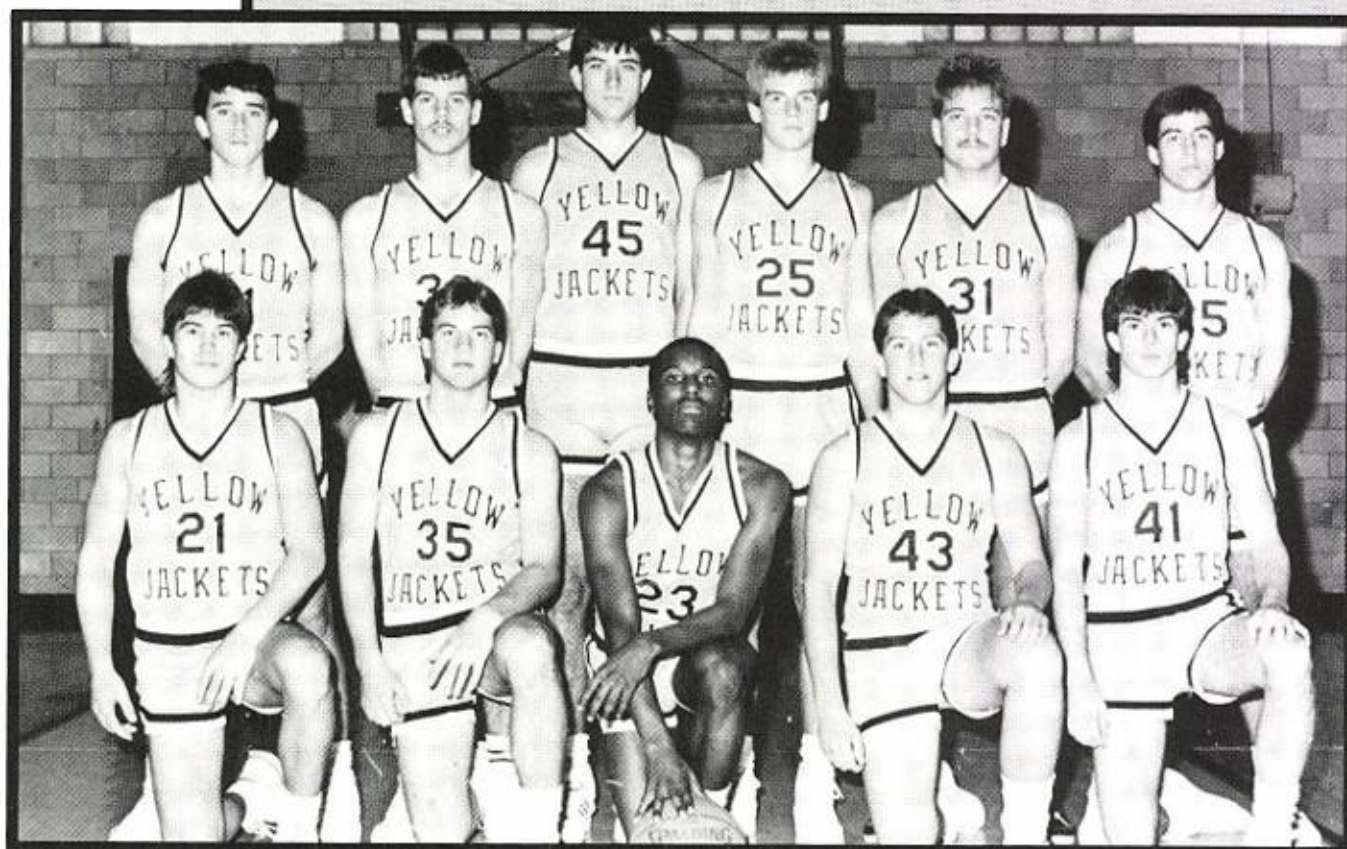

Finally, returning for a home game, the team played a St. Marys team which had been dubbed "weak." However, the Jackets suffered a bitter loss, 30-9. Following this game, the team was to come up short against Catholic, Wirt, Belpre, and Wahama. In fact, they scored only one touchdown in the last four games.

Although the scores do not prove it, the Jacket spirit did not die out as the team played excellently against Belpre and Wahama. However, 1986 can only be called a year of frustration and disbelief.

A SUCCESSFUL SEASON

As compared to last season's 7-15 record, the 86-87 Varsity Yellowjackets surprised a lot of people, compiling a 13-6 mark. The hoopsters lost only one game at home this year, that one to Magnolia.

The 'Jackets were sparked most of the season by the smooth play of Sophomore stand-out, Raymond Gutierrez. Jimmy Naab, also a Sophomore, contributed heavily with his scoring and rebounding ability. WHS was also blessed with the presence of Wayne County transfer Craig Ross. As a Junior, Ross has displayed good ball-handling and effective defensive play. Dean Bobbitt and Jay Offenberger provided the Senior leadership this season with their experienced performances.

Boasting a solid 13-4 record, Williamstown, champion of the Northern division, battled the Southern rival, Ravenswood, for the LKC Championship. Although the 'Jackets fell short 64-66 in overtime, it was a well played game and a performance of which to be proud.

With several players returning, Williamstown is obviously optimistic about next year.

Returning lettermen will be: Raymond Gutierrez, Jimmy Naab, Craig Ross, Derik Simon, and Barry Hathaway.

'Naab'-ing It. Jumping above the rest, Sophomore Jim Naab attempts to grab a rebound.

Coaches' Concentration. Head Coach Ron Lathey and Assistant Coach Fred Sauro watch intently as the team strives for a victory.

JV BASKETBALL

The J.V. Hoopsters finished with a 9-10 record this year under the leadership of Coach Fred Sauro. Although, the Jackets were an inexperienced team consisting of mainly Sophomores, Sauro feels they show good-basketball ability. Scott Wiseman provided most of the points and rebounds, while Danny Tingler displayed tenacious defensive skills throughout the season.

GIRLS BASKETBALL

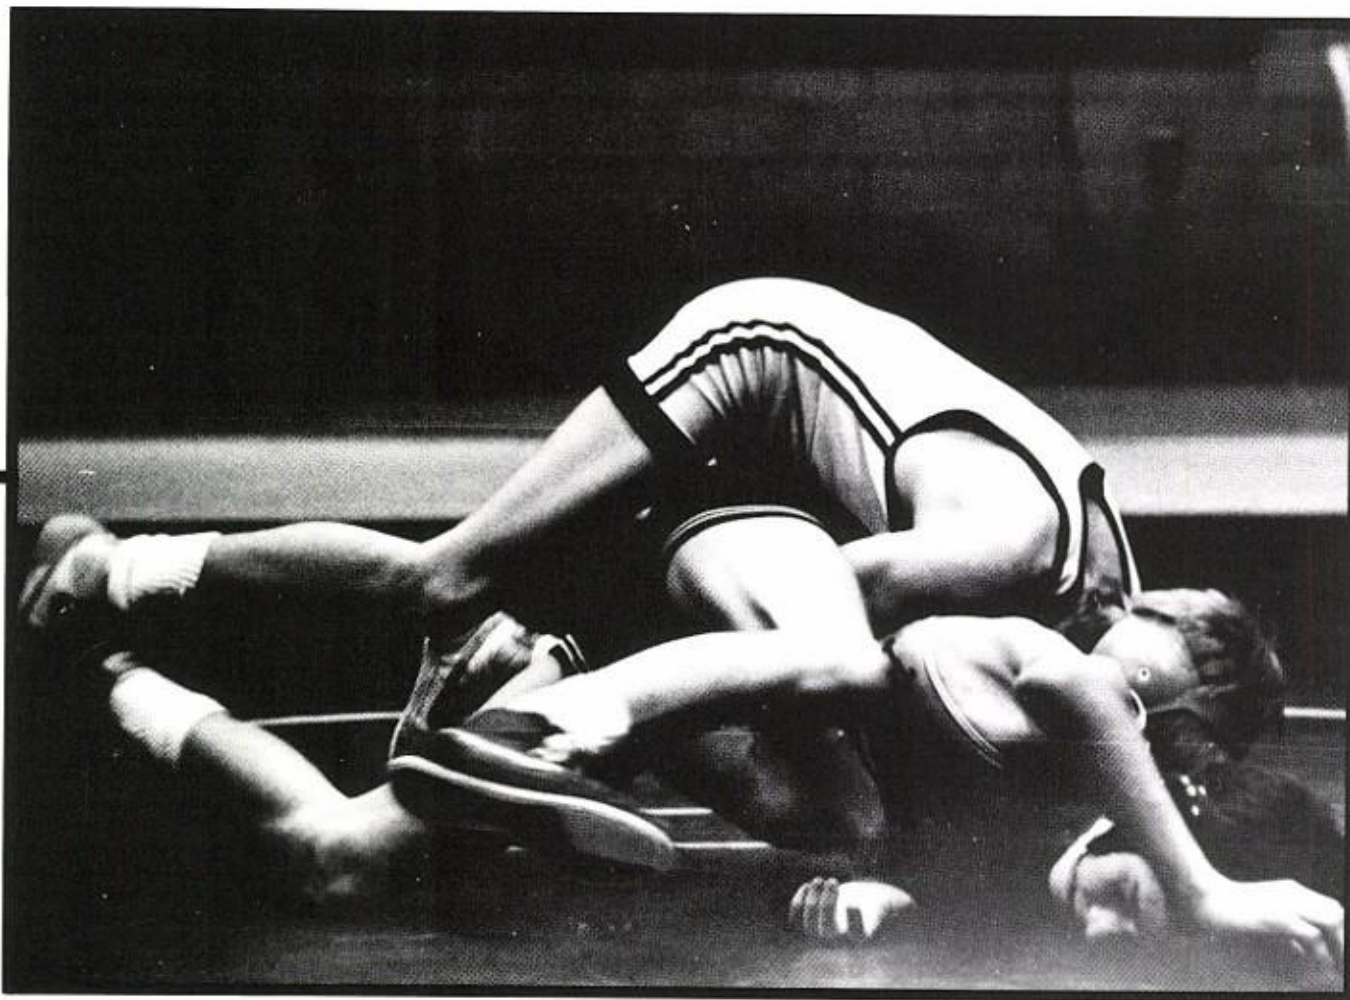

"Although the tough season hurt their confidence, it helped them physically," stated Mr. Fred Sauro. After several consecutive losses, the Jackets finally defeated Wirt County 59-48 and made it into USA Today for doing just that. Williamstown finally ended a thirty-two game losing streak! The Jackets finished sixth in the LKC, which was two better than last year's cellar dwelling.

This is only the second year of the JV program and already Sauro feels that it has been beneficial. For example, it is establishing more experienced players for the varsity squad, while also enabling several girls to play basketball. Before, they could not have participated in basketball, due to lack of funds and uniforms. Therefore, Coach Sauro feels confident in having a bright future.

WRESTLERS FIGHT TO GRAPPLE

"Entering the 1986-87 wrestling season we were looking toward an exciting year with the youngest team we have ever had," stated Mr. Bob Pickens. It has been an exciting season so far as the grapplers have attained a 4-3-1 dual match record while placing third in tournaments at St. Mary's and Nitro. Williamstown also finished fourth in the PHS and HUPCO Tournaments. Junior, John Fincham was named most outstanding wrestler at Nitro.

"We had to forfeit the last two weight classes due to not having anyone over 170 pounds on the team. At our first tournament we started 8 sophomores, 1 junior, and 1 senior. "As the season progressed and we improved, we could see that we will indeed again be a force to be reckoned with in the future," said Coach Pickens.

The golf team finished with a 2-9 record this year as they defeated Ripley twice. Mike Casto, James Casto, John Eaton, Brian Burgo, and Michelle Wiggins were the main five. Eaton received the medalist honor in two of the matches. Lisa Ruf and Michelle Wiggins were the first girls WHS ever had participate in this sport.

SPRING

SPORTS

When we started practice on March 3, the expectations were high, especially among the veterans. As we entered the early season meets, our hopes and goals began to look even more realistic. Winning the Dunbar meet showed us and all our supporters that we were a legitimate state contender, a power if you will.

Winning the Belpre Shrine Relays and completing our dual/triangular schedule unbeaten were good accomplishments, but we still had the big meets to win.

The Gazettes marked our first loss, but we still felt like we were a great team. The LKC, Section, and Regional championships followed, setting the stage for the State Meet. We had won as a team all year, and as we practiced for the State, I knew a team effort would be needed to win. We qualified fourteen guys and ten of them scored in Charleston, which helped us to our second place finish.

Looking back over the past three months, I have many emotions. Pride in what our team was able to do, sadness to see so many good guys graduate and leave WHS, but most important the realization that these wonderful days will live forever in my memory and I hope in your memories, too. The most important thing about our track team was togetherness, that bond that makes individuals a TEAM.

Thank you for these wonderful weeks of the 1986 track season.

Coach Jack Jones

JR. HIGH GRIDDEERS IN CHAMPIONSHIPS

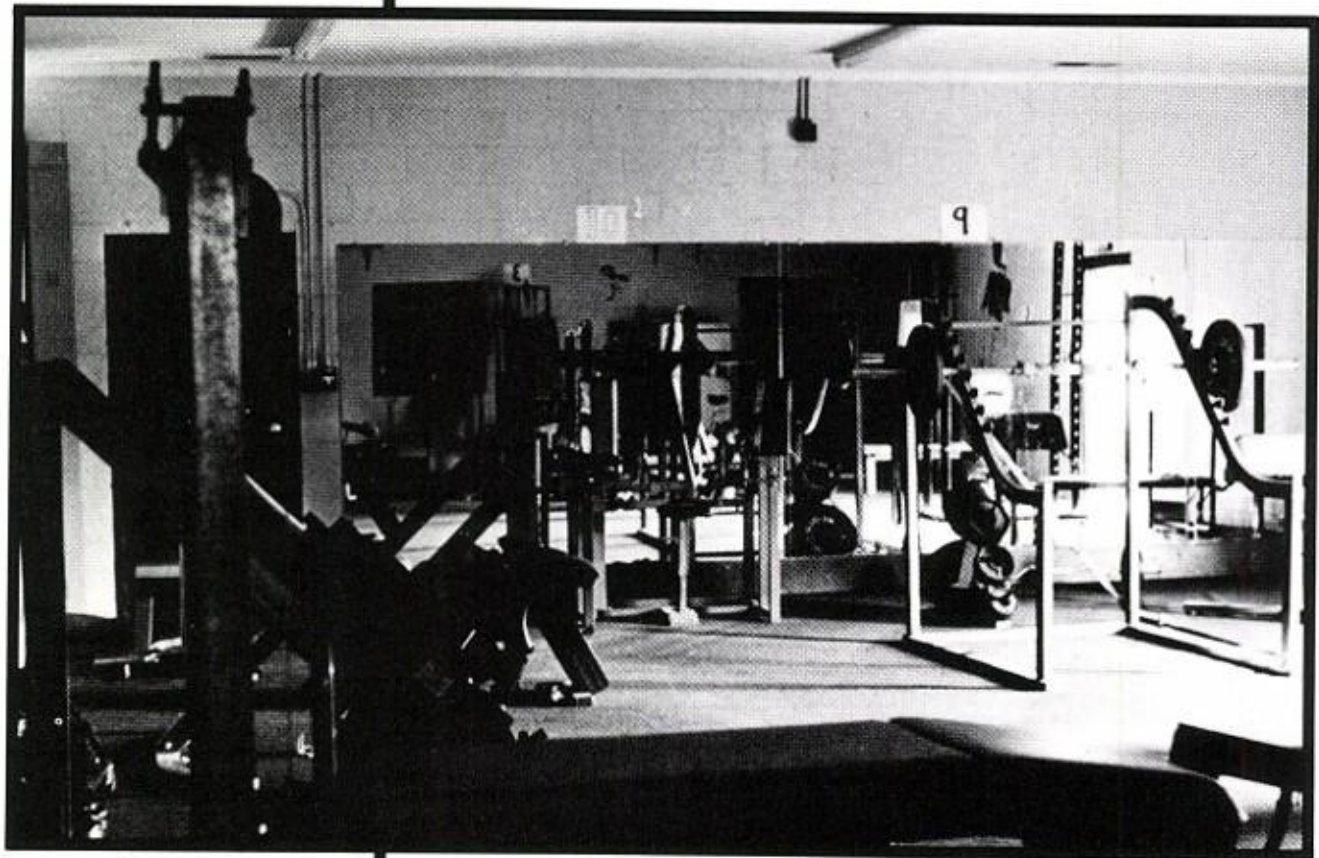

The Junior High 'Jackets completed the season with a 5-3 record and finished second in the Wood County League. Coach Smith stated that team really worked and tried hard all year. Although, it was a successful season, one game seems to stand out in Smith's mind. He and the players felt very confident they could defeat Jackson, however the Jackets lost 21-8. Nevertheless, it was a year to be proud of for everyone.

Williamstown won five of the last six regular season games and averaged over twenty offensive points in each. The 'Jackets finished fourth place as they lost a close battle to Blennerhassett 22-20. Coach Smith is very confident in having a strong team next year.

Workout. Using the weight building, many team members improved their performance during the season.

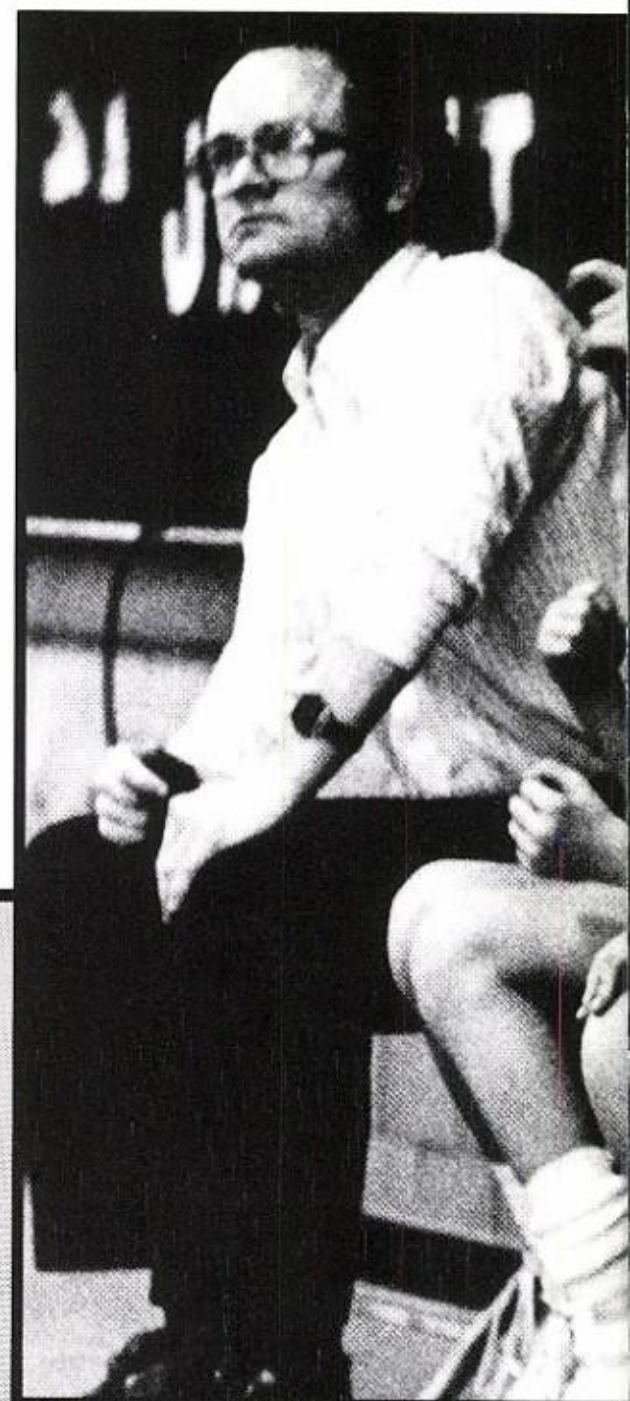

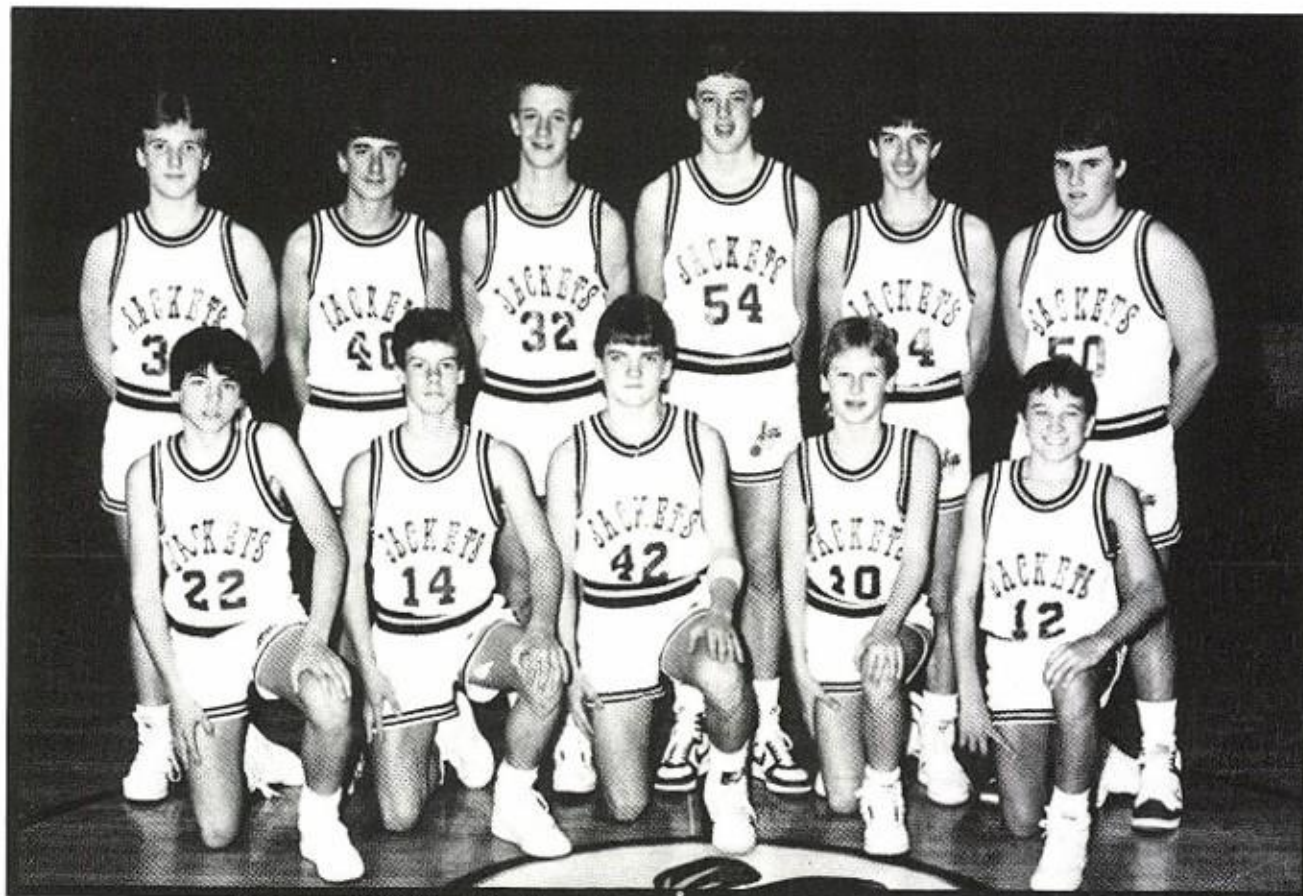

JH MATMEN

The Junior High grapplers finished sixth in the Wood County Tournament, which was evidence of their inexperience. Matt Casto and Rex Anderson, both attained 12-0 record and were named county champions in tournament play. Shawn Farrah and James Dowler had identical 10-2 records, they each placed second in the county.

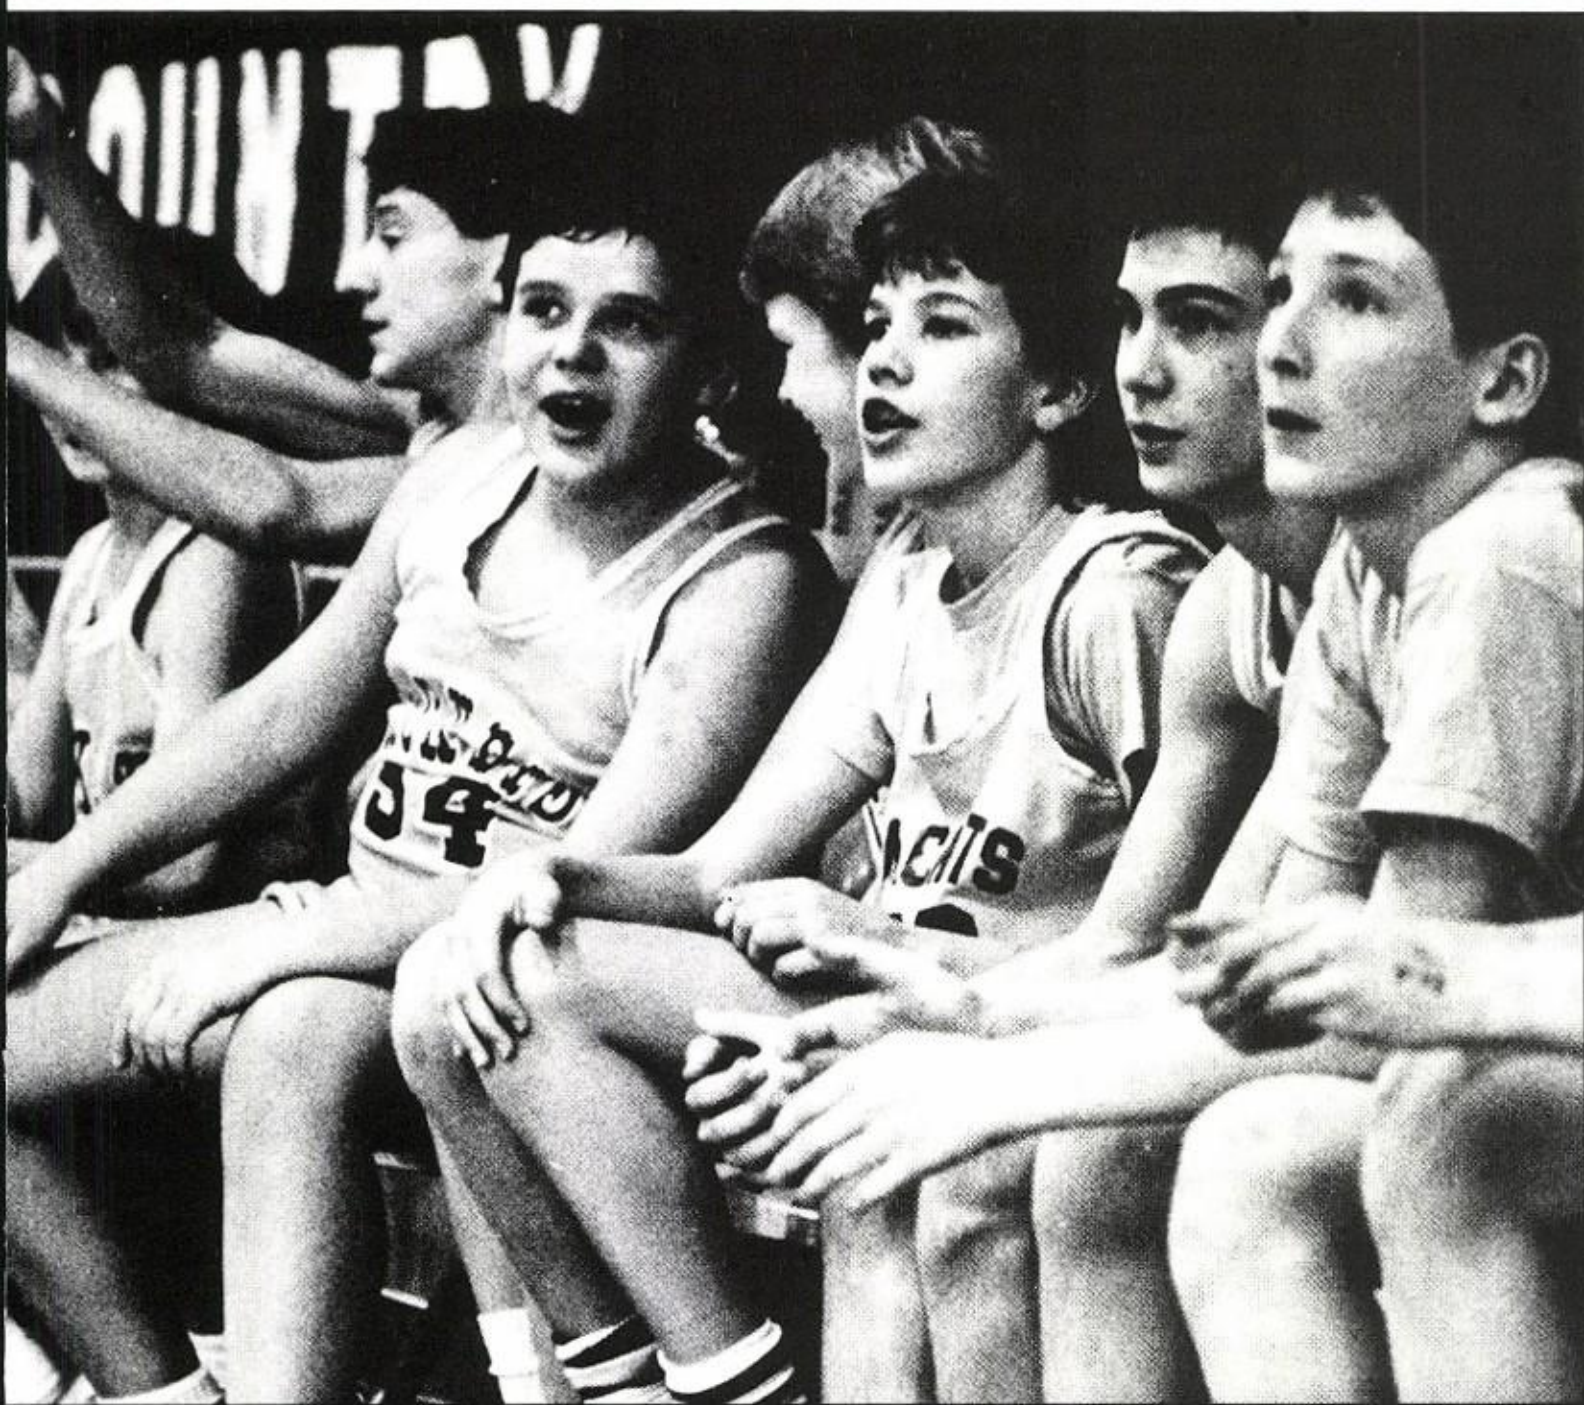

Coach Jeff Givens stated, "They worked very hard and did a good job in the tournament, considering the competition which faced them."

JR. HIGH BASKETBALL

The 9th grade boys basketball team completed the year with a 12-5 mark, while also finishing second in the regular season and fourth in the Wood County Tournament. Coach Randy Modosett viewed the season as "somewhat of a disappointment from both the coaches and the players stand-point." However, he also stated, "by having to overcome adversity, I think it has made them better basketball players."

Chris Nelson led the team with 213 points, 154 rebounds, 68 assists and a 69 percent free-throw average. The Jackets played in many close games, but the most memorable was the one in which they lost to Jackson in double over-time 43-45. However, Williamstown would win the remainder of their regular season games as they defeated Edison, Washington, VanDevender, and Franklin respectively.

When asked if he was confident for next year, Mr. Modosett replied, "I view every season optimistically. And because of this winning tradition at Williamstown, it is quite likely that the future is very bright."

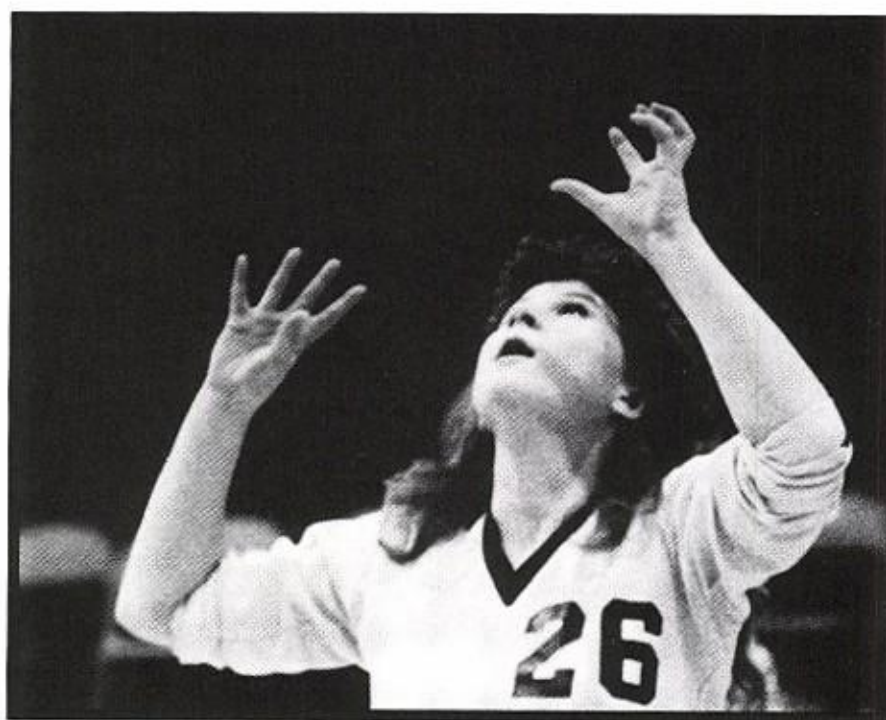

The Yellow Jackets won the 7th-8th grade Championship 35-25, as they defeated Hamilton. Williamstown finished first place in the regular season, compiling a 14-2 record. In each of their two losses, only three points separated them from being victorious, as they came up short 38-40 to Hamilton and 44-46 against Edison. However, the Jackets would win their next eleven games to finish with an over all record of 17-2 — the best in the county.

Jason Nelson led the Jackets with 364 points, 156 rebounds, 103 assists, 94 steals, and 20 blocked shots. Brent Kincaid was second in scoring with 197 points, while also adding 48 assists. Jeff Bayles grabbed down 115 rebounds, good for second on the team.

Attempted Block. — Meredith Fenton, eighth grade, attempts to block an opponent's shot during an after school girl's Junior High basketball game.

Getting Set. — Junior, Gretchen Balsley prepares for a spike at a home Varsity Match.

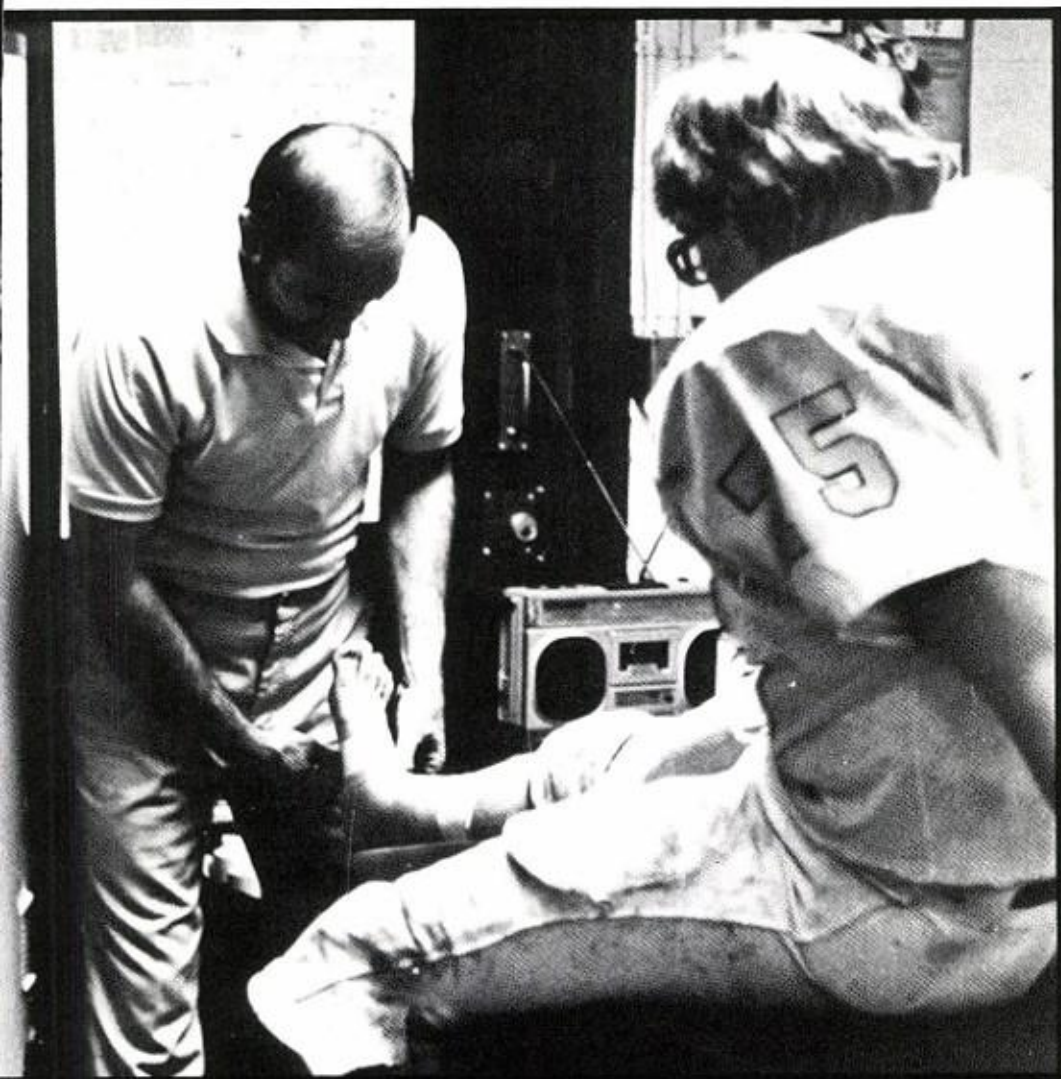

SPORTS SHOTS

JH GIRLS HOOPSTERS

"Finishing with an 11-5 record and third place in the Tough Wood County League, I was very pleased with our season's accomplishments. Shanna Lyons, Shellie McIntosh, and Melinda Riffle, provided most of the scoring, while Mary Wolfe and Sheryl Lyons rounded out the five very capably."

"Meredith Fenton, Melanie Bradford, and Tracy Eble make next year's team look like another enjoyable year for me," stated Coach Schramm.

Wrapping It Up. — Athletic trainer, Randy Moddesett wraps an ankle to prevent further injury during a football game.

Forward Motion. Coach Doak Markley attempts to score for the faculty team during the Senior/faculty game.

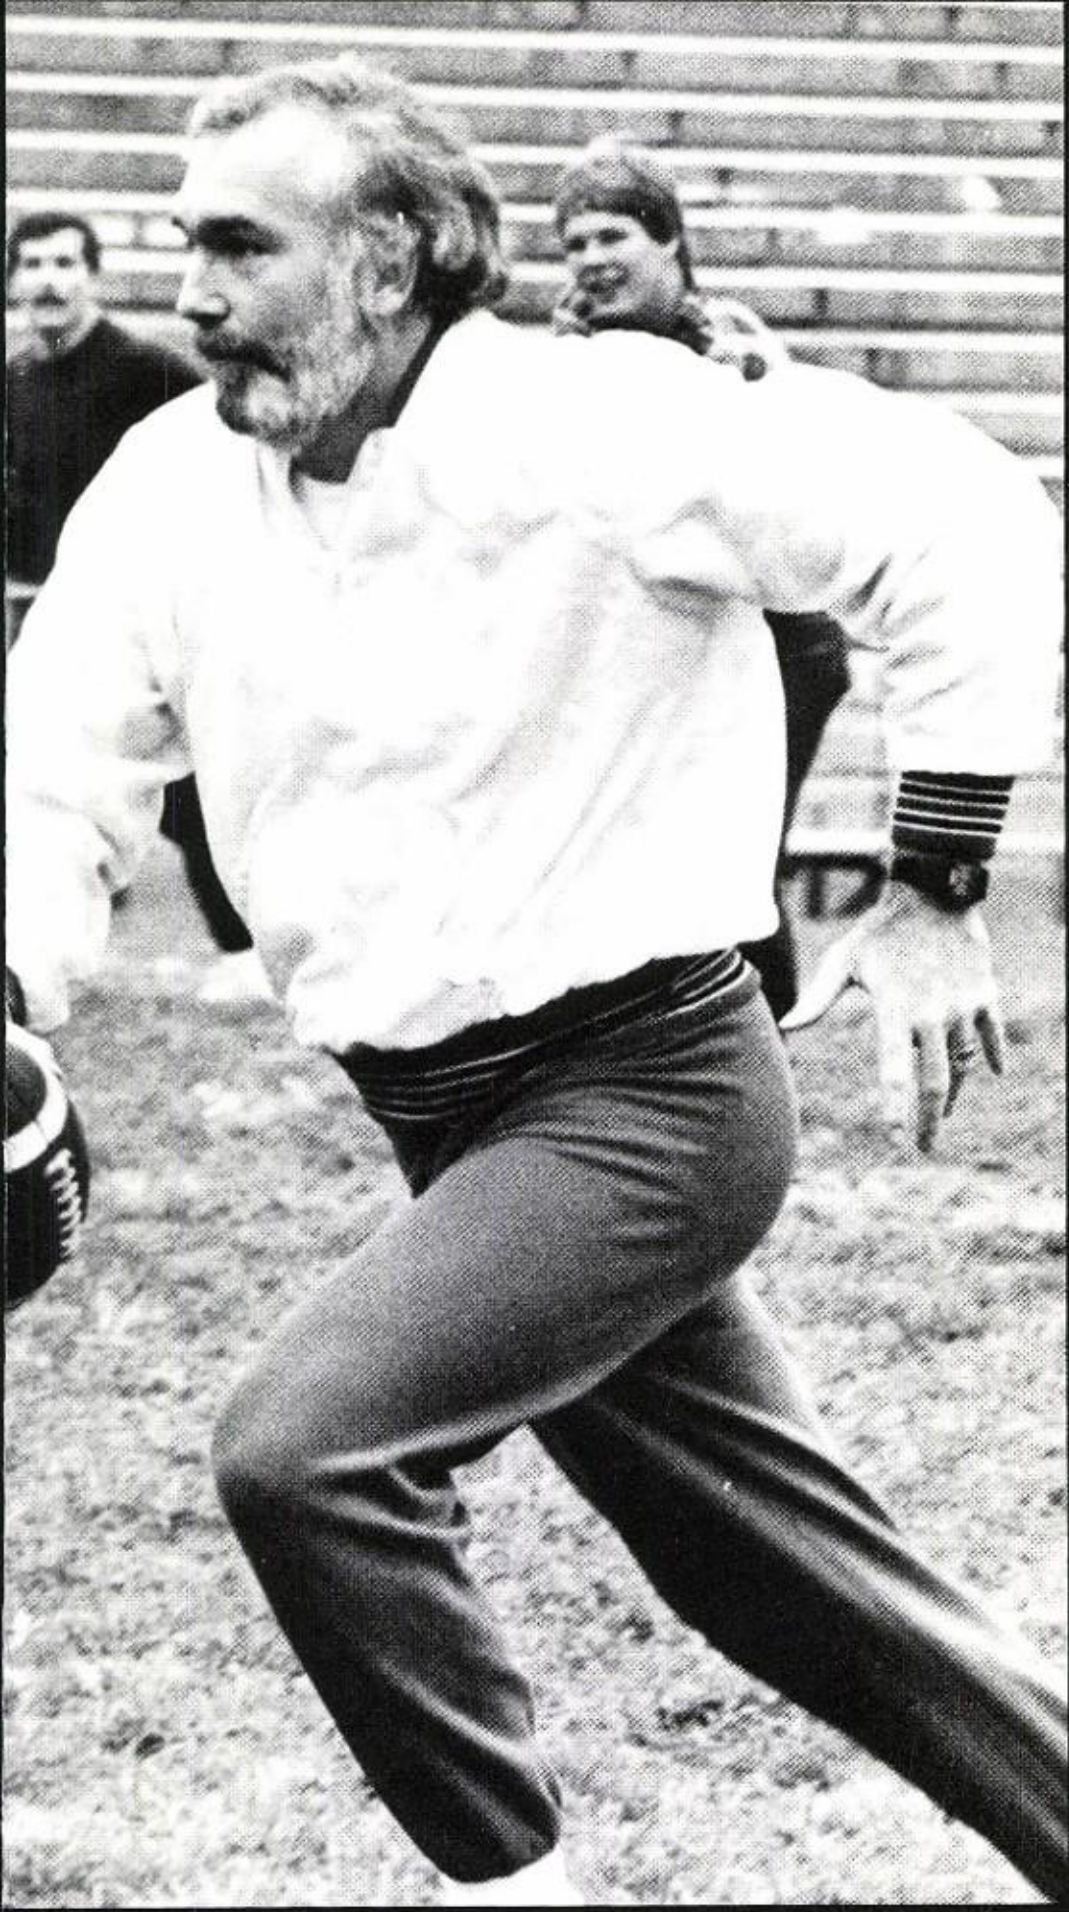

Evasion. Senior David States avoids a tackle as he dodges Coach Blatt.

INTRAMURALS

The hostile stares of seasoned competitors are gone as the warriors suit up to make fools of themselves. The battle is an old one, but treasured as pure fun. It is intramurals.

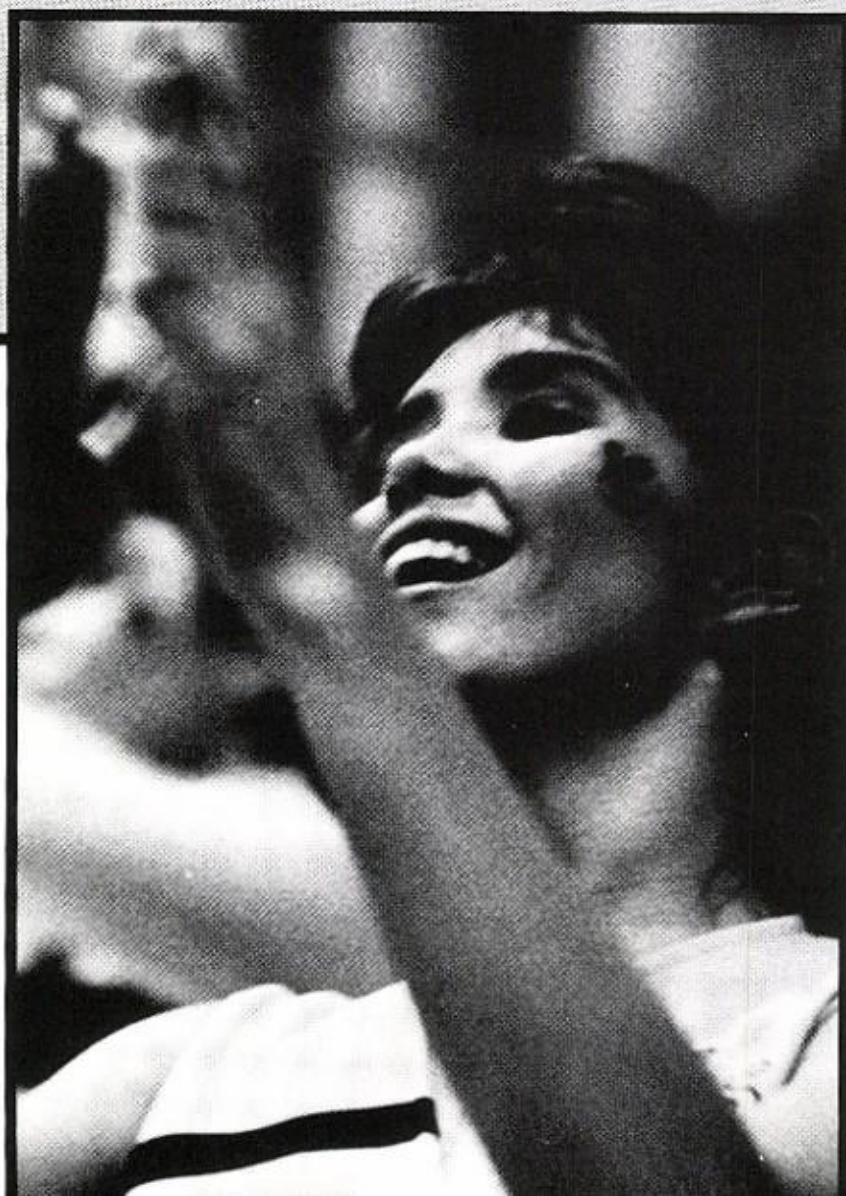

Anyway students compete to win honors for their own class. Whether it be basketball, football, volleyball, or field goal kicking, the main objective is fun, and students and faculty alike enjoy the participation.

Dancing to "Victory." — The Varsity cheerleaders display their versatility during a half time dance to Kool and the Gang's "Victory."

VARSITY CHEER-LEADERS — Bottom — Brenda Baumgard, Connie Uhl; Top — Tracy Mollohan, Mona Davidson, Missy Cross, Christy Altman, Amy Armstrong.

Cheer-ful! — Missy Cross, Junior, helps lead the crowd in cheering on the Varsity basketball team.

CHEERLEADERS ROCK TO A VICTORY

Under the leadership of Connie Uhl and Mona Davidson, the Varsity squad has had a very successful year. The winning began at camp where they were awarded the Superior Trophy, as well as many ribbons. Mascot Tracy Mollohan and the rest of the cheerleaders helped keep school spirit up throughout the year. They finished by winning second place in the LKC.

Advisor Mary Ann Stepek said, "It's been a fantastic year and we'll greatly miss Seniors, Connie Uhl and Mona Davidson, and Tracy Mollohan."

Helping Hand. — The JV squad aids the Varsity Cheerleaders to hold up the circle-message before a football game.

JV CHEERLEADERS

The Junior Varsity Cheerleaders were awarded the superior Trophy at camp last summer. Throughout the year they spent long hours practicing and encouraging crowds at the Junior Varsity basketball games. As a unique fund raiser, the squad sponsored a fashion show at the Student Union.

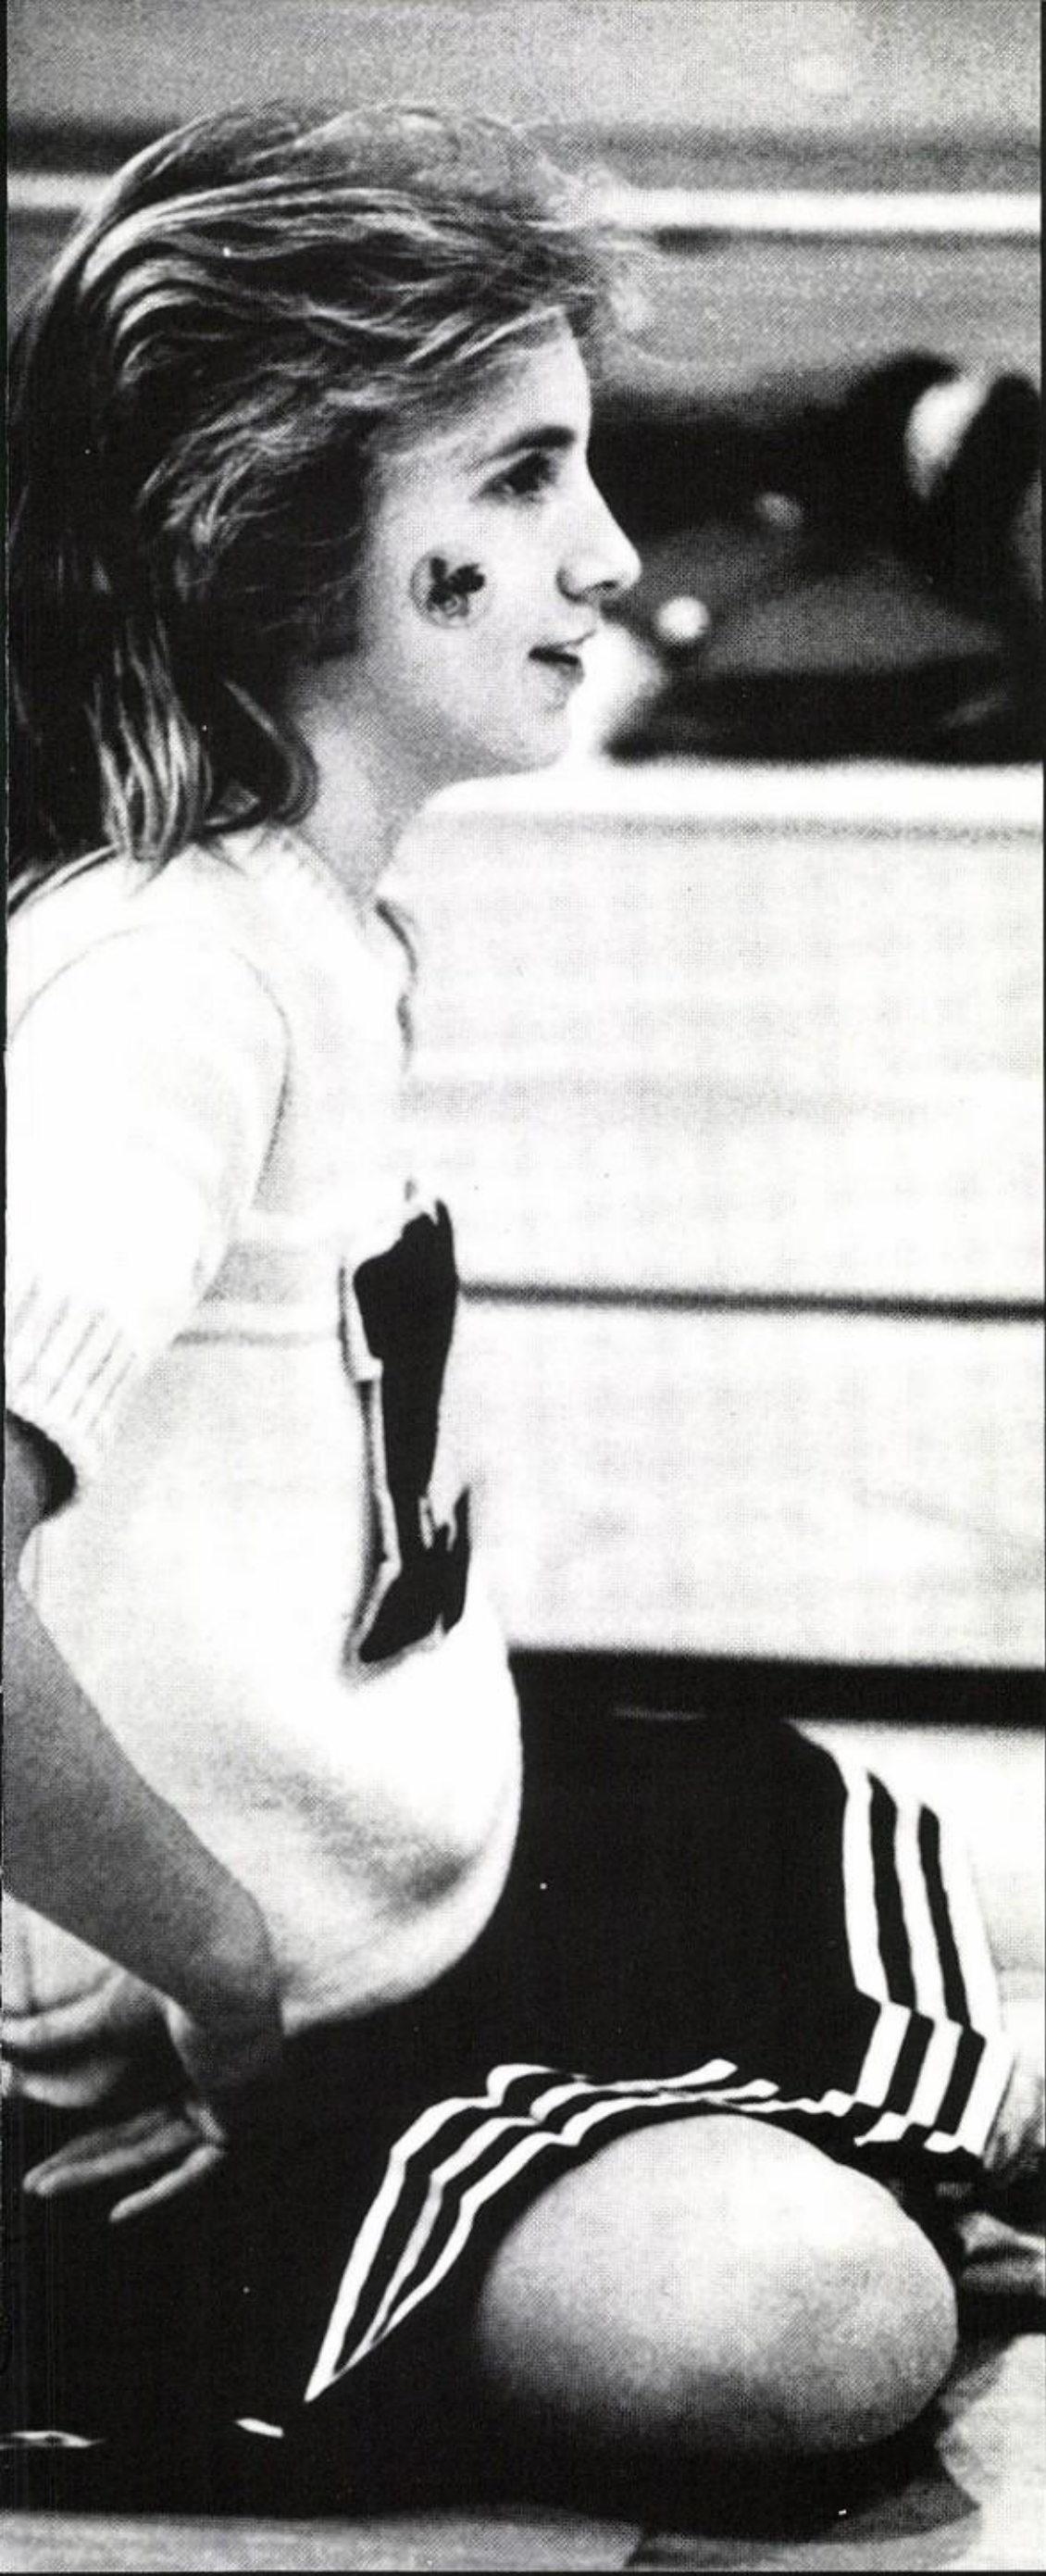

Although, a few members will be moving on to the Varsity squad, sponsor Mary Ann Stepek said. "I'm really looking forward to working with these girls next year."

Sitting Pretty. — Anticipating a free throw, seventh grade cheerleader Toni Weaver watches and hopes.

All Tempa — Cheer. — The combined Junior High cheerleading squads enthuse the crowd and encourage the team to win.

Spirit. — Jane Hall, eighth grade, encourages the team to win in an after school home game.

CHEER-FULL!

The 7th-8th grade cheerleaders proved once again to be the best in the county as they defeated Hamilton and Blennerhassett for the Wood County Cheerleading championship. This is the second year in a row that Williamstown has attained this title. Sponsor, Mrs. Sue Stead stated, "They are really exceptional girls with tons of talent and experience plus the fact they all liked each other helped them finish on top." She also said, "The girls were really fun to work with."

Break Time. — Terri Cline, eighth grade, and Michelle Radabaugh, seventh grade, sit for a bit as they take a break from the action.

Happy Face. Participating in the Student Council Bloodmobile, Tracy Mollohan, senior, attempts to make the best of needle shock.

COUNTING HEADS WITH PEOPLE

Clubs, sports, academics — all of these activities would be impossible without people. Classes may change from year to year, but the students retain the same enthusiasm for activities. Classmen joined with verve in the Homecoming festivities and worked for victory in intramurals competitions. Classes raced to win spirit week honors by dressing up and decorating the gym.

Working students became commonplace as coeds earned spending money. Juggling homework, a job, and school activities was tough, but many learned to manage as maturity began. The favorite activity became spending, as paychecks were synonymous with necessity.

Sleep became every classman's dream as late night study sessions took over on pre-test nights. Each student had a system for study — some spending evenings with their books, others cramming between classes before their tests. Hopes ran high as report cards were issued in each of the six-week grading periods.

Students learned to make a difference and make the grade. They had to make it count!

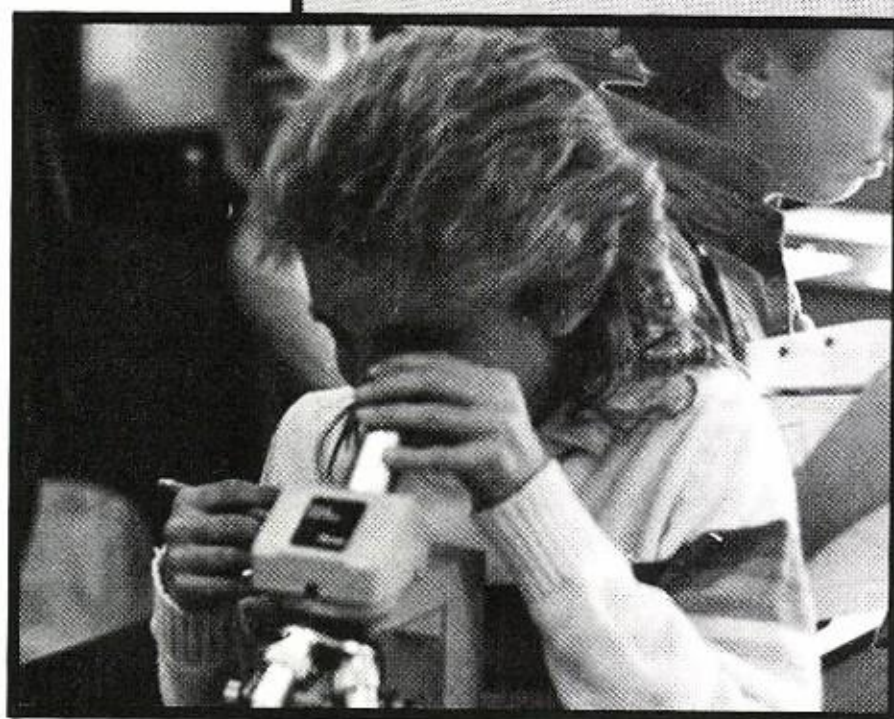

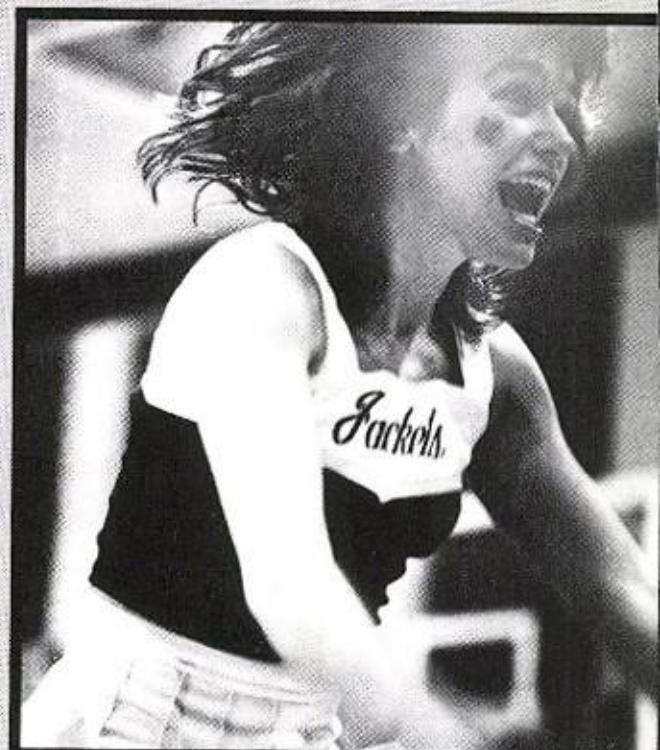

En Francais. Michelle Wiggins and Michelle Hickman, Sophomores, learn Christmas carols in French during the pre-holiday season.

FACES IN THE CROWD

Game Plan. Three friends watch the home basketball game and the guys as they drink Junior vended drinks.

What Is It? Seventh grader Toni Weaver makes use of a microscope during science class.

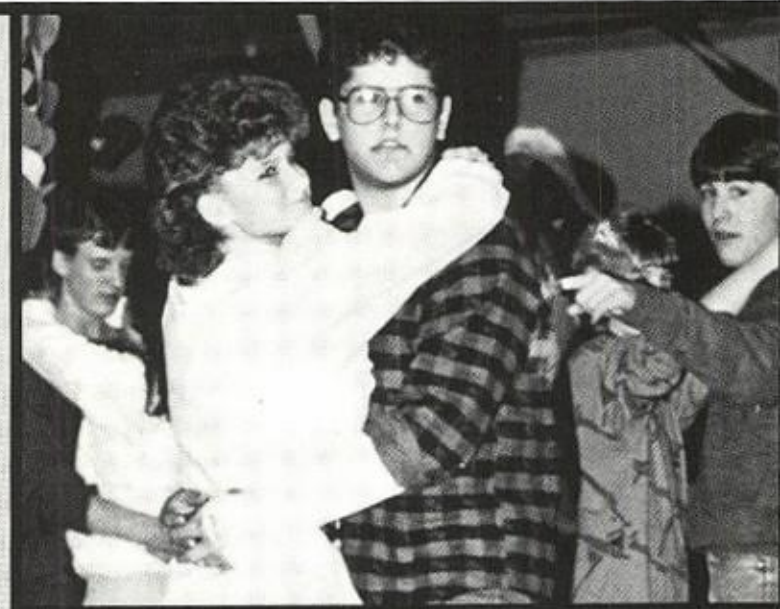

Who Nose? During a Homecoming meeting, Senior Beth Stanley deliberates the float theme while Seniors Tracy Baker and Amy Leach look on.

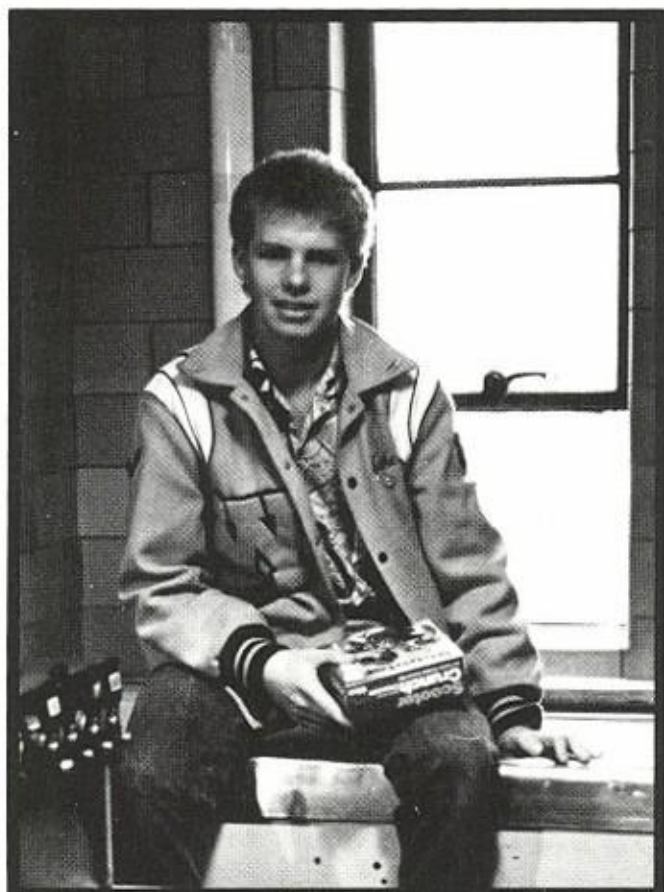

Patience. Mr. Noah Rickman waits patiently as his tenth grade Biology class collects insects for experiments.

Taking It Slow. Heather Mather and Steve Moore, eighth grade, share a slow dance at the Ski Club's Valentines Dance.

Freshly Baked. Cook Ruth Mayo bakes chocolate chip cookies in preparation for the noon lunch bunch.

Hosted. — Selling Hostess cakes and ice cream for the Student Council, Mike Casto takes a break from vending to take a seat on the ice cream cooler.

CORY'S CAR

It's a bird! It's a plane! It's Cory Summers and his super-modified 1967 Volkswagon Beetle! Cory started working on it last August, and hasn't stopped yet.

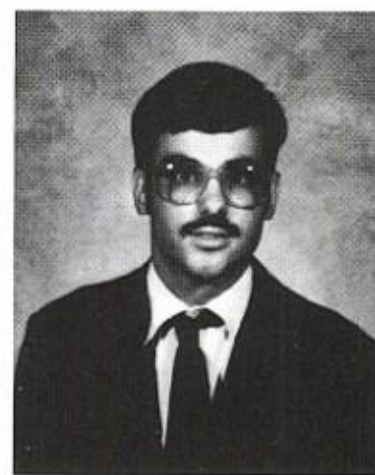

Cory says he started with basic plans, but mostly, the project just "fell together." He has had several different jobs to help pay for the work, which he estimates has cost $3,700 so far.

The body work and painting have been the hardest, Cory admitted, and friends and relatives have all helped out. "Everything that could be changed was," Cory said, but he feels most proud of the glossy Fiero red paint job, but he added, "I'm not done yet."

The Little Engine That Can! Cory Summers rebuilt portions of the engine in his modified Volkswagon Beetle.

HARDIN ATTENDS GIRLS NATION

Washington, D.C. — home of congressmen, diplomats, and the President, is also where senior Christy Hardin spent a week of her summer. Chosen to attend American Legion Auxiliary Girl's Nation, she spent a week in the nation's capitol learning about the workings of the government.

Christy was elected a Girls Nation Senator by the citizens of West Virginia Rhododendron Girls' State. She had to give an impromptu speech before the entire Girls' State Assembly for consideration.

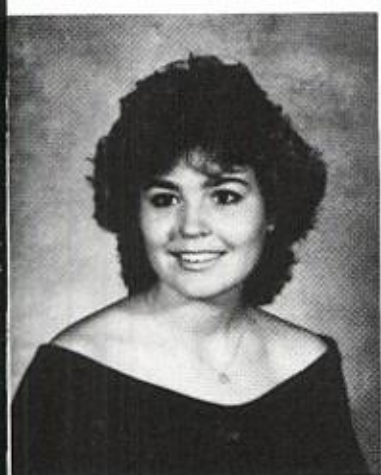

"It was really embarrassing because I had to talk about sex education. I was so nervous that I would say something too . . . vividly."

While in Washington, she toured various monuments and establishments, including the Vietnam Memorial, Washington Monument, Smithsonian, Capitol Building, and Ford Theatre. She was elected as the Senate Chaplain and was appointed Director General of the Foreign Service. She met George Vest, the U.S. Director General. The highlight of the week was the tea which was held in the White House. President Reagan spoke at this occasion and was accosted by the press.

"I really had a lot of fun — I met so many people from all over the U.S. I'd love to go back as a counselor — we didn't sleep the entire week!"

Appointed Ambassador. — During her week at Girls Nation, Senior Christy Hardin was appointed Director General of the Foreign Service. Here, she stands with the U.S. Director General George Vest.

Is It Really Time For GRADUATION?

June 2, 1987 — a day of infamy in some minds, a day of freedom for others — is the date of graduation for the '86-'87 school year. As a Senior myself, I would first like to state that, yes, your Senior year really is like everyone says — HECTIC! However, with a few pointers, anyone can become a Senior, it just takes a bit of work.

The first theory of Seniority is Mike Eaton's philosophy of procrastination. He states that, "Putting things off is the best way to get things done. Pressure is the key to performance." However, as a Senior, he also has discovered that life would have been much more simple had he done the work on time, as report cards can also be a source of anxiety.

The Second theory of Seniority is Christy Hardin's Theory of Knowledgeability. "If you can make everyone think that you are intelligent in Seventh Grade," she states, "All you need to do is maintain an air of thoughtfulness and use a vocabulary word intermittently." However, this theory must be utilized with the utmost care as the slightest error could ruin a well-built image.

There are various and sundry methods which are also aspects of Seniority. These include: fashion, dating, working, test taking, and lunchtime etiquette. However, the founders of these theories were unable to be reached for comment, and therefore, these must be left to individual speculation.

On a more serious note, a Senior must also be very talented at emotions. During the year, he or she will experience stress, joy, and sorrow — along with a plethora of others. Graduation is yet to come, but, in my opinion, the best of the Senior year was the review of the past. So, good-bye to Billsville as I leave for college, but the inhabitants and memories will stay with me forever. As Bob Hope states, "Thanks for the memories."

'STARS' OF INDIANA

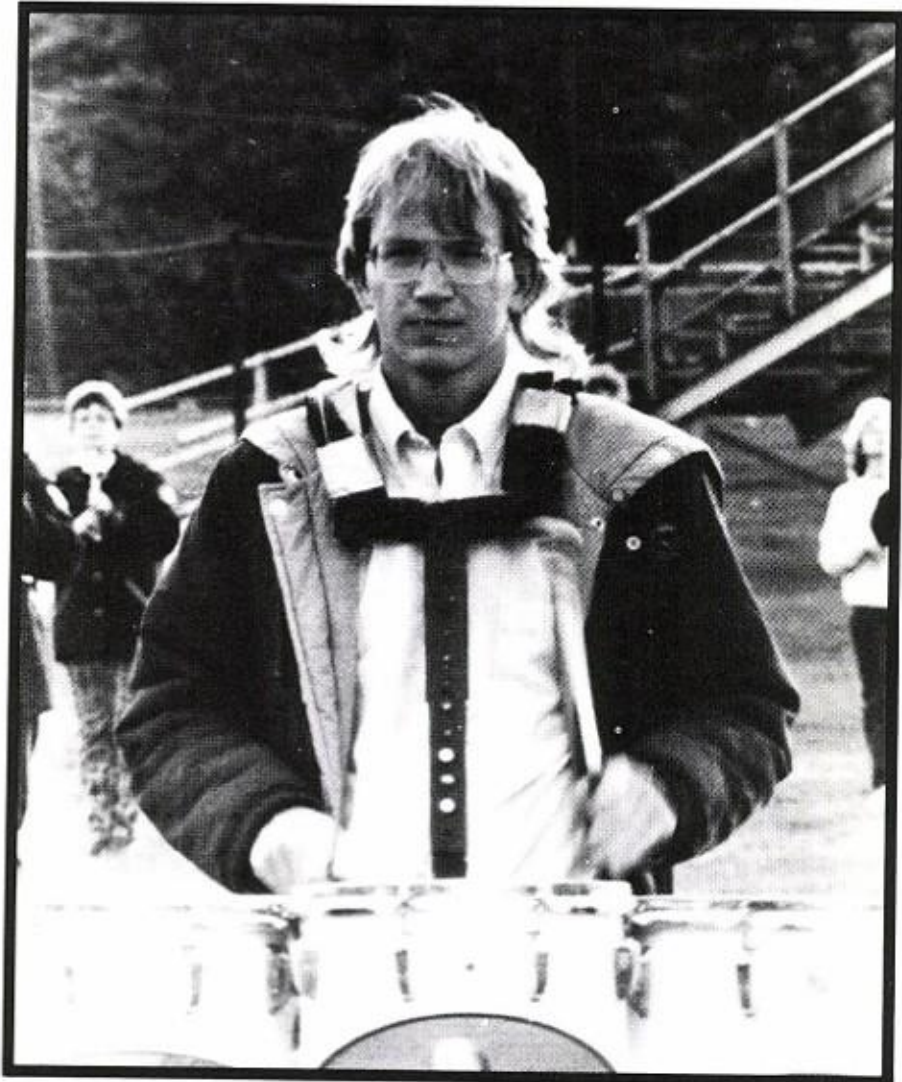

While you were getting a tan at the beach or the pool, two Williamstown High School seniors, Andy Hall and Marlana Hefner, spent their summer in competition for the Star of Indiana Drum and Bugle Corps. Over 900 people, ages 14-21 auditioned, and only 128 made the final cut.

Certain special requirements were needed before auditioning, such as; knowing how to play a brass instrument, percussion, or performing auxiliary guardwork.

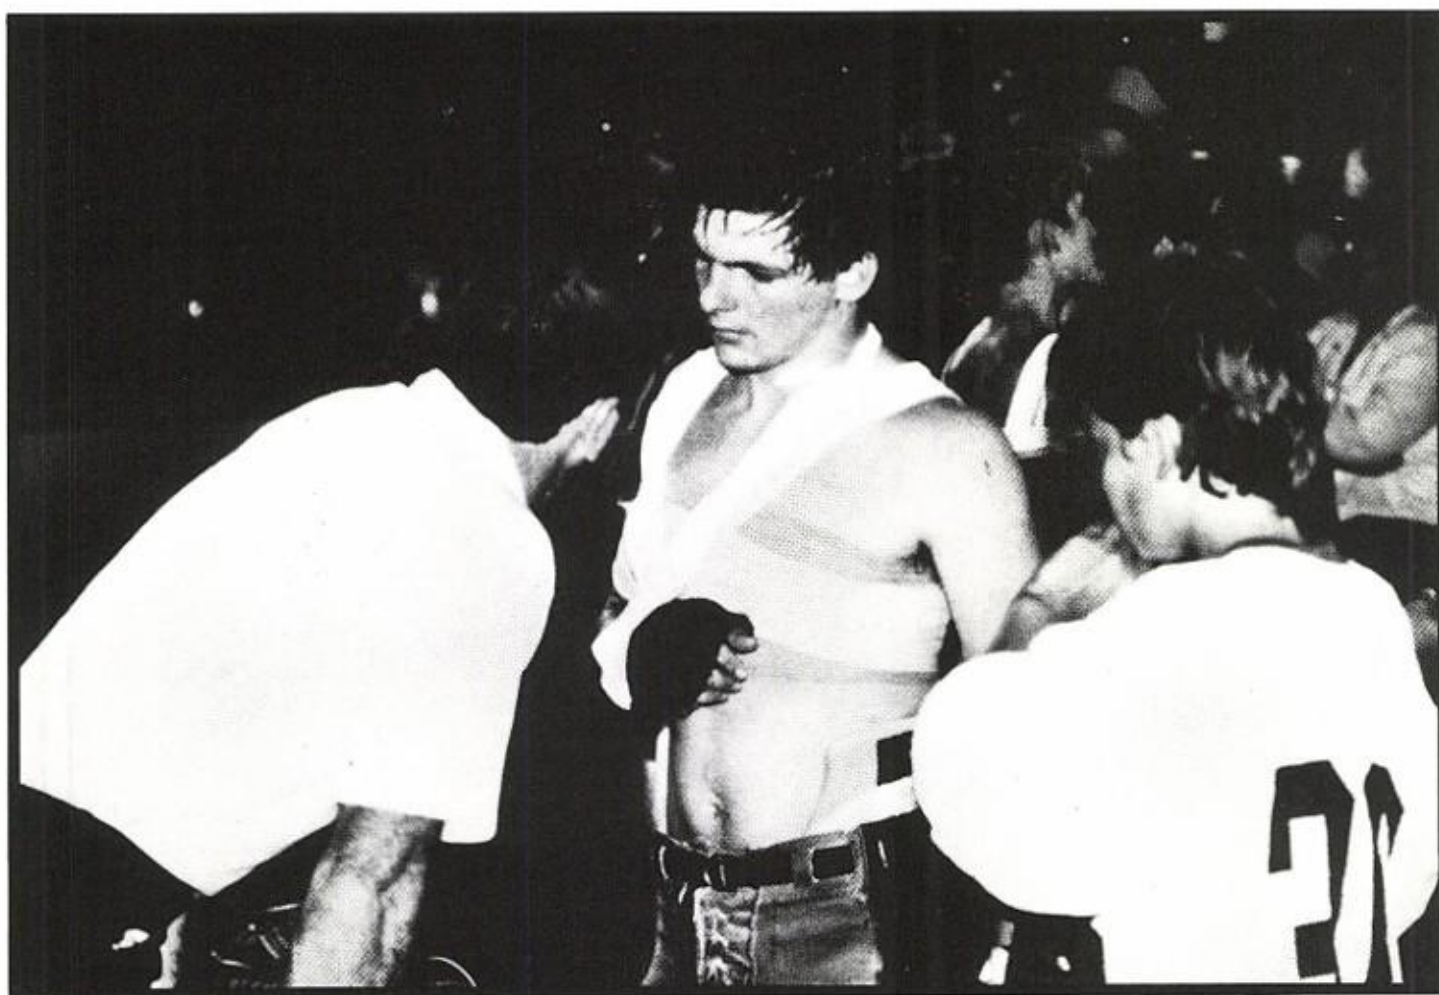

The corps traveled over 14,000 miles last summer and averaged 12 hours of practice a day. Their black and magenta uniforms with a giant white star on the chest clearly depicted their rising name "The 'Star' of Indiana."

Both Andy and Marlana said that they made many friends and that their hard work paid off when "Star" made it into the Drum Corps. International (DCI) finals.

Auditions for 1987's Corps have already begun. Not only are Andy (percussion) and Marlana (melophone) attending the camps, but this year Giesala Collins is trying out for "Stars" auxiliary. Another way students at WHS are making their lives count!

'Stars' of Indiana. Seniors Andy Hall and Marlana Hefner spent their summer with the Star of Indiana drum and bugle corps.

'Arm'-ed. During a football game, Senior Tad Wigal is hurt while pushing for a Jacket victory.

Comparisons. Seniors Mike Nestor and Rich Sabol display their Halloween costumes after the annual assembly.

Combatting 'Senior-itis.' Seniors Julie Bayles and Amy Leach work during Mr. Lathey's geometry class to make the grade.

BANDS

Dreaming of becoming a famous rock personality has long been common in the teen world. Junior Ritchie Haddad has attempted to become a star as he plays in 'Trackdown.'

The band, 'Trackdown,' was started by Dave Tinney and Andy Robinson of Marietta. They have been jamming for over three years. This summer, the band plans to tour South Carolina and perform in various beach clubs. Ritchie plays percussion and hopes to be able to continue as 'Trackdown' searches for fame.

Aaron Cameron Goes To

SPACE CAMP

This summer, while most students were taking it easy, WHS sophomore Aaron Cameron packed up and headed for Huntsville, Alabama. There he attended a week-long Space Camp, to train like the astronauts of NASA.

After a tour of the world's largest Space and Rocket Museum, Aaron was given a series of tests to determine his best suited position in the space program. After positions were assigned, students were divided into smaller groups.

Each morning the students did astronaut exercises to prepare for the vigorous day ahead. Day 1, 2, and 3 were spent training for the activities of the assigned positions. During the training process Aaron received hand outs, experienced weightlessness, talked to guest speakers, and visited space centers and laboratories.

On day 4 a simulated space mission was conducted. During this procedure, each student received a flight suit and carried out the duties of his or her position. Afterwards, there was a debriefing to determine the mission's success.

Finally, a graduation ceremony took place. Parents were invited to attend the ceremony, and watch as awards were presented to outstanding students.

The price of the camp varies with the student's age, but averages out to be $450. This includes meals, lodging, clothing and educational materials. After completing the program, Aaron feels the price is well worth the experience.

PAGEANT ENTRANT WINS

BERNADETTE RHODES

How many of us have watched the Miss America pageant and wondered what it was like to be a contestant in such a contest? For Freshman Bernadette Rhodes, those thoughts became reality as she competed in the West Virginia Miss T.E.E.N. (Teenagers Encouraging Excellence Nationally) pageant.

Held at the Charleston House Hotel in Charleston, WV., the pageant lasted for only a weekend. However, insists Bernadette, "We spent a lot of time learning the routines for the pageant performance. It was tough, but I had a lot of fun!"

The pageant officials judged each contestant on the basis of the following categories: scholastic achievement, formal gown presentation, talent or speech presentation, contestant's volunteer service commitment, and a judges' interview. The interview was based on each contestant's personal application, which was completed in advance of the pageant. Each category was worth a total of 20 points, with a possible total score of 100.

The pageant, which boasted 63 contestants, was "a great experience" according to Bernadette. "I met a lot of people and I had a blast!" Bernadette was awarded the title of second runner-up and was also named a talent finalist, chosen from all of the contestants competing in the talent competition.

Cheer For Success

ANGIE LEACH

On January 2, 1987, Angie Leach will fly to Honolulu, Hawaii to perform at the Hula Bowl half-time ceremony. Angie was chosen for this honor because she is an All-American Cheerleader. She has qualified to compete in the nationals for the past five years.

While in Hawaii, Angie will practice with the other girls twice a day under the supervision of Dr. Lum, the music director for the University of Hawaii. To round off an already full and exciting day, the girls will learn to scuba dive, and they will go to the teenage clubs in the evening.

Adding In New

An increasing number of new faces is evident in the halls of our school this year. Due to the closing of the Williamstown Christian School, eleven students have been added to the class rosters.

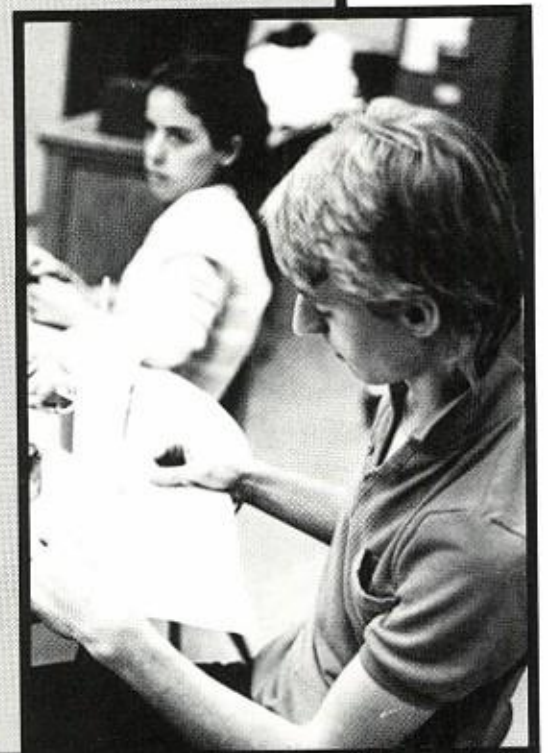

How do these students feel about their new school? Most agree they feel accepted here. One new student, Senior Alan Gates says he "feels proud" to be graduating from Williamstown High School, even though this is only his first year here.

Many of the ex-Christian School students like the additional classes offered, and say some classes are even easier. One student cites the absence of Bible teaching as perhaps the biggest difference between the two schools.

Have the new students influenced the daily activities at Williamstown High School? Veteran student Chris Linscott, a sophomore, believes there may not be as much "cain raising" as before since "most people are prone to thinking the Christian students are super-religious."

New Face, New Place. Alan Gates, senior, prepares to donate blood for his new high school, WHS, after transferring from the Christian School.

Most of the WHS faculty was educated in the state of West Virginia, but there are a few exceptions. Mr. Doak Markeley graduated from Miami of Ohio and Miss Stepek from Edinboro. Many of the staff graduated from Williamstown High School and returned to teach at their alma mater. Mr. Scott Bookman, a 1971 graduate of WHS, stated, "Williamstown is a great place to teach. After teaching in southern West Virginia, I realize how important a community and its support is to a school. Williamstown has the support and the means to do great things."

NEW FACES

WHS has gained many new students over the summer, and along with them, three faculty members.

Mrs. Randy Garrett taught here from 1973 to 1976. She retired temporarily to have her son, Matt. After 10 years away, she returned this year to teach senior English. Mrs. Garrett says she likes teaching at WHS "as much as I remembered."

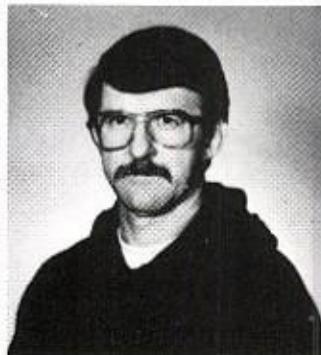

Mrs. Susan Stead, a 1973 WHS grad, taught English at Ripley and Franklin after graduating at Glenville State College. After a few years off and adding two boys to her family, Mrs. Stead substituted for two years. This year, she began teaching junior English. She says WHS is "an excellent school with excellent students."

Finally, another WHS graduate has returned to teach here. Mrs. Sharon Sheridan, (class of '67), has been a librarian at Warren, Parkersburg Catholic, VanDevender, and Williamstown Elementary. After 15 years as a librarian, Mrs. Sheridan says, "I'm just in love with my job," with arms flailing, "and teaching here is like coming home again."

FLYING FOR FUN

Teaching art every day isn't all Mr. Randy Dillon likes to do. Ever since he was a kid, he dreamed about flying. He would go to the airport as a kid and just watch planes land and take-off. But due to college sports, he never had the time or money to take lessons.

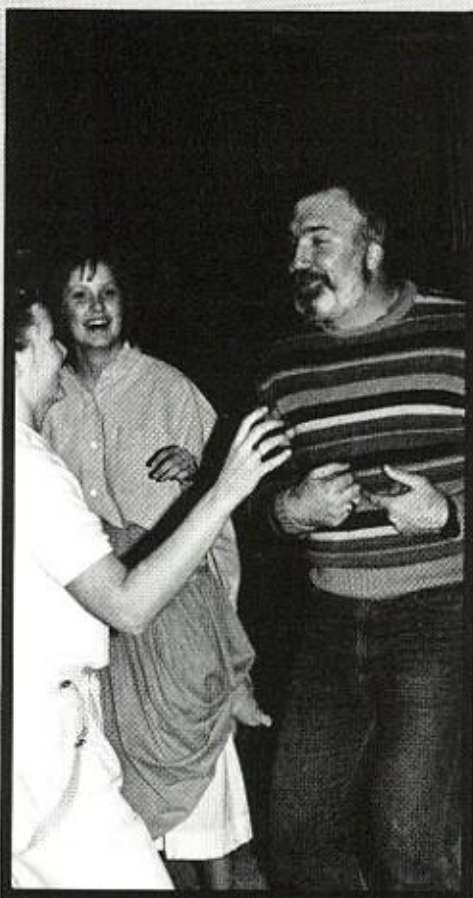

About eight years ago he began making his dreams come true. He started taking lessons at the Wood County Airport under the instruction of Jean Pickering. After only a year of lessons, he received his license, at last fulfilling his childhood dreams.

Today he goes out up to three times a month depending on the weather and his time schedule. Most of the time he flies a Cessna 150 single engine, 2-passenger plane. Since he has been flying, he has flown a Piper Warrior and a twin-engine barron. He enjoys flying over mountains during the Fall or right after a snow.

One might think flying wouldn't be very difficult, but it takes a great deal of concentration, quick thinking in split-second situations, and coordination. "Flying is a continuous learning process," said Mr. Dillon. "You learn something everyday. It gives me a feeling of accomplishment and I just like the feeling of freedom."

The Plane Truth. Mr. Randy Dillon and John Oliver, junior both enjoy flying in their spare time.

Soiree in the Café
Coach Doak Markely and the Lyons Twins — Shanna and Sheryl — let loose at the Ski Club sponsored Valentine's Dance.

A Sign of Spirit. — During a basketball game, Junior High Pep Club member Teresa Stilgenbauer displays her spirit with a sign and a cheek sticker.

COUNTING ON ACTIVITY IN CLUBS

When students took time out of their busy schedules, they counted on some fun to be mixed with the necessary hard work. Some students joined clubs which honored them for a high grade point average or to become more knowledgeable. The National Honor Society sold Halloween, and Valentine's Day messages in order to finance the annual NHS induction ceremony, one which honors students with a 3.6 grade point average and a plethora of activities. In preparation for the Golden Horsehoe exam, eighth grade students worked with Mr. Sauro to perfect the knowledge of West Virginia history. Some Special Topics students strove to gain further understanding of World policies as they attended the United Nations simulation in New York City. After sacrificing numerous lunch hours, the TV Honor Society defeated St. Marys and Belpre, hopefully on the way to a national competition.

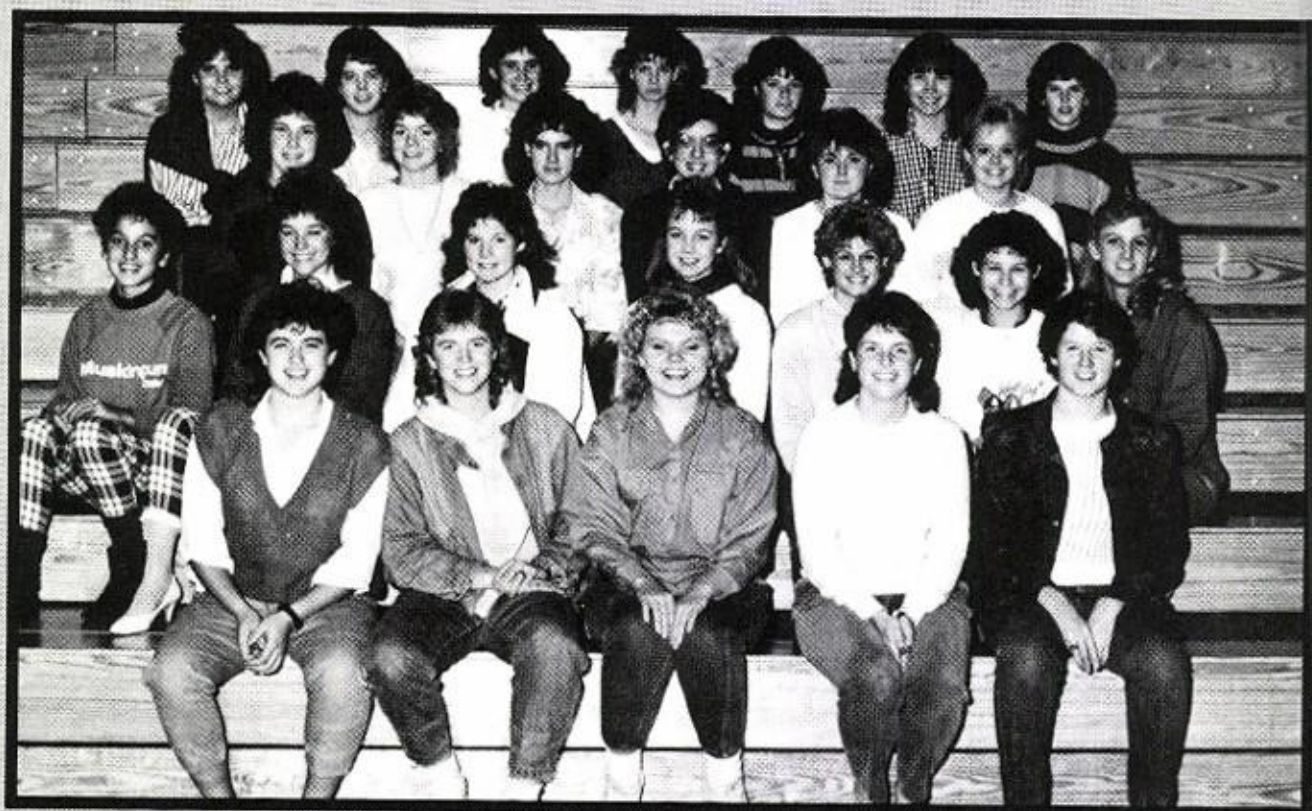

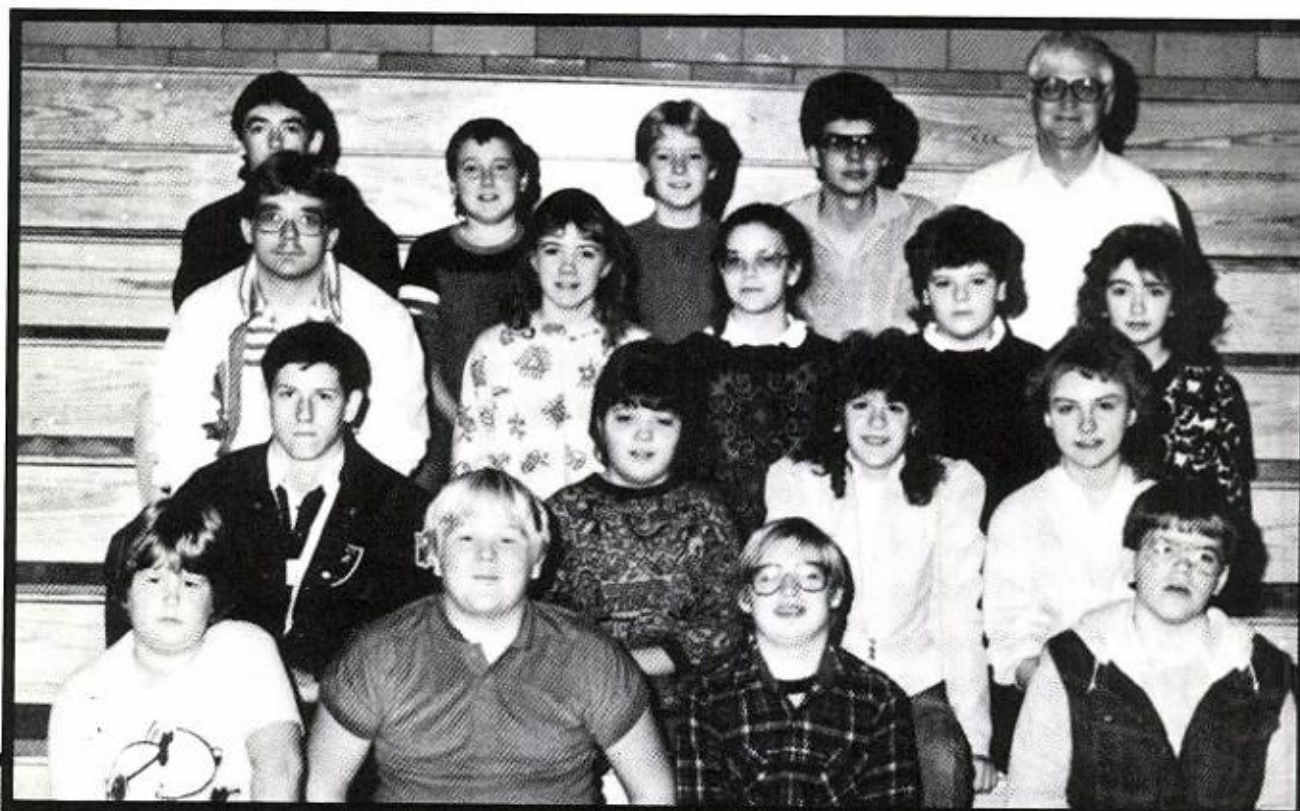

A number of clubs sponsored events which involved the entire school. After the late snow arrived The Ski Club planned a school-wide skiing trip for all students. The Student Council sponsored a Christmas canned food drive which helped feed the needy in the Williamstown area.

Students added yet another activity to already busy schedules as they helped others, or themselves. Classmen used club time to their advantage — they made it count!

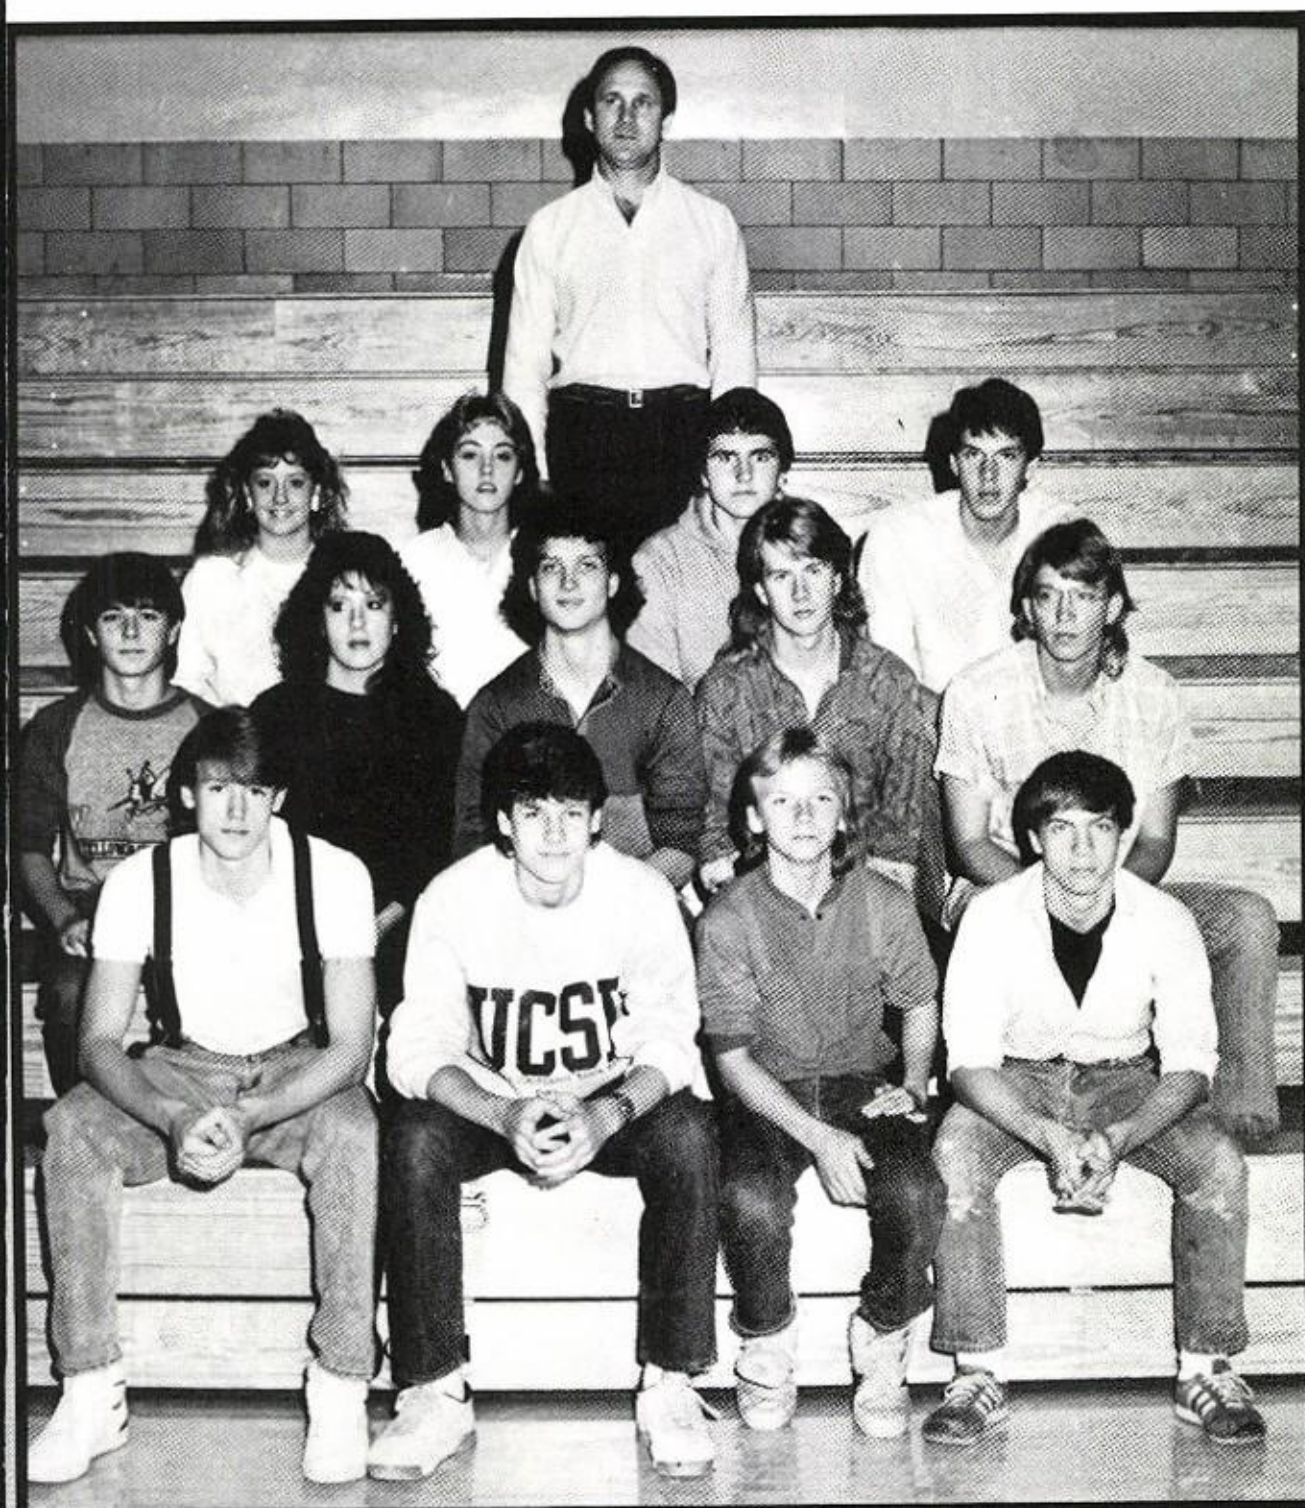

Prospects for Plasma. — The annual Student Council Bloodmobile provides an opportunity for students and faculty to donate blood. Here, Senior Tracy Mollohan and Mr. Terry Smith provide blood for the Red Cross.

Color candid were taken by staff photographers and Cardinal Photography. Black and white candid photographs were taken by staff photographers, and were processed in the publisher's darkroom.

SCHOOL AID . . .

Partners in Education and the Jr. Women

Several local organizations worked this year on projects for our school. Partners in Education is a program which assists WHS in many fund raising areas. Two major projects of this program, united with the Fenton Art Glass Company, were the sale of bells with the Williamstown Bridge engraved upon them. All the proceeds from the sales went to aid the band in purchasing new uniforms.

Fenton Art Glass also has a recognition of the Student of the Month program. Students are nominated by staff members under the seven criteria set up by WHS and the Fenton Foundation. One student is selected from a field of six for the honor of Student of the Month and receives a special glass plate which was prepared for this honor.

Another organization that worked on projects for WHS is the Education Committee of the Junior Women's Club. This committee is responsible for the painting of the yellowjackets on the back of the gym wall and, in conjunction with the Senior Women's Club, making skirts for the scorers table in the gymnasium. They also have become involved in purchasing computer software for the library and a fifty dollar donation to the EMI and Learning Disabilities classrooms for the purchase of magazine subscriptions.

A Helping Hand. Whether painting the yellowjacket on the gym wall or presenting a 'Student of the Month' plaque, local businesses and organizations lend a helping hand.

THE SUM TOTAL CLOSING

At the closing of the school year, students and faculty alike paused to reflect upon the year's events. 1987 was a banner year for controversy as educators pondered holding statewide strike. The Iran/Contra scandal threatened to destroy the Reagan Presidency as Government Agencies were overhauled in a journalistic quest for truth. Hostages were released and captured in the name of the Jihad, and AIDS became public through a total disclosure of information on the disease.

In a more local perspective, Williamstown residents experienced anxiety over the bridge, and discovered a new hangout as the Student Union opened its doors. Crime became a countywide concern, and many began taking extra precautions after the murder of an Indian woman in a local theater.

Activities went on as usual, but with a new twist — students participated with fervor in the more relaxed atmosphere which followed the North Central Evaluation, students rearranged their schedules to fit the school's needs as they made 1987 count!

"Wasn't Me!!" — Jennifer Emerson and Brandie Dye argue in art class.

THE SUM TOTAL

An ending — everything must have one — can be sad or happy depending on one's perspective. This year has been a roller coaster, as different sports teams had variable seasons. Academically, students improved in test scores and school performance, but a statewide educational controversy threatened to retard the progress. In the bicentennial year of the U.S. Constitution, the mighty fifth amendment was challenged as Lt. Colonel Oliver North and NSC director John Poindexter repeatedly invoked their constitutional rights. The Iran/Contra scandal rocked the foundations of the government and became a constant on the evening news.

Williamstown again distinguished itself statewide and nationally as students pushed themselves to maximum effort. The varsity girls basketball team was recognized in USA Today for breaking their long losing streak. Christy Hardin was selected to attend American Legion Auxiliary Girls Nation and the Century III National Leadership Conference, and Jay Offenberger was accepted to the United States Military Academy at West Point. The "Pride of Williamstown" Marching Band was selected to compete in the MBA regionals against bands from all over the East coast. The North Central Evaluation Team gave WHS a rating of "excellent." The Partners in Education program allowed Fenton Art Glass to honor students, thereby promoting excellence throughout the community.

As if by magic, the events fell into place and then were over. Janitors began to sweep the empty hallways in preparation for the forthcoming year and administrators begin planning changes to augment the previous year. It's a continuous cycle — learning to make it count.
